WALL STREET STOCK TRADE SLUMPS, BUT PRICES HOLD FAIRLY STEADY

Merchandising and Specialty Shares Gain on Signs of Improvement in Retail and Wholesale Business.

MANY ISSUES ARE WELL SUPPORTED

Some Coppers and Good-year Touch New Lows — Commodity Markets Quiet, Corn Closing Firm

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Speculative interest in the stock market dwindled today, as the three-day week-end closing drew near at hand, but the bull forces managed to hold the list fairly steady.

Closing quotations were irregular, with most of the pivotal shares steady, and several of the merchandising and specialty issues showing gains of 2 to 4 points. Delaware & Hudson was an exception to the narrow movement, selling up six points. Total sales were only about 1,450,000 shares, a sharp drop from yesterday's 2,260,000 share turnover.

The merchandise issues were brought forward in response to reports of signs of improvement in the retail and wholesale trade. Furthermore, several specialties, in which pools have been marking time for weeks, were stirred up, apparently in an effort to attract the attention in preparation for market operations after Labor day.

Coppers at New Lows.

The market sold off substantially at a time during the morning, with several coppers reaching new lows. Throughout the day bears endeavored to uncover weak spots, and met with success in spots. The entire list began to sag again just before the close, but a little demonstration in U. S. Steel induced considerable short covering in the final transactions. U. S. Steel sold off about a point, then lost its gain, closing steady.

Sears-Roebuck gained 4 points and shares gaining about 2 including Spiegel, May Stern, May Department Stores, Mack Truck, Cutler Hammer, McKeesport Tinplate, Childs and Mathieson Alkali. General Electric closed up a point.

International Telephone dropped more than a point in a new low under 46, then rallied to close steady. Radio-Keith-Orpheum dropped nearly 5 to the lowest in two years, but closed off only 2. Houston Oil also lost about 4, then rallied 2 from the bottom. Atlantic Coast Line sold off 2 to the lowest price since 1924. Shares losing a point or so or lower included Republic Steel, Eastman, Liggett & Myers B, United Aircraft, Nash, Briggs and Anaconda.

Wheat Steady, Corn Firm.

Commodities were quiet and trod narrowly. Wheat closed fairly steady, ½ to ⅝ of a cent above yesterday's final prices. Corn was firm, ending the day ⅝ to 1¼ cents net higher. Cotton was inclined to ease much of the day, but trading was not heavy. Foreign exchanges were mainly firm, sterling generally rallying to $4.87. Brazilian exchange again reached new low ground, however.

Loans to brokers and dealers by New York Federal Reserve member banks for the week ending Aug. 27 were announced by the Federal Reserve Board today at $1,102,900,000, representing a decrease of $26,000,000 as compared with the preceding week.

Analysis of the report shows loans for own account increased $4,100,000, while loans for account of out-of-town banks fell $18,500,000 and loans for account of others decreased $25,000,000.

Business and trade news was meager, but the more cheerful vein was maintained. Many traders were inclined to accept the slight improvement indicated with conservatism.

One broker described the market's response earlier in the week to that of "a starving man who translates a mouldy biscuit into a planked steak."

Money continued plentiful, with call loans abundantly offered at 2 per cent. Some bankers felt that the keenness to employ funds over the holiday might balance withdrawals for holiday currency requirements and prevent any appreciable firmness in call money.

Stock prices, with other tables and market news, will be found on pages 9C, 10C and 11C.

Movies Transmitted by Radio To 200 Points in Chicago in Public Test, Viewed by Thousands Pictures Flicker and Blur as in the Early Cinema, Nevertheless Commercial Television Seems to Be Just Around the Corner.

By H. H. NIEMEYER.
Motion Picture Critic of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—A good many thousand Chicago radio enthusiasts are ready to testify today that television—the broadcasting of motion pictures through the air by radio—is an accomplished fact and a commercially profitable form of amusement of the future. For last night, for half an hour, the new television radio station WEXAP of the Chicago Daily News sent out action pictures which were, more or less successfully, picked up by 200 picture receiving sets in various parts of the city. To be sure the pictures flickered, as did the old-time movies, and there were times when the receiving sets failed altogether but some of the 200 stations caught the entire program and all of them caught parts of it. Without question the complete broadcasting of news events and the showing of motion picture plays is just around the corner.

These first television receiving sets, the product of an independent Chicago corporation, are not equipped to transmit sound. They are operated from a station using much shorter wave lengths than are usually employed in broadcasting spoken words. In the demonstration last night, however, the Daily News broadcast the sound, accompanying the pictures, over its regular station WMAQ, synchronizing perfectly with the views being shown. To both see and hear the broadcasting it was necessary for the receiving stations to use two sets—a television receiver and an ordinary radio. This was done in many instances.

Transmitted 100 Miles.

The Chicago station has been experimenting with the sending of movies for many months and a few weeks ago succeeded in transmitting a motion picture which was picked up by a set in Milwaukee, nearly 100 miles away. Last night's demonstration was the first public city-wide broadcasting and daily and nightly station W9XAP will carry on regular television programs. The present receiving sets, which are now on general sale in Chicago, are not so far perfected that they could be used in St. Louis to catch programs broadcast from Chicago. Sending moving pictures that distance is still a matter for the electrical engineers to battle with.

That pictures will be sent across the country before long is most likely, however, and within the next year, perhaps, entire plays, such as are now seen in the cinema theaters, may be seen, and heard, in homes throughout the land. Television experts are confident that the new form of broadcasting will revolutionize the entertainment field and many of them predict that the use of films, except for making pictures as a matter of record for future use, will be tremendously reduced.

Be that as it may, television is here now and the varied program of conversation, singing, instrumental music and even a lightning fast boxing match which I saw sent out last night proves that the possibilities are almost boundless.

Boxing Match Shown.

Singers, speakers and musicians were seen on receiving sets throughout Chicago last night. The boxing bout, lasting just one minute, was the least attractively transmitted event of the evening because the boxers failed to keep within the limited range of the present broadcasting equipment. But the acton, when caught at all, was transmitted faithfully and showed that there was probably no action which could not be sent through the air successfully.

None of the present receiving sets is equipped to show the pictures on a large motion picture screen although the makers say that such form of transmission is exceedingly simple and can be arranged at any time. Last night's large and scattered audience saw the pictures through a 5 inch glass lens in the front of the receiving outfit—a box about two feet square and six inches deep. It was not necessary to stand close to the box and peer into the covered hole. Eight or 10 persons, seated in a semi-circle 10 feet away could view the picture although a better idea of what was going on could be had at close range. In many of the Chicago stores showing the program last night—none of the machines was installed in a private home so far as was known—five or six of the receiving sets were used so that it was possible to display the pictures to a greater number of people.

The picture, as it was seen in the box was about five inches square and appeared to be tinted a pale red. As said before, it flickered considerably and one got the impression of watching a movie through a screen door, for the surface of the image was covered with a succession of fine lines, but, nevertheless, the pictures were transmitted in a way to show that television is actually here.

TIGER KILLS BOY TRYING TO CLIMB FENCE AT A ZOO

Animal Springs From Behind Brush in Los Angeles Enclosure — Shot by Keeper After Attack.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 28.—A boyish search for adventure in the artificial jungle of Luna Park Zoo caused the death of 12-year-old Alfred Hill.

Climbing a fence about the jungle, Alfred was pounced upon by a tiger that ripped his scalp and arm with sharp claws.

The injuries, at first thought to be minor, proved fatal during the night.

Melvin Koontz, lion keeper at the Zoo, shot the animal as it crouched over the boy's body. Attendants said the tiger was so old it had lost all its teeth, or Alfred might have been killed almost instantly.

The boy had a small knife in his hand when the tiger pounced upon him from a screen of thick brush.

TAMMANY LEADER INDICTED ON U. S. INCOME-TAX CHARGE

Martin J. Healy Failed to Make Return of $10,000 From Mrs. Ewald.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Martin J. Healy, Tammany district leader and formerly First Deputy Commissioner of Plant and Structures, was indicted today by a Federal grand jury for failure to file an income tax return for 1927 and for failure to supply information concerning his income for that year.

The indictment grew out of Healy's receipt of a $10,000 loan from Mrs. Bertha Ewald, recently disclosed in connection with charges that $10,000 had been paid to influence the appointment of George F. Ewald, her husband, to the City Magistrate's bench in 1927.

The indictment was handed down less than 10 minutes after Thomas T. Tommaney, Sheriff's Clerk, through whose hands the money passed, had answered questions at the direction of Federal Judge Simon Adler.

Healy appeared in Federal Court this afternoon, pleaded not guilty to the indictment and was held in $2000 bail for trial.

CLEANERS TO END PRICE WAR; HIGHER RATES NEXT WEEK

Proposed Schedule Is Based on Cost Survey, Which Is Said to Show Loss on Work.

WHOLESALERS AND RETAILERS IN DEAL

Chain Establishment, Which Operates Eight Places in St. Louis, Not Included in Compact.

The price of cleaning wearing apparel is to be increased next week as a result of an understanding between retail and wholesale cleaners and dyers in St. Louis to end the price war, which they say has caused them to operate at a loss since last October.

The new prices, to be announced, will become effective next Tuesday, and will be based on a survey of operating costs now being made by John L. Corley, former counsel and general manager of the National Cleaners' Association, who succeeded in bringing the rivals together.

"The survey, which we hope to complete this week, will show that St. Louis cleaners have been operating at a loss, which will lead to financial failure if continued," Corley said. "Competition does not mean operating at a loss, and business failures are bad for any community. Both the wholesalers and the retailers have decided to end the 50-cent 'cash and carry' price for cleaning a man's suit, and to agree on a price, which will allow them to at least break even."

Many Conferences Held.

Agreement to terminate the price war was reached after numerous conferences during the last month. Many obstacles had to be overcome, Corley explained, and it was not until yesterday that the special committee obtained assurances of co-operation from the last of the 19 retailers and 18 wholesale plant owners in the city.

Prices were cut last October to meet increasing competition from concerns in adjacent towns doing a mail order business, and from the Howard chain shop organization. The Howard company, which operates eight stores is not included in the latest agreement, but the other cleaners point out that the Howard plan has not expanded here, and they say they no longer fear that sort of competition. The first price cut in October was from $1.50 for cleaning and pressing a suit of clothes to $1. Later the 75-cent price for clothing, called for and delivered, and 50 cents "cash and carry" became general.

Increase in Labor Cost.

In explanation of the losses resulting from low prices, Corley pointed out that cleaners' naphtha, formerly six cents a gallon, now costs 15 cents a gallon, and that labor costs in the industry have increased 33 per cent since the World War.

"When cleaners were paying six cents a gallon for naphtha they were charging $1.50 for cleaning a suit. With the price at 15 cents a gallon and labor charges increased, they drop to 75 to 50 cents," Corley said. "There could be only one result from such methods."

The new prices will cover both retail and wholesale cleaning.

NEGRO ATTACKS WHITE WOMAN AT COUNTRY CLUB

Hillcrest Employe's Wife Slashes Assailant With Butcher Knife—He Is Caught After Chase.

After he had criminally assaulted a white woman at the Hillcrest Country Club, on the Telegraph road, St. Louis County, Sylvester Jones, 21-year-old Negro dishwasher at the club, was captured by other employes at 6:30 o'clock this morning, when he sought to escape.

The woman, 25-year-old wife of an employe of the club, was alone in their small house near the clubhouse when the Negro entered and asked her to heat some water. As she turned, she told Constable Fassler of Carondelet Township, the Negro seized her.

Reaching a butcher knife, she defended herself, cutting Jones on the hands. He struck her, knocking her to the floor. When he left the house, she ran out, her screams attracting her husband and other employes of the club. Surmising correctly that the Negro had boarded a bus for St. Louis, the employes followed in an automobile, and, taking Jones off the bus, held him until Constable Fassler arrived.

The Negro was then removed to Clayton, where he is held without bond. A warrant charging criminal attack was issued.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Constance Collier, English and American actress, was sued today for $100,000 by Mrs. Bruce Bairnsfather, who charged the actress had won away the love of her husband, the English cartoonist and the creator of "Old Bill" and "The Better 'Ole."

Mrs. Bairnsfather alleged her husband had been unfaithful while he was collaborating with Miss Collier last April and May on a play and that, while she was in Europe, they occupied an apartment together in the West Fifties in New York as "Mr. and Mrs. Bruce."

When she went to Europe in May, her complaint recited, her husband was to have followed a few weeks later. She charged Miss Collier with exercising influence to prevent his proceeding to Europe.

AIR RACE RULES TIGHTENED AFTER TWO DIE IN CRASH

Chicago Coroner Orders Safety Measures as Result of Killing of Navy Pilot and Spectator—7 Hurt.

By the Associated Press.

CURTISS-REYNOLDS AIRPORT, CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—As the result of the accident which caused the loss of two lives at the national air races yesterday, when the racing navy plane of Lieut. J. P. De Shazo fell near hundreds of spectators, County Coroner Herman Bundesen today ordered two large blocks of bleachers torn down. De Shazo of Alabama and Louis Werner, a race concessionaire, were killed in the crash. Seven spectators were injured, none seriously. The lives of hundreds of spectators were jeopardized.

The Coroner also decreed that racers must finish in normal positions, instead of zooming over the bleachers in sharp turns back to the landing field. His third stipulation was that no planes may fly at a low altitude over the crowds. Stunt flyers, including the foreign pilots, who have thrilled crowds daily with their exhibitions, were ordered to stay out over the landing field hereafter.

100 Feet From Ground.

Turning the last pylon with 16 navy planes in a 50-mile speed race, De Shazo's plane, traveling 125 miles an hour, veered crazily as the flyer attempted a barrel roll, crashed and burst into flames. He was 100 feet from the ground and the plane fell a short distance from the south bleachers.

Werner was struck by the plane, which dropped in front of his concession stand. Most of the injured were hurt by flying missiles when the gasoline tank of the plane exploded. Others were spattered with burning oil.

The bleacher spectators scrambled from the stands. J. R. McCoy, of Chicago, and his wife fell to their knees as the racer swooped down over them and crashed 20 feet away. They were burned by the shower of hot oil.

Evident Self-Sacrifice.

Many aviators think De Shazo went to his death because he maneuvered his plane to prevent striking the bleachers head-on and causing a tragedy of major proportions. His comrades took to the air in formation after the crash with a blank file between the ships in a gesture of farewell.

A verdict of accident was returned today by the Coroner's jury investigating the death of De Shazo and Werner. The verdict said: "We, the jury, further commend the deceased for his self-sacrifice in averting a greater catastrophe in avoiding the crowded bleachers."

De Shazo was one of the best known stunt flyers of the Navy. He was a member of the 1929 battle fleet stunting team and again this year was a member of a Navy team known as the "Unholy Three." A parachute saved his life in September, 1929, when his plane failed him on the Pacific Coast.

DeShazo will be buried in Ari-

President Approves Banking Representatives' Program at White House Breakfast Conference — Wants No Extra Session.

LOCAL AGENCIES CHIEFLY RELIED ON

They Must Handle Most of Financing Committee Reports, Declaring Available U. S. Resources Are Unequal to Emergency.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—President Hoover went over the plans for extending credit to the drouth stricken farmers at a White House breakfast conference today and gave his support to the program.

As agreed upon by banking representatives on various state relief committees, the major aid will be rendered by local banks and credit organizations. Steps are under way to get the machinery functioning.

The White House conferees included Senator Watson, the Republican floor leader; Henry M. Robinson of Los Angeles, chairman of the special committee of bankers which met yesterday, and Joseph R. Nutt of Cleveland, a banker and treasurer of the Republican National Committee. Watson advised against a special session of Congress unless it were absolutely necessary. It was agreed no call was warranted.

Reports from the drouth areas were studied. These showed again the damage was confined principally to 300 widely scattered counties.

Extension of credit to the farmers and Red Cross relief to the suffering is the problem receiving immediate attention. The conferees noted that feed for cattle was being sent into the drouth areas and that cattle were being moved when necessary to places where feed is available.

There are no immediate plans for legislation to meet the drouth emergency and it is understood that National and State authorities hope to conquer the problem without any legislation.

Another Meeting to Be Held.

Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, chairman of the National Drouth Relief Committee, announced he would call a meeting of the chairmen of state drouth relief committees to convene soon in Washington for the coordination of relief activities.

Farmers and business men of the drouth afflicted states had notice today from the bankers in charge of relief financing that they must look primarily to their local banks and credit organizations for funds.

Adopting a program of co-ordination for furnishing credit to communities deprived of their normal reserves by the drouth, the fiscal representatives of 15 state relief committees yesterday recommended the full legal use of Federal credit available. They made plain, however, that this would not be sufficient to give "full measure of relief, which, unfortunately seems to be anticipated in many quarters."

"Nor, perhaps," they added, "will such a program fully meet the emergency that exists."

Local Bank Credit.

The recommendations adopted by the bankers on the basis of the report of a subcommittee headed by Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, provided for employment of the full credit of local banks and expansion of existing agricultural credit corporations and co-operative marketing associations. Where these are unavailable for inadequate, the bankers favored formation of agricultural credit corporations to operate as loaning agencies under the intermediate credit banks.

The Co-operative associations were advised to use the "liberal" financial assistance offered by the Farm Board.

The findings of the bankers were incorporated in a report presented to President Hoover to the report was appended a list of facilities available through Federal agencies.

The Department of Agriculture listed several relief tasks in which it is engaged but pointed out that it had only $800,000 available for loans. This amount is restricted to the 1930 crop in Virginia, Missouri, Oklahoma and Alabama, being the balance of a special appropriation

SECOND BOTTLING PLANT BOMBING IN WEEK, LOSS $600

POLICE CALLED TO QUIET DISTRICT

Many Flee in Night Clothes —Two Thrown From Bed by Explosion — Building Damaged $100.

A dynamite bomb was exploded at the rear of the Montrose Bottling Co., 3057 Sheridan avenue, at 4:15 o'clock this morning, damaging the one-story brick building less than $100 but alarming the neighborhood. About $500 damage was done to buildings within a radius of three blocks where windows were shattered.

Fifty policemen were sent to the scene to quiet the crowd of several hundred persons who left their homes, many in night clothing. The blast was distinctly heard at Police Headquarters and inquiries from more distant police stations indicated it was audible for several miles.

Joseph Burack, the rear of whose house at 3051 Glasgow place, is immediately opposite the bottling plant's alley entrance, reported that he and his wife were thrown from their beds by the force of the explosion which also broke a large plate glass window in his grocery at Webster avenue and Brantner place.

Two wooden doors leading to a portion of the bottling plant used as a garage, were destroyed and a section of the wall about 6 by 2 feet next to the doors was blown out. A truck in the garage was slightly damaged and a few cases of bottled soda were destroyed.

The Montrose plant was the second bottling concern in the neighborhood to be damaged by a bomb within a week. Last Thursday night, the City Bottling Co. at 3106 Sheridan avenue, less than a block away, was damaged $200 by a charge of dynamite against its rear wall.

Jacob Burstein, 4337A Lafayette avenue, secretary-treasurer and manager of the Montrose Company and William Zemlick, 1614A Clara avenue, head of the City Company, were questioned by police about a rumored price-cutting war among bottlers. They denied they had reduced prices and said there was no ill feeling among competitors. Neither would give any theory as to the reason for the attacks, and both said they had not been threatened.

Likewise, Peter Lehman, 3059 Sheridan, owner of the building occupied by the Montrose company, could give police no information of value to an investigation.

ROLPH VICTORY CONCEDED IN CALIFORNIA PRIMARY

San Francisco Mayor, Liberal, Defeats Two Who Had Support of Organized Drys.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28.—Mayor James Rolph Jr., of San Francisco was victorious in the race for the Republican nomination for Governor.

The latet tabulation of Tuesday's primary vote, with only 453 precincts missing out of 10,285, gave Rolph 264,695; Gov. C. C. Young 239,910 and Baron Fitts, 283,580. Both Young and Fits conceded victory to Rolph and sent their congratulations.

State Senator Frank Merriam of Long Beach apparently won the Republican nomination for Lieutenant-Governor, nosing out H. L. Carnahan, incumbent, and State Senator Tallant Tubbs of San Francisco. The latter ran on a wet platform and had taken a big lead in the early returns. In 9612 precincts Merriam polled 240,899; Carnahan 220,011 and Tubbs 217,066.

Prohibition did not figure directly in the governorship campaign but Rolph based his candidacy on a "liberal" platform while Young and Fitts received the support of the organized drys.

Rolph's Democratic opponent in the election will be Milton K. Young, who sought both the Republican and Democratic nominations.

ington National Cemetery. Capt. Sydney K. Evans of the Chaplain Corps of the Navy will officiate at the funeral Saturday morning at the receiving vault at Arlington. Companions in the Navy's famous "Red Ripper" squadron will be pallbearers.

After the charred remnants of DeShazo's plane were carted away, the races went on, the featured event of which was the finish of the Los Angeles-to-Chicago Derby, which was won by Wiley Post, Oklahoma City, Ok.

Post led four entries as they crossed the finish line here Tuesday with an elapsed time of nine hours, nine minutes and four seconds, but was not officially named winner until after an unsuccessful attempt by Art Goebel to beat his time yesterday.

Goebel, who arrived at the airport shortly after 5:30 p. m., negotiated the distance in nine hours, 21 minutes and 21.4 seconds for second place. Third place went to Lee Shoenhair, Akron, O., and fourth place to William Brock, Detroit, Mich. Post won $7500 and Goebel received $4500. There were no awards for the other finishers.

At Indianapolis, where the Lindberghs stopped on the way here, Lindberg accidentally touched a valve which released a quantity of gasoline from the tanks of their plane. Airport attendants stood by with fire extinguishers but these were not needed. Col. Lindbergh supervised the refilling of the tanks.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh landed at the airport this afternoon.

Capt. Frank M. Hawks, holder of the transcontinental speed records for both directions across the United States, flew his Travelair special Wright-motored monoplane through a drizzling rain today on a practice flight for the $10,000 Thompson Trophy race. He was clocked unofficially at 220 miles an hour.

The Thompson Trophy race is to be run Labor day. The distance will be 100 miles, 20 laps around the course. First prize is $5000, second $3000 and third $2000.

May Haizlip, St. Louis, won the first closed course race for women, taking her Inland sport plane around the course in 121.06 miles an hour. Vera Dawn Walker, Los Angeles, was second at 120.66 miles an hour and Laura Ingalls, St. Louis, third with 111.55 miles.

Discouraged by the necessity of calling off several closed course races for women because of lack of entries, race executives announced that woman pilots tonight would compete over bridge tables in the cabin of a large plane, as the ship soars over the airport.

Dissatisfied with some phases of the women's events, the 99 Club, a national organization of licensed woman pilots, voted to work for changes in the 1931 meet.

HOOVER APPROVES DROUTH CREDIT PLAN BANKERS PROPOSE

for seed loans in Southern states made by Congress last winter.

The Treasury reported no funds available. The Federal Reserve Board promised leniency toward member banks of the affected region. The Farm Board listed its facilities under the marketing act, while the intermediate credit banks submitted the system under which their loans are to be made.

"We view it as unfortunate," the report said, "that the impression has gone abroad that there are Federal funds available on other than a sound credit basis."

The local bankers were charged with the "primary duty" in relief work, the bankers here explaining that conditions vary in the affected states, and that "no general rule would be applicable to the respective states, or to the individuals in the respective communities."

Local bankers were adviscd to utilize their credit with correspondent banks and to offer for rediscount all eligible paper to the Federal Reserve Bank or the Intermediate Credit Bank operating in their respective territories.

SHOT BY NEIGHBOR IN LATTER'S YARD, DIES FROM WOUND

Henry Leyser 35, Alton, Mistaken for Prowler, Says Russell Lyons, Who Fired Four Times.

Henry Leyser, 35 years old, 3227 Belle street, Alton, died last night at St. Joseph's Hospital there from a bullet wound in his left lung inflicted Monday night by his next door neighbor, who said he fired when he heard someone moving in his back yard and received no response to his hail.

The neighbor, Russell Lyons, 35-year-old owner of a tire shop, who occupies a corner house at 3248 Theresa avenue, told police he went to the door and shouted, "Who's there?" after his sister, Miss Leona Lyons, a telephone operator, told him a prowler was in the yard upon her return from work at 11 o'clock.

When he received no response to his call, he related, he saw a crouching form in the shrubbery and fired four times into the darkness. One bullet penetrated the tip of Leyser's left lung, later causing pneumonia.

Leyser, who was unmarried and an employe of the Beall Shovel Co., told police, after being wounded, that he had been disturbed by the howling of a stray dog, apparently in his neighbor's yard, and had gone out to drive it away.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Aug. 28.

Reports of food distributors show a very considerable decrease in retail prices. In theory, that is an advantage to all of us. It is the kind of political economy that some have long advocated. But, in practice, the well-to-do scarcely notice it and many who really would be benefited find that low prices are a delusion since they do not have enough money to pay them. The gain that comes to the few has to be paid for by the many through a very disproportionate loss in general property values, entire suspension of wages or part-time employment. A small number with a fixed income may benefit from cheap goods sold at a loss, but the country as a whole is always injured.

Our ideal is not cheapness in either goods or men. The country is most benefited by a business profit secured through a fair price for commodities and high wages for labor. We expect science and invention to decrease production costs, but not to a barren level of cheapness. We want our people so well paid that they can afford to meet the price of prosperity.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

SUNDAY CLOSING LAW RULINGS IN 114 CASES

Charges Dismissed Against 105 Proprietors After They Pay $3 Court Costs.

Charges of violating the Sunday closing ordinance against 105 proprietors of groceries, confectioneries and delicatessens were dismissed upon payment of $3 costs when the cases were called today before Provisional Police Judge Foster.

Four others were fined, 15 cases were dropped and 77 cases were continued.

Arrests under the ordinance were started March 30 at the request of the Retail Grocers' Association, the Meat Dealers' Association and the Grocery Clerks' and Meat Cutters' Unions. A temporary injunction restraining police from enforcing the ordinance was issued by Circuit Judge Sprague last Friday upon petition of 270 delicatessen owners. A hearing as to whether it will be made permanent has been set for Sept. 4.

Former Circuit Attorney Lawrence McDaniel, attorney for the Retail Grocers' Association, assisted in the prosecution. A committee of the organization, headed by Fred Marty, president, was present.

Sam Lickhalter, who lives in the rear of his store at 1309 Franklin avenue, pleaded not guilty and explained that the door of his store was the only one to his living quarters and it was necessary to keep it open. He was fined $25.

Meyer Fishman, 1800 O'Fallon street, was fined only $10 when he contested the charge, saying that he had been here only a short time, did not understand English and was not familiar with the ordinance.

Isadore Levitte, 4400 Maffitt avenue, was fined $25. Mrs. Lena Landsbaum, 5438 Easton avenue, did not appear and a $25 fine was entered against her.

BERNIE SHELTON RELEASED AGAIN ON HABEAS WRIT

East St. Louis Gangster Freed Second Time From Jail Within a Week.

Bernie Shelton, gangster, obtained his release under bond today from the St. Clair County jail for the second time within a week on a writ of habeas corpus.

Shelton's difficulties with East St. Louis police and St. Clair County authorities started July 27, when he pleaded guilty of vagrancy before Justice of the Peace G. W. Thompson and was given the option of serving six months in jail or staying away from East St. Louis for a similar period. Shelton chose banishment, but failed to keep the bargain, and was arrested last week when detectives found him on the street. A loaded revolver added to the complications.

He furnished $5000 bond on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, but was taken to jail to serve the sentence for vagrancy. City Judge Borders of East St. Louis, issued a writ of habeas corpus in favor of Shelton, who gave a second $5000 bond and left jail last Monday. On Tuesday Judge Borders decided that the case was outside the jurisdiction of the City Court. The writ was withdrawn, and Shelton went back to jail.

The writ on which Shelton obtained his liberty today was issued by Circuit Judge Louis Bernreuter, who will conduct a hearing on the vagrancy case Sept. 8. Attorneys for Shelton declare their client was unlawfully banished from East St. Louis, where he operates a taxicab company. They also attacked the legality of the vagrancy sentence. Shelton's $5000 bond was signed by Nicholas B. Stevenson, East St. Louis.

SHIP WITH ANDREE BODY WARNED OF STORMS

Sealer Bratvag Ordered to Hurry by Scandinavian Radio Stations.

By the Associated Press.

OSLO, Aug. 28.—Scandinavian radio stations today began calling to the sealer Bratvaag, Dr. Horn's expedition ship, to hasten to Norway with the bodies of Salomon August Andree and his companion, found in the Arctic after 33 years.

Swift storms, with the possibility of disaster to the vessel and the loss forever of the story of Andree's fate as chronicled in the diary found with the bodies on White Island, prompted the Norwegian and Swedish Governments and scientists to co-operate in dealing with the situation.

TROMSOE, Norway, Aug. 28.—The little vessel Bratvaag, which is hunting seals somewhere in the Arctic Ocean, is the object of a search by four other sealers which have been chartered by newsgathering organizations in a dash to obtain the first-hand story of the discovery of the bodies of Salomon August Andree and a companion, who perished in a balloon trip over the Arctic regions 33 years ago.

The sealer Heimen, carrying an Associated Press representative, left Tromsoe last night, while two other sealing vessels were ready to put to sea with other correspondents. Still another is after the story.

The little Bratvaag does not carry a radio transmitter and with the body of Andree and one of his companions aboard since the discovery early this month has been pursuing its job of catching as many seals as possible before heavy winter weather sets in.

After long negotiations, however, the owner of the Bratvaag has ordered the little vessel to leave the sealing grounds immediately for Tromsoe, and if the Bratvaag has received the message it now is headed for home so that the whole world can hear the story of the ill-fated Andree expedition.

Meanwhile the four news boats will search the Arctic Sea for the Bratvaag. Capt. Gustav Jensen of the sealer Terningen, who gave the first news that the bodies had been found by Dr. Gunnar Horn, is aboard the Heimen to assist in the search.

The owner of the Bratvaag, who lives in Aalesund, was asked to order the sealer home as soon as the news of the finding of Andree became known instead of waiting for the scheduled arrival Sept. 15. An agreement was reached on condition that the owner be reimbursed for loss of the Bratvaag's sealing activities. The owner refused large sums for the rights to photographs and interviews with the crew.

The question of the Bratvaag's recall occupied the Norwegian Cabinet yesterday and negotiations were conducted with the Swedish Government through the Swedish Minister, since Sweden backed the Andree expedition in 1897.

ARGENTINE PRESIDENT HEARS REVOLT IS NEA

So Informed by Minister Justice—Chief Executive's Home Guarded.

By the Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 28.—Dr. Juan de La Campa, Minister of Justice, is said by the newspaper La Critica to have informed President Yrigoyen that there was an immediate possibility of a revolt involving certain political leaders and part of the army.

The newspaper La Prensa says the roof of President Yrigoyen's home bristles with machine guns and that the provincial railway management has received orders to hold a train ready at a moment's notice to convey troops to Buenos Aires.

The Federation of Employes of the Union Telephone Co. has called a 24-hour strike beginning at 6 p. m. today in protest against regulations of the company which they regarded injurious to their interests. A telephone service tieup was not expected, since a large part of the company's personnel does not sympathize with the organization.

As the trouble of a mysterious nature began to develop yesterday the chief of provincial police held long conferences with the commanders of all of the city's police stations. The provincial government minister went into conference with the commanders of regiments in the La Plata garrison.

La Nacion says the chief of police and many high officers remained at their desks all night. The Minister of War visited police headquarters at midnight.

La Nacion also says President Yrigoyen remained awake all night and that two of his ministers and the Mayor of Buenos Aires were with him until after 2 a. m. Col. Elias Alvarez, chief of the 7th military zone, also visited the President.

CAPONE REPORTED HELPING DEFENSE IN SCORFINA CASE

Chicago Underworld Leader Said to Have Agreed to Furnish Bonds and to Pay Lawyers.

HE SEEKS CONTROL OF ST. LOUIS GANGS

State's Attorney of St. Clair County Tells of Efforts to Gain Release of Alleged Kidnapers.

Al Capone, powerful boss of the Chicago underworld and director in chief of its remunerative rackets, is attempting to "muscle in" on the St. Louis gang situation by consenting to a request that he furnish large bail bonds and lawyers for five Sicilian gangsters now in jail in the Scorfina kidnaping case, according to an underworld report under investigation by State's Attorney Lindauer at Belleville.

According to the report, Capone sees in the plight of the five St. Louis Sicilians a potent opportunity to place them under obligation to him and thereby gain control of the extortion machinery operated here by a Sicilian gang known to the police as the Mafia.

Frank Agrusa, one of the prisoners, is head of the local Mafia, according to the report now in Lindauer's hands. Agrusa and Vito Impastato, another Sicilian feudist, were removed to Belleville from St. Louis today under extradition papers signed Tuesday by Gov. Caulfield.

Five Named by Scorfina.

The other prisoners, held in Belleville, are Mike Lombardo, Sora Mantia and Baptista Bommarito. With Agrusa and Impastato they have been named by Sam Scorfina, prosperous Carr street grocer, as the men who seized him in East St. Louis on July 12, took him to a farm seven miles west of Ste. Genevieve, Mo., robbed him of $400 and held him for $10,000 ransom.

He escaped after four days, during which he was kicked, beaten and deprived of food. Bommarito, Mantia and Lombardo are now under indictment on charges of kidnaping for ransom, a capital offense, and armed robbery. The case of Agrusa and Impastato has not yet been submitted to the grand jury. Carl Fiorito, sixth man named by the grocer, is still at large.

After the arrest of Bommarito, Lombardo and Mantia, Sicilian gunmen thoroughly canvassed St. Louis commission men and Italian merchants upon whom they prey, for funds for their defense and for bond. Meanwhile, former Circuit Attorney Sidener, their attorney, utilized applications for habeas corpus writs and an injunction suit to delay their removal to Illinois.

Bonds Would Total $287,500.

His fight was abandoned when State's Attorney Lindauer agreed to approve the release of the men on bond. Their bail was set at $57,500 each, or a total of $172,500. If bail for Impastato and Agrusa is set at the same amount the total bond required for the men will be $287,500.

Two factors in the bail bond situation as it was then set up by State's Attorney Lindauer, combined to block release of the men as far as efforts of local gangsters are concerned.

The first of these is that bondsmen in Illinois courts must have property in Illinois. The second is that the property or money they offer as qualification for bonds must be worth twice the amount of the bond, which means that for each of the gangsters the bondsman must qualify for $115,000, or a total of $575,000.

Plea to Capone.

The report reaching State's Attorney Lindauer is that with removal to Belleville in prospect, friends of the gangsters thoroughly combed the East Side for bondsmen of sufficient financial background to act as sureties.

None was found. It was then, according to the underworld report, that representatives of the local gang went to Chicago for help and laid their plea before Capone. The Chicago gangster never has succeeded in working into the field that St. Louis offers the extortionist, but the present situation is interpreted as a first-class opportunity for him to expand his activities.

The report has it that he not only has agreed to arrange bond but also to finance the defense of the five when they are brought to trial in Belleville for their lives.

$50,000 SUIT FOR SLANDER

Another suit for $50,000 damages, alleging slander, was filed by William King yesterday against another officer of the Associated Motor Terminals Co., with Paul K. Morgenthaler named as defendant.

King, who is head of an investment firm which had charge of distribution and sale of stock in the terminals company, owner of four large downtown garages, alleged he was damaged by a statement made by Morgenthaler. A similar suit was filed earlier in the week against E. M. Grossman, attorney, and executive vice president of the company. Morgenthaler declined to discuss the case.

Arrangement of Radio in Police Cars

By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

A POLICE sergeant and a patrolman in one of the radio-equipped police scout cars listening to the broadcast from police headquarters. The loud speaker is above their heads, the receiving set beneath the rear seat floor boards and the radio switches in the black panel at the extreme right. In the center of the cowl, above the instrument board, is a button that operates the car's electric siren. Police cruisers, which are larger cars, have the loud speaker beneath the instrument board.

False Alarm Shows Speed With Which Cars Respond to Call—Acting Mayor Neun and Others Broadcast Addresses.

A shrill, screaming note, two octaves above middle C, interrupted the faint sputtering of the radio in Cruiser 100, Chief of Police Gerk's blue limousine, last night during the formal dedication of the Police Department's $40,000 short-wave broadcasting system that keeps headquarters in constant touch with 72 radio-equipped police cars stationed about the city. Then, heard imperfectly through the static, a man's voice shouted:

"Attention, all radio cars, attention all radio cars, 4653 Evans avenue, 4653 Evans avenue, man being killed, man being killed."

After a moment's pause, the message was repeated. All over town, policemen in radio-equipped cruisers and scout cars calculated the distance to 4653 Evans avenue. Those in the vicinity dashed to the scene. The call was a false alarm, but demonstrated the speed with which policemen, notified by radio, could reach the spot.

During the first part of the ceremonies the broadcasting system was out of order, and policemen who had expected to hear an address by Lon O. Hocker, president of the Board of Police Commissioners, heard instead, only the dry spitting of static.

Most Speeches Clearly Heard.

The broadcasting apparatus was repaired a moment or so before the Evans avenue call was broadcast at 8:17. Two minutes later reporters who were riding in Chief Gerk's car to observe how radio orders are received and carried out, heard Chief Gerk in the dispatcher's room, at headquarters, say:

"Members of the force, it now is my privilege to present Walter J. G. Neun, President of the Board of Aldermen, acting Mayor, and one of the leading citizens of St. Louis who are doing everything they can to eliminate crime. This is Station KGPC, the St. Louis Police Department; Mr. Neun."

Neun spoke briefly on the value of the police radio system. His voice came clearly through the loud speaker as cruiser 100 drove up Cass avenue. Although the radio system has been in operation for five weeks, last night was the first time it was publicly demonstrated.

City Counselor Julius T. Muench and John G. Lonsdale, president of the Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Co., followed Neun with short addresses. Then a momentary crackling silence, broken by the high-pitched attention note:

"Attention all radio cars. This is Station KGPC. We had an interruption in the service, and if you missed two time signals, just disregard it. Just disregard it if you missed two time signals. We had an interruption in the service."

A Check on Attentiveness.

William Engel, Chief Gerk's driver, explained that the station broadcasts a time signal every 15 minutes, in order that the men in the radio cars will know that the station is functioning. The car crews are required to report each call to prove that they have been listening. Time signals are given differently each 15 minutes. Thus, one will be broadcast at 8:30, another at 8:44 and a third at 8:59½.

Chief Gerk's limousine covered several miles before the attention note sounded out again. "There goes a job," said Engel. "We'll take a run on this one if it's any place near." However, the dispatcher said: "Cruiser 104, call Station 28, Chief of Detective's office, right away. He repeated it twice and signed off.

"Probably an arrest order of some kind," Engel explained. "They don't give all orders over the radio. Just the emergency calls are broadcast. If they want somebody arrested, they have one of the crews call headquarters and give the order over the telephone."

The next broadcast was the 8:30 time signal. Four minutes later the dispatcher said, "Scout Car 2, District 6, someone injured in an automobile accident at Margaretta and Red Bud. A hit and run driver in an Essex six." At 8:40, the message was, "Attention, radio cars. Recover a stolen automobile. Essex coach bearing Missouri license plates 471-182. This car was stolen on the 24th."

At 9:01 the call went out: "Beat Patrol No. 3 of the Mounted District. A woman screaming in an automobile being driven west on Sutherland avenue off Kingshighway. No description of the automobile."

A Holdup Call.

Cruiser 100 was in North St. Louis at the time. "Things seem to be happening south," Engel said. "Let's drive down there." He did so, and 10 minutes later came another call. The dispatcher sounded excited this time. "Attention everybody," he shouted. "Attention everybody. Holdup of a Texaco station at Grand and Carter. Holdup of a Texaco station at Grand and Carter. Scout Car No. 2, District 6. Scout Car No. 2, District 6."

"That's too far away," Engel said. He continued, "I wonder what Col. Hocker said, while the broadcasting set was out of commission?" Someone produced an advance copy of the address which Hocker delivered over the silent police system and over Radio Station WIL, which had arranged to broadcast the inauguration ceremonies. It read, in part:

"No government or society has yet existed that has not developed an excrescence of crime. No sane man expects that there will ever be a society that will not do so. Sometimes men are fundamentally bad; sometimes circumstances or society itself makes them so. It is not the function of the police to deal with the causes of crime, but with criminals. Let it not be understood, however, that the duty of society is not to deal with the causes of crime; it is, but through other agencies.

"The police deal with things as they are, and as best they can repress the activities of the criminal classes.

"In these later years, by reason of certain laws, crime has become so profitable that it has attracted to it men of superior intelligence and genius, who before were not tempted by its trifling returns. Through them, crime has become organized. It provides its armies with substantial funds; it corrupts officials and juries; it maintains its legal departments and avails itself of every product of man's inventive genius to insure its success and maintain its security. Organized crime has become the major menace of the age. If not vigorously combated, no business would be safe from its racketeering, and no man from its kidnaping and blackmail. To cope successfully with this menace, the good members of society must completely organize and co-operate."

"How long are we going to ride?" Engel was asked. "Well, until Col. Gerk sends for us," was the reply. Just then the attention note sounded, and the dispatcher called: "Cruiser 100, Cruiser 100, come to the garage at once. Come to the garage at once." The demonstration was ended.

Injured When Bottle Explodes.

Mrs. Louise Meyers, 2230 Rutger street, was treated at City Hospital last night for lacerations of the neck suffered, she reported, when a bottle of beer exploded when she was placing it in the icebox.

'LONDON LLOYDS' MAGIC NAME IN INSURANCE DEAL

Similar Plan Was to Be Formed Here, Investors in St. Louis Underwriters, Inc., Were Told.

"What pictures the name London Lloyds conjured up; of the romantic past of old England; of ships and seamen and mercantile ventures in far lands. From a fuller understanding of what it stood for, you will come to a complete appreciation of St. Louis Lloyds, an organization patterned after the famous old London Lloyds, attracting the same staunch type of mind and character as those which originally grasped the insurance opportunity of England." . . .

Thus ran the prospectus which Charles W. Good and James B. Kent used to sell shares in the St. Louis Underwriters, Inc., a proposed $50,000 corporation, which, they said, would apply the "insure anything" idea in St. Louis.

"Through two and a quarter centuries of English adventure on the seven seas, Lloyds has grown and prospered," said the prospectus. "The St. Louis Lloyds is an adaptation of London Lloyds with certain improvements to suit American conditions."

Imposing Directorate.

With such flowery phrases and an imposing list of officers and directors, including Phil A. Bennett, former Lieutenant-Governor of Missouri, as president; A. L. Harty, former State Insurance Commissioner as secretary, and Hiram Lloyd, another former Lieutenant-Governor, as a director, Good and Kent invaded Southern Illinois. During April and May certain residents of the vicinity of Coulterville and Sparta handed over securities and cash to be placed in escrow against the day when St. Louis Underwriters, Inc., should be incorporated.

Yesterday Good and Kent were charged with using the mails to defraud in warrants issued by Assistant United States District Attorney Crooks. According to Post-office Inspector Noah, who investigated on the complaint of the Better Business Bureau, about $28,000 in cash and securities were obtained.

Although the company was never incorporated, Noah said, certificates of stock were printed and issued. The Better Business Bureau hold a photostatic copy of a certificate for five shares of 8 per cent preferred bearing the purported signatures of Bennett as president and Good as secretary. According to Noah, there is nothing to show that the investments were placed in escrow as agreed.

One Man Arrested.

Kent, who is 34 years old, was arrested Tuesday night and was released yesterday under $7500 bond, pending a preliminary hearing, Sept. 23. Good, who is 50 and lives at the Lindell-Plaza Hotel, is said to be out of the city. Kent's contention is that he merely worked for Good and obeyed orders. Both are experienced stock salesmen.

Hiram Lloyd, a St. Louis contractor, said today he had never heard of Good or Kent or the St. Louis Underwriters. "Several months ago," he said, "Phil Bennett called at my office and explained a plan for organizing a Lloyd company here. He asked if he could use my name as a director when the company was incorporated and I told him it would be all right. I never thought about the matter again."

Bennett, an insurance broker of Springfield, Mo., offered a similar explanation. "Good came to me last January with his scheme for a St. Louis Lloyds. I had known him slightly for a year and he had good letters and references. He represented that he had raised all the necessary money and wanted me as president because of my insurance connections and the business I could turn to the new company.

"Didn't Sign Certificates."

"I made him put it all in writing and my attorney approved it. Good agreed that my name would not be used in promotion. Later, he asked me to introduce him to Gov. Lloyd. I took him to Gov. Lloyd's office when Good made his proposition. That's all I had to do with it. I didn't sign any certificates and I didn't know they had been printed."

Other officers and directors listed in the prospectus are J. F. Nelson, president of the Marquette Drug Co. of Sedalia, vice president; H. R. Sharp, investment broker in the Missouri Hotel Building, treasurer; William P. Launtz, lawyer, East St. Louis, director; Charles W. Good, director, and J. F. Lindsey, merchant, East St. Louis, director.

According to W. C. Rosenbaum, assistant manager of the Business Bureau's financial division, Nelson purchased $500 worth of stock but did not authorize the use of his name as vice president. Sharp, Rosenbaum said, helped organize the Underwriters company, and shared his office with Good and Kent, but withdrew in May. At that time Good moved to desk room in the Arcade Building.

Rosenbaum said the Underwriters shares were sold in units of one share of preferred and one share of common for $100. His investigation showed that William Erwin, Coulterville, invested $8000; Alexander Fullerton, Coulterville, $6000; Martin Paul, Tilden, Ill., $4000; Charles Lewis, Sparta, $5500; Sam Cappanella, Coulterville, $400; William A. Diehl, East St. Louis, $5000, and William Klanke, St. Louis, $1000.

BEAR ESCAPES FROM PIT NEAR SEA LION POOL AT THE ZOO

Napoleon, a black bear weighing about 300 pounds, escaped from one of the small pits near the sea lion pool in Forest Park Zoo yesterday and fought off attendants for 45 minutes before being dragged back to the pit with ropes.

The bear, which has outgrown his pit, will be transferred to the large pits today. It easily scaled the barrier when enticed with popcorn. A crowd of several hundred persons scattered as it stood on the walk outside the enclosure. Many vaulted the enclosure of the duck pond adjoining but returned to watch the capture, directed by George E. Dieckman, president of the Zoological Society, who happened to be present.

Enraged by blows on the nose with a broomstick, Napoleon rushed the attendants only to be beaten back, and finally scurried up a tree and sat out on a limb. Here he was lassoed and jerked down and unceremoniously hustled back to the pit.

Dieckman said onlookers were stubborn in their refusal to seek safety once the struggle with the bear was under way.

ATHENS, Aug. 28.—More than 1000 members of the Greco-American Legion arrived today on the liner Saturnia. Among them were M. Dimos, who was a member of the Byrd expedition to the South Pole, and a Miss Elliott, granddaughter of an American volunteer in the Greek Revolution of 1821.

DR. BASS FOUND SANE; REMOVED TO PRISON FARM

Former Columbia, Mo., Dentist Murdered Garage Mechanic in Insurance Plot Last Spring.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 28.—Alienists of the penitentiary here, after three months' observation, have pronounced Dr. A. J. Bass sane.

The former Columbia, Mo., retired dentist, under life sentence from Benton county for murder in an effort to get $200,000 in insurance, has been transferred to the prison farm at Tucker to serve his sentence.

Dr. Bass was arrested at Bentonville last spring after he had identified the body of a man shot to death and found on a highway in Benton county as that of William Folta with whom he said he had a land deal and upon whose life he carried $200,000 insurance as security for notes.

The body in reality was that of William Robert Pearman, Columbia garage mechanic and co-conspirator with Dr. Bass in the insurance plot, which originally contemplated the murder of another man whose body was to be substituted for that of the fictitious Folta.

At his trial at Bentonville May 26 Dr. Bass pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life imprisonment. He had retired from his profession and was farming near Columbia when the insurance murder plot was conceived and executed.

COAL DEALER STABBED TWICE; SAYS HE WAS ROBBED OF $74

Phillip Leach, 44, Found Seriously Wounded on Vacant Lot by Passerby.

Found on a vacant lot suffering from two stab wounds last night, Phillip Leach, 44 years old, a coal dealer, 4947 Genevieve avenue, told police he had been assaulted and robbed of $74 as he was crossing the lot.

Julius Schreiber, 5827 Woodland avenue, heard moans as he was passing the lot about 11:30 o'clock and discovered Leach, who is in a serious condition at City Hospital, suffering with a wound in the abdomen and one in the left groin.

H. L. MENCKEN MARRIED, WEDDING ADVANCED A WEEK

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 28.—H. L. Mencken, spokesman for bachelorhood and scoffer at matrimony, was married yesterday to Miss Sara Powell Haardt of Baltimore, and Montgomery, Ala. The wedding had been scheduled for Sept. 3, but the pair decided to escape zealous attentions of friends and were married by an Episcopal rector at the church of St. Stephen the Martyr.

Only their immediate families and a few friends were present. As they left in an automobile for a short wedding trip, rice was scattered about the head of the man who had written of weddings as "barbaric rites."

The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Herbert L. Parrish of New Brunswick, N. J., a long-time friend of Mencken.

The bride, a graduate of Goucher College, Baltimore, has written for periodicals and recently her first novel was accepted for publication. In applying for a license last week Mencken gave his age as 49 and Miss Haardt's as 22. Neither had been married before.

BROOKLYN PAIR SLAIN IN ROOMING HOUSE

Woman Freed of Murdering One Husband Apparently Shot by Third Who Kills Self.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Acquitted two years ago of the murder of her second husband, Mrs. Frances Kirkwood Van Clief, 34 years old, was shot and killed last night by her third husband, Eugene Van Clief, who then killed himself.

This was the theory of police based on a note found after the two bodies were discovered in a Brooklyn rooming house. The note addressed to Ida Van Clief, a daughter by a previous marriage, read:

"Please forgive me for what I have done. It is the best way out. Your Dad, Eugene." The note was found in the room rented by Van Clief.

Police learned Van Clief, who married Mrs. Kirkwood a year ago, recently had financial reverses in his roadside stand. Prior to discovery of the note, police believed that the woman had shot her husband and then taken her own life. A pistol from which four shots had been fired was found near her hand.

She had a bullet wound in her right temple. Van Clief was shot in the breast and his temple had been grazed by a bullet.

The woman's second husband, Dr. Glenn Kirkwood, a veterinarian, was stabbed to death in their home in Queens. At her trial on a charge of manslaughter she said the veterinarian was killed accidentally in the struggle for the weapon with which she had intended to kill herself.

Her first husband was John A. McAvoy, a textile designer, whom she divorced.

GERMAN FLYERS TO START ON U. S. TOUR TOMORROW

Will Stop at Niagara Falls First, Then Fly to the Chicago Air Races Saturday Morning.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The Dornier-Wal trans-Atlantic plane which brought Wolfgang Von Gronau and his crew of three from Germany to New York is being overhauled for a flight to Niagara Falls, the National Air Races at Chicago, and the James Gordon Bennett Balloon Races at Cleveland.

Capt. Von Gronau and his crew plans to take off tomorrow morning for Buffalo as all four German flyers believe their trip to this country will not have been complete unless they see Niagara Falls.

Remaining overnight in Buffalo, they expect to take off Saturday morning for Chicago where they will remain over the week-end. They planned to fly over the Curtiss-Reynolds Airport where the National Air Races are in progress and land on Lake Michigan. On Monday they plan to take off for Cleveland to witness the start of the Nation Balloon Race.

Capt. Von Gronau said they probably would return to New York Tuesday night or Wednesday morning. On Thursday evening or Friday morning they expect to leave for Washington with a stop-off at Philadelphia.

Von Gronau and his crew were officially welcomed at City Hall today and were guests of honor at an advertising club luncheon.

"There are many ways to get from Germany to the United States," Von Gronau said. "One of them is by air. If I can trust myself to make a little joke, it is to say that we wanted to get to your country in the worst way."

U. S. INJUNCTION PROTECTS BAGNALL DAM CONSTRUCTION

Temporary Federal Writ Forbids County Officials to Further Interfere With Project.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 28.—A temporary injunction restraining the Prosecuting Attorney and members of the Camden County Court and their attorneys from any further action in State Courts in connection with the construction of the Osage River dam at Bagnell was granted in United States District Court here today by Judge Albert L. Reeves.

A suit to condemn the Camden County courthouse and jail and about 60 miles of county roads was filed in the Federal Court today by attorneys for the Union Electric Light & Power Co., builders of the dam. A hearing was set for Sept. 25 before Judge Reeves here.

The prosecutor of Camden County last Aug. 11 obtained a injunction from the County Court restraining the Union Electric Co. from instituting proceedings to condemn the courthouse and county jail, the sites of which will be inundated on completion of the dam.

FERGUSONS "NEVER EXPECT TO SEEK OFFICE AGAIN"

Texas Ex-Governor and Wife So Declare in Editorial; Remain "at Command of Friends."

By the Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 28.—In an editorial in the Ferguson Forum, James E. and Miriam A. Ferguson declare they "never expect to seek public office again." The Forum is a Ferguson political newspaper.

"Every day," the editorial said, "we are asked what of our plans? Our answer is that, while we never expect to seek office again, we will always be at the command of our friends as private citizens with our bit and mite to battle for the interests of the people."

It was the first statement of the Fergusons since Mrs. Ferguson was defeated for the Democratic nomination for Governor by Ross S. Sterling of Houston last Saturday.

ALLEGES $1,000,000 LOSS IN STOCK SALE

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—On application of Deputy Attorney-General Denenholz, Supreme Court Justice Faber in Brooklyn yesterday issued a temporary injunction restraining four corporations and six individuals from dealing in securities except under restrictions imposed by the court.

The corporations named are the Interstate Utilities Corporation, the Bond & Share Corporation of America, William F. Ferris & Co., Inc., and J. L. Mellon, Inc. The individuals named are Jacob L. Mellon, William F. Melhuish, William F. Ferris, Albert C. Webb, Edward M. Simpson and Arthur A. Kliesrath.

Through the stock selling operations of the defendants, Denenholz alleged, investors lost more than $1,000,000. Melhuish, he charged, was the guiding spirit behind a scheme to float stocks of so-called utilities companies which resulted in these losses.

In 1928, it was alleged, Melhuish organized the Bond & Share Corporation of America, a Delaware concern, with offices in Manhattan, which was represented as a holding management corporation of securities issued by corporations supplying light and power in Pennsylvania and as holding public utilities securities in other states. Twenty thousand shares were sold, it was alleged, through Mellon's firm, Henry A. Newman, Inc.

Then Melhuish organized the Interstate Utilities Corporation, it was alleged, himself holding the voting stock. Holders of Bond & Share stock, the affidavit alleged, were urged to exchange their holdings for Interstate Utilities on the basis of five shares of the latter for four of their stock.

Later stockholders of the Bond & Share Corporation made complaints and an investigation was made by the Attorney-General's office. Denenholz alleged Melhuish had divided a secret profit with various stock-selling organizations and individuals who were able to dispose of large blocks of stock.

Interstate Utilities Corporation stock was placed on the Produce Exchange through Ferris, Denenholz alleged, and he created an artificial market by purchase and sale of the stock through associated companies. This artificial market was maintained at $15 to $22.50 a share, it was alleged, though the stock did not cost the sellers more than $8 a share. Mellon and the Mellon company, it was alleged, issued a daily market letter recommending Bond & Share and Interstate stock to the public. In this way, Denenholz said, more than 50,000 shares of Interstate stock were sold.

Application will be made Sept. 5 to continue the temporary restraining order, pending trial of the case.

THREE RAILROADS CUT CLERKS' TIME AND PAY

Frisco, M-K-T and Wabash Start 5-Day Week to Avoid Unemployment.

Three railroads with general offices in St. Louis have put virtually all clerical employes below the rank of chief clerk on a five-day week with proportionate reductions in pay. The policy has been adopted to prevent additional unemployment.

The plan has been put into effect by the Frisco, Missouri, Kansas & Texas and Wabash railroads and applies to some classes of clerical employes at divisions points and other offices where it has been found practicable.

The situation faced by railroads, executives explained, differs from that of other industries in the manner in which unpromising economic conditions may be met. Whereas some manufactories may suspend when operation is threatened with loss, transportation service must be maintained, with only little opportunity to reduce fixed operating costs.

In recent weeks, the usual seasonal decline in business, in addition to commercial inactivity, has resulted in further application of the general policy of reducing working hours rather than workers.

The Terminal Railway Association last June interchanged 206,305 loaded freight cars for the 28 connecting lines, as compared to 242,703 in June, 1929. May records showed 217,226 cars handled this year and 244,051 the year before. Passenger traffic likewise has declined.

The Missouri Pacific and Cotton Belt have not adopted the five-day week. The Missouri Pacific has been reducing its payroll gradually since Jan. 1, but officers said the reduction had not been large. Economy has been effected by the Cotton Belt through consolidation of departments, few dismissals having been necessary, however, it was said.

Some railroad shops, most of them in smaller cities, have been closed and reductions have been made in section crews, some of whom have found employment in improvement projects, many of which are being continued according to schedule.

32D DIVISION'S MASCOT DIES; BORN IN DUGOUT IN 1917

Denny O'Keefe, a Mongrel, to Be Buried With Five Wound Stripes and a Five-Battle Badge.

By the Associated Press.

ELKHORN, Wis., Aug. 28.—Denny O'Keefe, the dog that barked defiance to the enemy from a dozen front-line trenches and marched over the Rhine to triumph, is dead. He succumbed without a whimper, as befitted his title, one of the oldest war dogs in the United States.

Denny was a mongrel. He was born one rainy October night in 1917 in a dugout just back of the lines. The boys of the Thirty-second division carried him with them wherever they went—Cantigny, Soissons, Montdidier, St. Mihiel, the Argonne and Germany.

He came back to the United States, smuggled aboard ship, in a raincoat. At Camp Grant he was mustered from the army as "Private Denny O'Keefe, honorably discharged." Beside him was his master, Sergt. Tom O'Keefe of Elkhorn.

With Denny will be buried his token of service, five wound stripes and a five-battle badge.

FOR U. S. SENATE FROM IOWA

Farmer-Labor Candidate to Make Unemployment an Issue.

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 28.—Arthur A. Wells, Council Bluffs railroad coach painter, has announced his candidacy for United States Senator from Iowa on a Farmer-Labor ticket.

Wells said he would make the unemployment question the principal issue, favoring the calling of an extra session of Congress to find jobs for men out of work.

CREW OF 24 SAVED WHEN SHIP GOES DOWN

Captain Lost, However, When Freighter and Scow Collide in New York Harbor.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Caught by shifting freight, a captain was carried down with his ship in New York Harbor last night after a collision with a scow. His crew of 24 was rescued.

The collision between the Clyde-Mallory freighter Neches and the third of a string of scows in tow of a tug occurred in the narrows off Staten Island. Coast guard boats and police launches saved all the officers and men but Capt. Eber Estee of the Neches. He was wedged in by a load of pipe on the after deck.

Chief Engineer E. Carey of Hillside, N. P., fought desperately to free him but was pitched into the water as the ship turned over on its side.

"You can't help me. Take care of yourself, Carey," were the captain's last words.

The Neches, a 4500-ton vessel, was bound for Key West and Mobile with a miscellaneous cargo, after having left its berth in the North River late in the afternoon.

Carey was taken to Marine Hospital, Staten Island, suffering from severe bruises. He was also bowled over by the pipe, but freed himself. Other officers taken from the Neches were First Mate S. Stalsan, First Assistant Engineer Carl Reuhlbach and Third Engineer D. L. Thompson.

The other members of the crew had taken to a lifeboat as the vessel was sinking.

TO FINE MEXICAN ARCHBISHOP

State Alleges He Conducted Service Outside Church.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 28.—Riva Palacio, Secretary of Interior, announced today a fine of $100 would be levied against Mgr. Pascual Diaz, Archbishop of Mexico, for violation of the Mexican religious laws.

The Archbishop was charged with conducting a ceremony in Belen prison for confirmation of a group of children of prisoners. Such a ceremony is forbidden under the regulation prohibiting any public religious act oustide the churches. The Secretary of Interior also announced that the warden of the prison would be discharged for allowing the ceremony.

ENTOMBED 9 HOURS IN CAVE-IN

Two Men Rescued in Scranton, Pa.; Several Homes Damaged.

By the Associated Press.

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 28.—Two men who fell 20 feet into the earth when a street over a mine caved in were rescued at midnight after nine hours' imprisonment. The men, Ralph Massankiel, 25 years old, and William Williams, 52, were repairing the street after a cave-in earlier in the day had caused several thousand dollars' damage to homes and injury to several residents.

Both men were unable to eat during the greater part of their entombment. Massankiel was given milk through a tube and Williams was able to be fed shortly after he had been found. Both were removed to a hospital.

Denies $211,000 Embezzlement.

By the Associated Press.

HAMMOND, Ind., Aug. 28.—Boleslaw Salik, secretary-treasurer of the Northern Trust and Savings Bank and of the Polish Building and Loan Association, pleaded not guilty yesterday to charges of embezzling $211,000. Bail was fixed at $50,000 for the grand jury, but scheduling was held up while Salik is working with the examiners trying to straighten out the bank's tangled affairs. Counsel told the Court that Salik had only been the dupe of another bank officer.

DEFENDS DRY RAID WITHOUT A WARRANT

Administrator Says Law Should Be Construed Liberally to Aid Enforcement.

Deputy Prohibition Administrator Dillon said today that he instructed his agents to raid an establishment on the second floor of 321 Olive street on Aug. 14, although there was no evidence justifying a warrant, because he felt that a locked inner door did not give the agents a fair chance to investigate the place. "I decided the law should be construed liberally that the prohibition act might be enforced," he explained.

The agents, in addition to confiscating three gallons of whisky, 22 gallons of beer and two gallons of wine, took $97 from an open cash register.

"They took the money and left a receipt for it," Dillon explained, "because no one was in the place and they feared they might be blamed if it were stolen later. The money will be returned when ownership is proved, and if no claim is presented within a reasonable time it will be turned over to the prohibition administrator for the United States Treasury."

Should the claimant appear he would be subject to arrest, although it is doubtful if he could be prosecuted successfully, as the raid was made without a warrant. A search warrant is issued only when agents make a purchase of liquor or swear that they have seen it sold.

Dillon said he decided to raid the place because he had received complaints intimating that it was operating under "protection" from Federal agents. The raiders gained entrance, he said, by "pushing open" the locked door. The agents reported that a man ran from the place as they entered.

TWO DROWN IN BOAT CRASH

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Muriel Kirk, 25 years old and Frederick Rand, 22, employes at the camp of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, widow of the former Ambassador to Great Britain, and principal owner of the New York Herald Tribune, were drowned yesterday in Upper St. Regis Lake when their rowboat was struck by a speedboat from the camp of Mrs. Henry Parsons King of Boston. The two were thrown into the water and Rand, in attempting to assist his companion, was seized by the young woman who was unable to swim. The launch with its four occupants stopped and returned to the spot to assist the struggling pair, but they had gone down.

Miss Kirk's body was found 20 minutes later and physicians and guests at the Reid camp failed to resuscitate her after working for more than three hours. Rand's body was found three hours after the accident. Rand was employed as a footman nad Miss Kirk was the personal maid of Mrs. Reid. They were natives of England and engaged to be married.

TELLS OF TRACING PLOT TO MURDER FLORIDA GOVERNOR

Al Capone's Lawyer Testifies He Never Heard Two of the Defendants Mention Plan.

By the Associated Press.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 28.—Vincent C. Giblin of Miami, an attorney for "Scarface" Al Capone, testified today at a preliminary hearing for three men charged with a conspiracy to assassinate Gov. Doyle E. Carlton that he had not heard Fred O. Eberhardt or Henry Halsema, two of the defendants, say anything about a murder plot. In fact, said Giblin, who was under cross-examination, he never saw Halsema at all until after the arrests.

Giblin, in relating how he played the role of an investigator to prevent the assassination, testified yesterday that Frank Ralls, the third defendant, told him three men were ready "to bump off the Governor."

After hearing reports of the plot Giblin said he conferred with J. F. Gordon, a Miami lawyer, who is associated with him in representing Capone. He said they decided that there wasn't anything to the reports.

Giblin said Clem Dowling, Ralls' former roommate, telephoned Gordon about the alleged plot and both Giblin and Gordon came to Jacksonville and met Dowling. Before coming here, Giblin said Gordon had discussed the reports with George McCall, clerk of the Criminal Court at Miami, who took up the matter with the Governor.

Dowling testified he first exposed the alleged plot to the Governor then to Gordon and Giblin. Giblin said that Capone telephoned him from Chicago asking him to look into the matter as he understood the plan was to lay the blame on Capone's men.

"Ralls Most Like to Talk."

When he and Gordon met Dowling at a hotel here, Giblin said, Dowling told him the identity of the alleged conspirators and also some of the reputed plans. "It was decided that I should get in touch with Ralls," said Giblin, 'in an effort to learn all I could about the case. I was told Ralls would be the most likely to talk."

Giblin said that soon afterward Ralls told him there were "three men in this state who were sore at the Governor and wanted to bump him off."

Conferred With Governor.

The next day, Giblin said, he went to Lake City to attend a conference with Gov. Carlton and others. At the conference, it was decided Adjutant General Collins should go to Washington in an effort to enlist the aid of Secret Service in the investigation.

Giblin said because of his known opposition to Carlton he was able to pose as an enemy of the Governor. The Governor last winter attempted to drive Capone from Florida where the gangster owns a home. Giblin said he bought liquor for a conference and told Ralls he had a plan to get control of gambling in Miami if the Governor would remove the present Sheriff. He said he would be willing to pay $100,000 for the gambling privilege, but supposed nothing could be done until after the 1932 election.

Giblin said Ralls told him he knew of three men who were "sore" at the Governor and ready "to bump him off." At a further meeting Giblin said Ralls told him it had been planned by those three men to pay a gunman $7500.

Downing testified Ralls told him the assassination of Carlton was planned for Aug. 13, while the Governor was on the way from Tallahassee to Gainesville.

MOVIE NOTABLES AT LON CHANEY'S FUNERAL

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 28.—Notables of the movie world will attend the funeral of Lon Chaney at an undertaker's chapel this afternoon. The famous character actor's body will be buried beside that of his father in Forest Lawn Cemetery, Glendale.

Hundreds filed past the casket yesterday to pay their final respects to Lon Chaney.

Honorary pallbearers included Louis B. Mayer, Nicholas Schenck, Irving G. Thalberg, Hunt Stromberg, Paul Bern, Tod Browning, Harry Carey, Lionel Barrymore, Ramon Novarro, William Haines, Lawrence Tibbett, Lew Cody, Cliff Edwards, Harry Rapf, Fred Niblo, Benny Rubin, Wallace Beery, George Hill and Edgar Selwyn.

The entire motion picture industry arranged to suspend work for two minutes at 3 o'clock, when the funeral cortege was due at the cemetery.

At the local M-G-M studios, where Chaney was shortly to have begun his second talking picture, the United States Marine Corps Reserve, of which the actor was an honorary member, has arranged to lower a flag, fire a salute and sound taps in his honor.

Numerous deaf mutes were among those who came to the chapel, Chaney having been an especial hero to them, not only because one or two of his screen characters were thus afflicted, but because both his parents were deaf and dumb.

Sergt. Frank McClouskey, a battered veteran of the World War, on whose breast gleamed row upon row of decorations, kept vigil beside the casket. McClouskey met Chaney seven years ago. Chaney sent him to a hospital for an operation which partially cured his paralysis.

Workhouse Inmate Recaptured.

Howard Hayes, 21 years old, a prisoner at the workhouse, escaped in an unknown manner yesterday, but was recaptured and returned last night. Guards picked him up as he visited his father at 7314 South Levee.

FIRM BANKRUPT, OWES $226,373, HAS $5659

Jefferson Mining Co. Files Petition Here— Many St. Louisans Among Creditors.

With listed liabilities of $226,373, and assets of $5659, the Jefferson Mining Co., with headquarters here, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in Federal Court yesterday, setting forth its inability to pay creditors in full and its willingness to surrender its assets for their benefit.

The chief liability is $200,000 in bonds held by 109 creditors, many of them St. Louisans, besides $27,773 in unsecured claims and $600 in wages. The bonds, it was stated, were secured by a deed of trust, dated May 1, 1918, whereby the company conveyed to the Miami Trust and Savings Bank of Miami, Ok., a "certain leasehold now terminated." The assets consist solely of cash.

VAN RYN AND ALLISON REACH FINAL ROUND IN U. S. DOUBLES

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 28.—Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, American Davis Cup doubles players and holders of the British team championship, today advanced into the final round of the national doubles tourney by defeating Berkely Bell and Gregory Mangin, another Texas-New Jersey combination 6—3, 6—4, 6—4, 6—3.

Bell and Mangin became unsteady after the opening set and both yielded their services at every vital point in the last three sets. The victors played a hard driving game, tactics that ruined the lobs that Bell and Mangin returned when they became hard pressed. The victors collected 139 points during the four sets, against 115 made by Bell and Mangin.

The defending champions, George Lott and Johnny Doeg, meet Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter, the 1927 titlists, in the upper half of the draw.

Lott and Doeg barely made the second last bracket yesterday when Keith Gledhill and Ellsworth Vines, the Californian youngsters, cracked in the final set.

Mixed doubles play has been featured by the steady advance of Betty Nuthall of England and Lott, the defending champions. Today they meet Helen Marlowe of Los Angeles and Vines.

Lott and Doeg were trailing two sets to one and four games to one in the fourth yesterday when they rallied and smashed the services of each of their rivals to square the match with an 8 to 6 victory. They then battered Vines' service in the fifth game of the last set and galloped on to victory. The scores were 1—6, 6—3, 4—6, 8—6, 6—4. The Californians stretched the match to that limit by concentrating all their furious smashes and deceiving lobs against Doeg, who wobbled at intervals in each set.

U. S. Star Wins Hurdle Relay From Briton, in Night Meet

IOWA STAR SETS RECORD FOR DISTANCE; 9 OF 200 FINISH

By the Associated Press.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 28.—Marvin Nelson, bronzed young hercules from Fort Dodge, Ia., has conquered the waters of Lake Ontario and won the world's professional marathon title.

After being turned back within sight of his goal last year by the chilly waters, Nelson came back yesterday to cover the 15 gruelling miles of the Canadian national exhibition marathon in the record time of 7 hours, 43 minutes, 36 1-5 seconds and win the coveted award of $10,000. Nelson had a chance last year to get within the money group but failed when he collapsed 50 yards from the finish.

Yesterday he climbed out of the somewhat warmer water apparently as fresh and strong as when the nearly 200 swimmers plunged into the lake. Only nine finished the race, the remainder of the swimmers being withdrawn from the water after darkness made the swimming hazardous.

Five hundred yards back of the winner trailed Isador Spondor of Port Colborne, Ont., who sought to battle the long, easy-stroking Nelson, but rapidly fell behind during the last lap. Spondor held the lead from the six-mile point, when Frank Pritchard of Buffalo was taken from the water, to the start of the last lap, but he could not stave off the grim challenge of Nelson.

One-half hour later, William F. Goll from New York City crawled out of the water for third place. Fourth went to George Blagden of Memphis, Tenn., one of the favorites, while Ernst Vierkoetter of Germany, who was second last year and won the "cold-water" swim of 1927, was fifth. Norman Ross, Chicago, finished sixth to get in the money. The other three to complete the course out of a field of 200 were Clarence A. Ross of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Paul Zegger of Farmington, Conn., and Alfred Sully of Toronto.

MRS. HILL WINS OVER MRS. MIDA IN WESTERN GOLF MEET

over Miss Florence Beebe, Chicago. Mrs. Tyson was dormie four at the end of 14 holes, then lost three in a row to the battling Chicago girl. On the home hole Mrs. Tyson was on in two while Miss Beebe's drive was to the left, her second short, but her third on near the pin. When Mrs. Tyson laid her third inches from the cup Miss Beebe conceded for a half in fours.

The Home-Run Blues.

HACK WILSON'S giving Ruth a chase
For honors in the home-run race,
Each having forty-four;
And at the time this stuff is writ,
To tie the mark they both must hit
Exactly sixteen more.

Their batting stride they both have struck,
And so the race is nip and tuck
Between those husky guys;
Here's hoping that the mark will fall,
More power to the rabbit ball,
And to their batting eyes.

But home run hits are now the rage,
They clutter up the sporting page,
And dominate the news;
While batters give the ball a ride
The pitchers try to stem the tide,
And sing the home-run blues.

Nick Cullop, who's a local chap,
And playing now for Minneap—
Olis has forty-eight;
Of Hauser's record in the sticks,
Which doubtless is ahead of Nicks',
We haven't heard of late.

And down in Texas there's a guy,
A youngster by the name of Rye,
Who crashed the gate to fame.
In speaking of the swat brigade,
Don't overlook the lad who made
Three homers in one frame.

How Come?

Out of 161 complete precincts in the California gubernatorial primaries, the vote was: Mayor Rolph, 6096; Gov. Young, 4162; Buron Fitts, 791; Clara Shortridge Foltz, 32; Milton Young, 230, and Upton Sinclair, none.

Indicating that Upton didn't vote.

Gehringer and McManus Have Chance to Win Berth on Ruth's All-America Team

By Damon Kerby.

Charley Gehringer, Detroit's star second baseman who, with Frankie Frisch, is being named most often for the keystone position by contestants in the Babe Ruth All-America team contest, takes issue with Joe Tinker's recent statement that ball players of today are softer than the old-timers.

Tinker, the great Cub shortstop of "from Tinker to Evers to Chance" fame, hit at the college player in the majors, especially, and in doing that he stepped on Gehringer's toes, for the Detroit second baseman came up to the majors from the University of Michigan. Gehringer liked baseball—and what he gets for playing it—so well that he quit school for the diamond.

"Human nature in the ball players is the same as it was in the old days, I guess," said Gehringer. "The big difference is that the umpires won't let em get away with anything nowadays. A chronic kicker likely to kick himself clear out of baseball.

"Sure, there are some players today who 'cry' over an unkind squib they read about themselves in the papers, but I'll bet the old boys did the same thing. As for the actual physical comparison between the old timers and today's players—the players now are doing everything they did in Tinker's day. Some are doing a lot more."

Gehringer Finished Fielder.

Gehringer, a young man of 27, is at the top of his game. He plays back almost to the grass and gets balls hit to his right and his left with equal ease. Also, when the occasion arises, he can go out and spear shallow flies in right field or come in, knock down a hard smash and throw his man out at the plate. He is one of, if not the most graceful second baseman in the majors. His hitting has been timely and hard this year, his present mark of .324 being surpassed by only one other player on Bucky Harris' team.

That player, by the way, is Marty McManus, former Brownie, who despite 10 years of active service is having the best year in his career. He is hitting .340 and at present is leading all other American League third basemen in fielding. Entrants in the Babe Ruth contest for the most part have overlooked him in favor of Pie Traynor and Freddy Lindstrom, but it would not be surprising to some if McManus was named on Ruth's team.

Only three more days remain after today in the contest, which closes Sunday at midnight, so write out your all-star major league team, with a short essay explaining WHY you named your players, and mail it to the Babe Ruth Contest Editor, care the Post-Dispatch.

The contestant who names or comes closest to Ruth's EXACT lineup and places the players in the batting order in which Ruth picks them, will receive the first prize of $100. Second prize will be $75; third, $50; fourth, $25, and there will be five awards of $10 each. A dozen autographed Babe Ruth baths and the same number of autographed baseballs also will be awarded. In the event that contestants tie for any of the awards, the winner will be chosen on the merit of the essays, which MUST be sent in with each lineup.

As told in the rules, which should be studied carefully before making out your selections, a contestant may enter only one team.

Basil F. Ruez, 5913 Kennerly avenue, St. Louis, favored Frisch for second and Lindstrom for third, in his lineup, which follows:

Jackson, Giants, shortstop.
Frisch, Cardinals, second base.
Simmons, Athletics, left field.
Gehrig, Yankees, first base.
Wilson, Cubs, center field.
Klein, Phillies, right field.
Cochrane, Athletics, catcher.
Lindstrom, Giants, third base.
Grove, Athletics, pitch.
Ferrell, Indians, pitch.

Frisch and Lindstrom also have been named by M. Jackson, 3823A Shenandoah avenue, St. Louis. His team:

Terry, Giants, first base.
Frisch, Cardinals, second base.
Klein, Phillies, right field.
Wilson, Cubs, center field.
Simmons, Athletics, left field.
Cochrane, Athletics, catcher.
Lindstrom, Giants, third base.
Jackson, Giants, shortstop.
Grove, Athletics, pitch.
Ferrell, Indians, pitch.

Rules Governing Babe Ruth's All-America Team Contest

THE contest is open to everyone, except employes of the Post-Dispatch and their families.

Entries will close Aug. 31 at midnight and letters bearing postmark up to that time will be considered eligible.

The contestant naming the same players in the same positions and batting order as Babe Ruth wins the first prize; but in event no contestant duplicates Ruth's picks, the one nearest will be considered the winner.

In addition to naming the players to conform to those chosen by Ruth, contestants must arrange them in the same batting order as Babe Ruth. The Babe has agreed to place his choices in the order in which he thinks they should go to the plate.

An explanatory letter of not more than 250 words must accompany the selections and will be passed upon by the judges. This is as important as selecting the players. Babe himself will write an explanation of his choices. In event of a tie, excellence of the compositions would determine the winner. (Write on one side of the paper only and make your selections on a separate sheet.)

Ten players will make up the team, two pitchers and eight other players, one for each position. Only one team may be submitted by each contestant.

No correction will be accepted once an entry has been received and filed.

Babe Ruth is not eligible. He will not pick himself.

Players must be selected on the basis of their play in the 1930 season only. Performances of previous years do not count.

A player may be placed in a position other than the one he regularly occupies, provided he has played such position in one or more championship games. Otherwise regular positions must be rigidly adhered to. For instance, a regular left fielder may not be placed in right field, unless he has played there at least once in 1930.

The trophies will be $100 cash for first, $75 for second and $50 for third, $25 for the fourth and five others of $10 each. A dozen autographed Babe Ruth bats and another dozen autographed baseballs mounted on blotters will be the other mementoes for successful contestants.

Mail selections to the BABE RUTH CONTEST EDITOR, care the Post-Dispatch.

In addition to Weller, the Indians will have Teddy Wilson, Walter Johnson, Wilson (Buster) Charles, Kansas relay and decathlon champion; Harry Wilson, Pete Shepherd and Nelson Hendricks as backfield veterans. Grant, Brightman, Fritz, D. Ward and several other linemen were lost by graduation but Powless, Alexander, Prim, the Costo brothers and Barlow are returning to plug up holes in the forward wall.

Ames Eleven Opens Season Against Illinois

By the Associated Press.

AMES, Ia., Aug. 28.—A heavy schedule of five Big Six Conference opponents, a Big Ten and a Missouri Valley foe and two intersectional games away from home makes up the task of Iowa State's 1930 football team.

Coach Noel Workman will rely on 14 returning lettermen as a nucleus.

The schedule is one of the most ambitious an Ames eleven ever has attempted. Opening against the University of Illinois at Urbana Oct. 4, the only rest period is the open date the following week-end. Resuming its battles Oct. 18 the team will play eight consecutive Saturdays. A trip into the South will climax the season with games at New Orleans with Loyola and at Houston with Rice.

Hopes for a successful team will center on the half dozen backfield veterans returning. Hillford Bowes, a light but speedy back, demonstrated a consistent ground-gaining ability last fall. Paul Trauger, key man in the aerial attack; Richard Wilcox, a dependable ground gainer, and Rudy Tegland, husky fullback, are all playing their third year. Truman Nelson and Kenneth Wells are capable reserve backs.

In the line the strength lies in the tackles, four veterans, some of whom may be made into guards or ends. Capt. Maynard Spear, Forrest Bennett, Lloyd Lounsbury and Robert Smith form the quartet.

The only guard who will return is Warren Duesenberg. Gordon Nagel won a letter at center and featured some of the 1929 games with his excellent defensive play. Nagel's brother, Lloyd, and Gilbert Hitch are veteran ends.

The schedule: Oct. 4, Illinois at Urbana; Oct. 18, Nebraska at Ames; Oct. 25, Kansas at Lawrence; Nov. 1, Oklahoma at Ames; Nov. 8, Missouri at Columbia; Nov. 15, Kansas Aggies at Ames; Nov. 22, Drake at Des Moines; Nov. 29, Loyola at New Orleans; Dec. 6, Rice Institute at Houston.

Italian Boxer Is Victor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Enzo Firmonte, Italian middleweight champion, defeated Eric Holmberg, Swedish boxer, in a feature bout of six rounds at Starlight Park last night. Firmonte completely outboxed and outgeneraled Holmberg, winning every round except the first. Firmonte weighed 160 pounds, Holmberg 160½. In the semifinal Ray Meyers, 125¼, beat Frank Marchese, 128¼.

UNITED STATES VI… EVENTS TO FIVE; 43,000 ATTEND

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Uncle S… and field athletics—with emphasis … of 43,000 spectators, the largest ev… American continent, the United Sta… the pick of Great Britain's track an… dium last night. The event, conduc… more impressive than meets held i… throng with one thrill after anothe… events to five.

The American team won over the gallant Empire team in the same fashion they won the 1928 Olympic games at Amsterdam—by immense superiority in the field events. Not a point did the British score in the field, and had their field strength been comparable to their power in the distance races, the United States probably would have suffered its first defeat in the duel meet.

Eight meet records were wrecked, five of them by the Americans. Starting with the 400-yard relay, the opening event, the Americans went on to win the pole vault, shot put, high jump, 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay, hammer throw, broad jump, javelin throw and mile medley relay. The British triumphed in the one-mile relay, the four-mile relay, two-mile relay, two-mile steeplechase, and three-mile team race.

Thomas Outruns Conger Easily.

While the wearers of the American shields were supreme in the field, the British gave them a man-sized lesson in the distance runs. The four-mile relay was a race until R. H. Thomas of England, hooked up with Ray Conger of the Illinois A. C., in the final mile. Thomas, who did 4:14 in winning the mile in the Empire games at Hamilton, Ont., last week, stayed near Conger until the last half mile, but from there on he stepped out and at the finish had a lead of 70 yards over the American ace. His mile was run in just a fraction over 4:15, and was as impressive as any performance in the meet.

The British were no less superior in the two-mile relay. The first half of the race was a contest, but Phil Edwards, former New York University Negro star, competing for British Guiana, ran R. A. Betham Jr., of the Pennsylvania Railroad A. C., into the ground, and left England's T. Hampson with nothing to do but hold a 20-yard lead over Orval Martin of Purdue, Western Conference and national collegiate middle distance champion.

Records started falling in the first event. Russell Sweet, former Montana sprint star, Cy Leland of Texas Christian University, George Simpson, Ohio State comet, and Eddie Tolan of the University of Michigan, did :37.5 in the 400-yard relay to defeat Leigh Miller of Canada, W. B. Legg of South Africa, E. L. Page of England and Johnny Fitzpatrick of Canada and better the former mark of :37.8.

Anderson Smashes Record.

Great Britain came back with a superb performance in the mile relay, racing it in 3:16.8. K. C. Bragwin, first British runner, dropped the baton near the end of his lap, but no protest was made and the victory was allowed to stand for the empire. He was followed by A. Golding of Australia, W. J. Walter of South Africa and Alex Wilson of Canada and Notre Dame.

Steve Anderson of the Washington A. C., Seattle, formerly of the University of Washington, put the big punch in the record-breaking of the U. S. in the shuttle relay. He started just ahead of Lord David Burghley of England, but had a two and one-half yard lead at the finish. The time was :59.5, against the former record of 1:01.6.

Lord Burghley, however, was not deprived of participation in a victory, for he raced the last lap of the two-mile steeplechase relay in such style as to nullify the efforts of previous American runners and cause the British flag to be raised.

Stars Out of Special Sprint.

Both Eddie Tolan, world record holder in the 100-yard dash, and George Simpson of Ohio State were held out of the special 100-yard dash to save them for the one-mile medley relay. The event became an all-American affair. Ralph Metcalfe, Negro ace from Tilden Technical High of Chicago, and National Junior A. A. U. champion in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, finished first in 109.8, with Hector Dyer, Stanford University, second, and Charlie Farmer of North Carolina, third.

James de Mers of Los Angeles, National A. A. U. javelin champion, wrenched his arm in his first throw, and was unable to try again, but the rest of the American team, Lee Bartlett of Albion College and L. D. Weldon of Iowa, were good enough to offset his loss and score a victory.

Herman Brix of the Los Angeles A. C. led the U. S. victory in the shotput with an effort of 50 feet 5 inches, while Walter Party of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, led the high jumpers with 6 feet 5¼ inches. Tom Warne of Northwestern University was easily the class of the pole-vaulting field with a leap of 13 feet 5¼ inches, and A. H. Bates of Penn State topped the broad jumpers at 23 feet 3¾ inches.

EIGHT RECORDS SET AS AMERICAN ATHLETES DEFEAT BRITISH TEAM

UNITED STATES VICTOR IN NINE EVENTS TO FIVE FOR VISITORS; 43,000 ATTEND NIGHT CARNIVAL

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Uncle Sam still reigns supreme in track and field athletics—with emphasis on the "field." Before a crowd of 43,000 spectators, the largest ever to watch a track meet on the American continent, the United States, for the third time, defeated the pick of Great Britain's track and field stars, in Soldier Field Stadium last night. The event, conducted under artificial lighting, was more impressive than meets held in the day time, and provided the throng with one thrill after another, as Uncle Sam triumphed, nine events to five.

The American team won over the gallant Empire team in the same fashion they won the 1928 Olympic games at Amsterdam—by immense superiority in the field events. Not a point did the British score in the field, and had their field strength been comparable to their power in the distance races, the United States probably would have suffered its first defeat in the duel meet.

Hitchcock's Four Easy Victor in Polo Match, 16-9

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—If yesterday's test match is an criterion, the American polo team that will line up against the British in September's international matches will consist of Eric Pedley, Earle Hopping, Winston Guest and Capt. Tommy Hitchcock.

In the most sweeping victory of the long series of test matches, Capt. Hitchcock's "varsity" rode rough-shod over Tye Jayvee "Reds," winning 16 to 9, and seven of the "Reds'" goals were conceded by handicap. Against the great defensive play of Hitchcock and Guest, the Jayvee forces were able to score from the field only twice.

Switching his offensive tactics, the American captain combined with Guest in frequent rushes down the field, often ending with a score. The offensive playing of Hitchcock and Guest indicated that the American backfield is as much a scoring threat as the forwards. Hitchcock led the scoring, tallying six goals, in addition to setting up the ball for three other goals.

Pedley, who has been averaging a goal a period for the last eight games at No. 1, tallied only four times, and it was mainly because of the brilliant work of Elmer Boeseke Jr., playing back on the "Reds," that the flashy Californian was held in check. Hopping, back with the varsity after being supplanted by Cecil Smith and Rube Williams, for a week, scored four goals.

Lady Fingers was off quickly, and getting to the front soon after the start, drew into a long lead approaching the stretch turn, and easily best, won by a wide margin. Miss Rosedale came quickly on the inside, and, despite interference in the stretch, caught Fiala in the last stride. Fiala was always prominent and held on well. Aleader was on the outside all the last quarter and finished well. Nifty raced into a prominent position and was in close quarters and tired.

Rusty was off quickly and setting a fast pace, showed gameness in the stretch to lead to the finish. Oswego came fast after going a half and responded gamely to hard riding in the last furlong, was gaining rapidly at the end. Pittsburger was sharply shut off and forced to pull up after turning out of the back stretch, but gamely came again to outfinish Porternesia. Latter tired as if short.

SPEEDBOATS IN FINAL TRYOUTS FOR CUP RACES

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 28.—Gar Wood, defender of the Harmsworth trophy, believes that ability to make the turns while traveling 90 miles an hour, may be the deciding factor in this year's race, the first heat of which lill be run Saturday afternoon on the Detroit River.

Distance of the race is 30 miles over a five-mile course between Belle Isle and the Michigan mainland. Four of the five boats entered are capable of doing 90 miles an hour, and Wood believes that matters should be about even on the stretches. It usually is necessary to slow down to 80 miles an hour for the turns at either end of the two and one-half mile straightaway.

Miss Marion Barbara Carstairs, English challenger for Wood's title as speedboat champion of the world, convinced the most skeptical yesterday that Wood will have no walkaway as has been the case on every occasion since he won the Harmsworth trophy in 1920. Miss Carstairs took the wheel of the Estelle IV, which failed to finish last year and gave a smooth performance on a run over the championship course. No official time was taken, but the boat behaved well at high sped. This with the impressive demonstration of the Estelle V in tis trial run Tuesday when Bert Hawker was at the wheel gave the English team considerable prestige.

The Miss Americas VIII, IX and V probably will be given their final trial runs today, but the Estelle IV and Estelle V are not expected to apear on the river again until called for the opening heat.

HANOVER'S BERTHA GAINS VICTORY IN $50,000 TROTTING FEATURE

CAPTURES LAST 2 HEATS AFTER BEING SHUT OUT IN FIRST MILE

By the Associated Press.

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Staging a great comeback in the second and third heats after losing the first mile, Hanover Bertha, owned by Lawrence B. Shepard of the Hanover Shoe Farm, Hanover, Pa., and driven by Thomas Berry, yesterday won the rich Hambletonian Stake, classic of the trotting world, decided over the Good Time Park track.

Facing Starter Nuhn, the well-backed favorite, the little brown filly by Peter Volo-Miss Bertha Dillon was shut out in the first heat and then came back to win the last two miles. Stepping the distance each time in 2:03. Second went to Mrs. Charles F. Adams' Larkspur, of Farmington, Mass., which took the first heat but finished sixth and eighth in the last two respectively. Guy Day, owned by William Loftus, Los Angeles, Cal., and driven by Walter Cox, was second in the first heat, second in the second mile and fourth in the third, to take third money.

Victory in the classic carried a purse of $35,706.90 for the winner, $10,291.96 for second and $5100.98 for third.

Starter Nuhn had little difficulty in getting the 10 3-year-old colts and fillies off in the first heat, and Townsend Ackerman, driving Larkspur, sent Mrs. Adams' colt out in front after rounding the first time. Breaks down the back stretch spread the field, with Hanover's Bertha and Main McElwyn, second choice in the wagering, dropping behind when they broke into a gallop. At the head of the stretch Ackerman had a good length lead and won the heat in 2:03¾. Finishing a half-length in front of Pola McElwyn, which was cleverly driven by Harry Stokes.

40-Minute Delay at Post.

The start of the second heat was a different story, however, as first one horse then another would score in front of Larkspur, which held the post due to his first heat victory. Repeated warnings by Starter Nuhn failed to stop the tiresome scoring. Even a threat to remove the driver from the sulky if he came down in front of the pole horses, failed to get results. Finally after a 40-minute delay they got away in perfect alignment.

Berry let Larkspur set the pace, holding Hanover's Bertha back in fourth position. At the half-way mark, he sent the Peter Volo filly up and by the time the field reached the head of the stretch, Hanover's Bertha was matching strides with Larkspur. He then had to battle with Walter Cox and Guy Day, but 500 yards from the wire the Hanover Shoe Farm Miss pulled away to win by a full length.

The third heat turned into a family affair between the winner and her stablemate, Brother Hanover, driven by Fred Egan. Berry took his horse out in front while Egan let Brother Hanover trail for the first part of the journey. Entering the home drive, they took stride for stride but the filly won out by half a length. Brother Hanover was second, with Legality coming up fast to beat out Guy Day for the show position.

Wray's Column

Atta Boy, California.

CALIFORNIA again claims attention by its activity in trying to keep the boxing game straight. This time it is Ace Hudkins, a fighter of near-title caliber, and his opponent, McVey, who find themselves deprived of their purses after having fought nearly 10 rounds in a bout that the referee declared "no contest."

The conversation of the men in the ring convinced the official the fight was a frameup, and he threw them out. Now it's up to the commission to impose a year's suspension on each fighter if the case is proved against them.

Only by drastic action in such cases can fighters be brought back to their former respect for laws, officials and decency. At this writing there is a discouraging sag in the observance of sporting principles and honesty of effort.

Not that it is universal. But bad managers, in some instances, and cheating fighters in others have been uncovered in a succession of incidents sufficient to seriously discredit the game.

No sport and few businesses are lily-white throughout, but in boxing the trend is at this moment downward. Rough-shod treatment of foul fighters and conniving managers by all commissions, and observance of the rulings of other states against offending fighters would soon clear the atmosphere.

National Body Needed.

A NATIONAL governing body with authority throughout the United States, is sorely needed. With all those states in which boxing is legal observing the suspensions and rulings of the national body, offending fighters would have no place to go but out.

Next month the National Boxing Association will meet at Omaha. Formerly this body was inocuous, but in the last three or four years it has advanced surprisingly and now includes about 30 states.

Because New York, Pennsylvania and other state commissions refuse to affiliate with the N. B. A. the fighters cannot be absolutely pinned down by the national body's rulings. But the organization has done good work and will do better.

In time New York will have to come in. Delegates from 30 states if they bind themselves absolutely to respect a national ruling can practically assure air-tight control of the game.

The sport can be made whiter than snow by:

Having a central authority governing the sport throughout the country.

Keeping politicians out of state commissions.

Suspending and heavily fining all foul fighters.

Suspending and fining all stalling or frameup fighters.

Revoking the licenses of promoters who violate or fail to enforce the regulations of the commissions in any way.

Theatrical Note.

SEE where Phil Glassman and Joe Glaser will present their clever little sketch, "Pals," in an Iowa city soon. Eddie Anderson is the villain and Benny Bass is leading juvenile. A knockdown in every round. They also say this bout is a knockout—but not of either principal.

SHIKAT RESORTS TO ROUGH STUFF IN MAT DISPLAY AGAINST DUSEK

By Damon Kerby.

Dick Shikat, who, prior to last night had shown St. Louis wrestling fans the cleanest wrestling put on display here in the past few years, has turned showman. It was a different Shikat who met Rudy Dusek last night at the Battery A Arena from the Shikat who has appeared here in previous matches.

Didn't wait for Dusek to get back inside the ropes, on one occasion, making a pass at Dusek while the latter was on his hands and knees outside the ropes.

Stalled, as though his arm were badly hurt.

Argued with the referee, telling the official his opponent was down, when one of Dusek's shoulders was a full three inches from the floor.

Ordered the referee to ask Dusek if he would "give up," when there was no good reason apparent why Dusek should forfeit.

"Showmanship" Pleases Fans.

Regular wrestling patrons will recognize Shikat's tactics as regular Dusek and Daviscourt stuff, and that is just what it was. Each one of those tricks, by itself, is enough to work the wrestling crowd up to a high pitch of excitement, adding "color" to the match. It makes a wrestler a good drawing card. A wrestler today is popular with the fans only when he is unpopular, if you get the meaning.

After an hour and 26 minutes of excitement, which was swallowed hook, line and sinker by a capacity chowed, Shikat "rallied," put on a crotch hold, picked up Dusek and slammed him to the mat a couple of times, and the "main event" was over.

"Goofy" Khan a Winner.

Appearing as advertised wearing a heavy black mustache, Ghafoor Khan, who says he is from Kubal, Afghanistan, threw John Spellman of Providence, R. I., with a half nelson and body block in 19 minutes and 15 seconds, after Spellman had obligingly stuck his arm in the hold that started Ghafoor, called "Goofy" for short—to victory.

Khan was the barefoot boy and at the expense of playing into the publicity boys' hands it may be said that he was quite a sight, with the mustache, elaborate "charm" around his neck and the striped red, blue and black dressing robe which he wore into the ring. Perhaps the mustache was worn to try to disguise the fact that he is a third-rate wrestler. Take it off, Ghafoor.

Some beautiful muscular action was displayed in the arms and shoulders of Hans Steinke, the huge German, in his match with Jim Clinstock that went to a 45-minute draw. Steinke is a real man, no doubt about that. In a match in which both men had their own money up, a good bet at any odds would be to place the old savings account on Steinke.

Lloyd Burdick, the Illinois collegian who recently turned wrestler, won from John "Firpo" Wilcox of Oklahoma in the opener, which ended in 15 minutes and 40 seconds when Burdick put on a successful body scissors.

Sharkey Signs to Box Stribling in Miami in February

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.

A CONTRACT between Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, and Victorio Campolo, South American, providing for a 15-round bout at the Yankee Stadium Sept. 25, has been signed.

Another contract signed requires Sharkey, if he conquers Campolo, to meet Young Stribling in Miami in February if the Madison Square Garden Corporation can induce Stribling to accept the match. The agreement also obligates Sharkey, if he defeats Stribling, to meet Max Schmeling, world's champion, next June.

OKLAHOMA TO OPEN FOOTBALL SEASON OCT. 4

By the Associated Press.

NORMAN, Ok., Aug. 28.—Oklahoma's hope of wresting the Big Six football championship from Nebraska this fall lies to a certain extent in the promising group of sophomores.

With the opening of practice still about two weeks off, Coach Adrian Lindsay faces the task of working the sophomores into trim for the opening game here Oct. 4 with New Mexico. Only 10 seasoned grid stars will don the molesskins this season as compared with 19 at the beginning of the 1929 campaign.

Lindsay and Dewey Luster, line coach, are not as optimistic as they were last year when the Sooners gained no more than an even break in the conference games, but students and alumni are hopeful that such former high school stars as Fred Cherry of Okmulgee, end; Ab Walker, Blackwell, back; C. C. Buxton, Oklahoma City, back; Paul Young Norman, center, and Frank Lee, Charleston, Mo., tackle, will fill the gaps caused by graduation.

The line was the hardest hit. Only six linesmen who earned letters last fall will be back. They are: Capt. Robert Fields, center; Curtis Berry, tackle; Earrell Ewing, guard; Hilary Lee, tackle; Harold Roberts, end, and Raymond Stanley, guard. Others who received letters last season and will return this fall are Ernest Massad and Guy Warren, half backs; Colonel (Bus) Mills, quarterback, and Clyde Kirk, fullback.

Luster said Ewing will be tried at end instead of guard, and that Lee, a 225 pounder, will be shifted from tackle to guard. Luster believes Paul Young of Norman, Charles Teel of Tulsa, Ray Chrisham of Marlow, Frank Lee of Charleston, Mo., and Charles Wilson of Oklahoma City are fine prospects for the line.

Other freshmen numeral winners of last year now eligible for varsity play are Jack Cheairs of Tulsa, William Newblock of Norman, Harold Shoemake of Haskell and Jude Wallor of Sand Springs, ends; Oren Hatman of Tulsa, Clayton Roberts of Deer Creek, Anthony Soldeni of Ponca City and Jemon Woods of Coalgate, tackles; Everett Brockman of Tulsa, Harry Aggers of Tulsa, Ben Dancyk of Loup City, Neb., and Jack Kriton of Amber, guards; Grady Jackson of Altus, center; Walter Morrison of Norman, quarterback; John D. Robinson of Hominy, Dick Sims of Norman, Orin Borah of Champaign, Ill.; Edsol Curnett of Gould, Whitney Thrower of Kennett, Mo., and Emmerson Price of Bartlesville, halfbacks; Summers Arnold of Henderson, Tex., and Horner Dockery of Wilson, fullbacks.

The Sooner schedule:
Oct. 4—New Mexico at Norman.
Oct. 11—Nebraska at Norman (Dad's day).
Oct. 18—Texas at Dallas.
Oct. 25—Kansas Aggies at Norman (Home coming).
Nov. 1—Iowa State at Ames.
Nov. 8—Freshmen at Norman.
Nov. 15—Kansas at Lawrence.
Nov. 22—Oklahoma Aggies at Stillwater.
Nov. 27—Missouri at Norman (Thanksgiving).

INCREASED horse power ratio? An engineer could tell you in terms you might never understand—but Sinclair H-C Gasoline will show you in terms you never could mistake! SPECIAL TRAIN BEARING HORSES FOR FAIRMOUNT MEET ARRIVES

Bearing 32 horses, a Waite starting gate and large number of owners, trainers and jockeys, the special horse train with Pullmans attached, from the Bainbridge (O.) track pulled into the siding near Fairmount this morning. The horses were unloaded and walked over to the stables at the Fairmount course. Racing Secretary Thomas Reeder, who accompanied the shipment from Bainbridge, O., where he is also the racing secretary, opened up his office at once and began listing the horses on the grounds and issuing badges to the horsemen.

"We brought a lot of good horses with the special train and with those already here and some more likely to arrive there will be plenty of horses of various classes to fill all the sixteen races, carded on the nine days," said Reeder.

The jockeys that came from Bainbridge included Joe Cavens, H. Morgan, H. West, E. Horvath, C. Holmes and R. O'Brien. From Chicago a half dozen are expected which with all of the arrivals noted will bring the list of jockeys to approximately 18. This assures plenty of riders here to handle the mounts in the different races.

Labor Organizations Interested.

Union labor bodies on both sides of the river are taking great interest in the meeting. Their headquarters are selling tickets at the reduced rate of $1; tickets will be $2 if bought at the track. Other agents in both St. Louis and East St. Louis are offering the tickets for sale as well.

Joseph Cattaranich, director of the mutuel department, was another arrival this morning, as was John T. Ireland, one of the racing stewards. "We are having a fair meeting at Bainbridge," said Cattaranich, and the attendance has been quite good right from the start. We race at Bainbridge until Sept. 7."

As announced, the address to be made by Maurice J. Cassidy will be at 12:30 p. m. Monday forenoon from the Fairmount grand stand. The games and athletic events begin at 10 a. m.

KANSAS U. TO PLAY PENN ELEVEN, NOV. 1

By the Associated Press.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Aug. 28.—Coach H. W. (Bill) Hargiss, ready for his third year as coach of the University of Kansas football team, has called 50 of the most promising candidates to report here Sept. 5, two days before practice starts.

The Jayhawker mentor has nine letter men for the line and six for the backfield and Mount Oread gridiron prospects are regarded as unusually bright. The freshmen from Coach Steve Hinshaw's group of first-year men last season are expected to add strength to the varsity squad.

Several letter men will not return this fall, among them Charles Smoot, center, who will attend Northwestern. Foster Payne, fullback, and Carlos Petty, end, are ineligible. Lee Davis and Milburn Geist, guards, will not be in school.

Veteran linemen available are Frank (Pete) Bausch, husky center; M. Sorem, Rost and Atkeson, the latter an all Big Six choice, guards; Foy and N. Sorem, tackles; Floyd Ramsey, Cecil Smay and Virgil Paden, ends. Backs who won letters and who will return are James Bausch, Forrest Cox, Paul Fisher, John Madison, "Bunny" Black and Lee Page.

The best looking freshmen prospects of 1929 are McCall, guard; Brazil, tackle; Stuck, Shroyer and Hale, ends; Chandler and Cram, centers; Beach, Schaake, Smith, Gridley, Hall and Beard, backs.

Assisting Hargiss will be Mike Getto, line coach; Paul Murphy, former Pennsylvania player, who will work with the backs, and Hinshaw, freshman mentor.

Kansas will play Pennsylvania in Philadelphia this year as its big game outside the Big Six Conference.

The schedule:

Oct. 4, Creighton at Omaha, night; Oct. 10, Haskell at Lawrence, night; Oct. 18, Kansas Aggies at Manhattan; Oct. 25, Iowa State at Lawrence; Nov. 1, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia; Nov. 8, Nebraska at Lawrence (homecoming); Nov. 15, Oklahoma at Lawrence; Nov. 22, Missouri at Columbia.

You won't ride very far on JUST PRICE!

It's a bargain in PRICE AND VALUE that you're looking for . . . and that's exactly what you get in GOODRICH CAVALIERS!

ANYONE can make a cheap tire. Goodrich, with all its facilities, could make them at lower costs than most manufacturers, if desirable.

But price doesn't make a tire. Cheapness won't repair a blow-out, mend a road delay, or keep a tire away from the scrap heap.

The value has to be there... the stamina, sturdiness, ability to take punishment.

That's why Goodrich Cavaliers are the biggest bargains offered in tires today. They're low in price. Mighty low. As low as you can go with any assurance of real performance—and peace of mind.

In fact, price is no longer a problem. You cannot see the quality but you can see the name Goodrich.

And that's your assurance of value, the proof of money well spent!

Cavaliers are made by Goodrich. They must perform. Must come up to Goodrich reputation. Must give value... lots of it... a hundred cents, or more, for every dollar.

And they do. Because they're big. Husky. Tough clear through. Made oversize and cured by that exclusive Goodrich process . . . water curing. Built to give wear—to stand up!

See Cavaliers for yourself. Your Goodrich dealer will be glad to show you how they are made. He will prove their outstanding value.

Then ask the price. That's the clinching argument for Cavalier... not the one and only talking point.

Buy price and value!

Johnny Miles to Battle Coughlin

The light-heavyweight match on the Mississippi Valley Amateur Association boxing program, which will take place tomorrow night at the Olympian A. C. outdoor arena, will bring together Johnny Miles, hard-clouting district champion, and Tom Coughlin, sturdy Senate A. C. fighter. They are bitter rivals, and it wouldn't be surprising if the battle ends in a knockout.

Coughlin, though a newcomer in local ranks, has all the earmarks of a worthy fighter. His coach, Lawrence Richardson, says that Coughlin is one of the best-looking prospects he has seen in years. He has a wicked punch and is exceptionally clever for a novice. Miles has suffered but few defeats since he has been campaigning in the fight game. Both are North St. Louis boys and were close friends, but they now belong to different athletic clubs.

Vince Dundee Wins Bout

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 28.—Vince Dundee won a 10-round decision here last night from Abie Bain. Two former bouts between them were draws. Dundee weighed 156; Bain 166.

Steve Marre, in First Pro Fight

Marre defeated Johnny Miles, city amateur middleweight champion, to win the local middleweight laurels. These lads have engaged in seven fistic battles, with Marre holding the edge. The Olympian A. C. fighter has won over practically every amateur middleweight in St. Louis. Carter, who has been training here for the past month, is reputed to have a powerful wallop in his blows.

The Marre-Carter bout will be one of five five-round preliminaries. In another preliminary bout, Paul Lang and Peewee Terry, local bantamweights, will clash. Johnny Ciatto, a heavyweight, and Edgar Terry, shifty featherweight, also are down to show their wares against unchosen foes.

John Schwake, county heavyweight, is training earnestly for his 10-round battle with Joe Lohman, veteran Toledo mauler. Schwake hopes to win on a knockout and promises to be in the best physical condition since he has been competing in the professional ranks. Lohman, who won two bouts on knockouts and lost to Dave Knost on points in his summer matches here, has met numerous leading light heavyweights and heavyweights, including six former world champions. He is matched to fight Otto Von Porat later in September.

PITCHING DUELS ARE LOOKED FOR IN SEMIFINALS OF MUNY RACE

The Semifinals

Tower Camp (Commercial League) vs Sentinels (De Molay League).

Spartons (Empire League) vs. Salisburys (South Side League).

Place—Grounds 1, Fairground.

Time—First game, 1:15 p. m.; second game, 3:30 p. m.

Although there may be a great diversity of opinion regarding the probable winners of the semifinals of the Municipal Baseball Association's championship series next Sunday, it is pretty generally expected that both games will be low-score affairs, quite in contrast to the 20-to-0 travesties on baseball that have distinguished the earlier rounds of the series. Pitchers, rather than batters, are the dominating influences from this point on.

It will be a case of Govenat against Jordan in one game and Currier against Ropiequet in the other. In some cases the starting hurler may not be able to last the full nine innings but it is not likely that either team will run up a big score.

Sausselle Rejoins Salisburys.

The Salisburys are rejoicing over the return to the city of Ted Sausselle, the red-headed outfielder, Washington University's allround athlete, who has been out in Colorado for several weeks. Sausselle was one of the outstanding stars of the club and one of the best hitters in the South Side League. He will be a regular in his outfield position Sunday against the Spartons.

In view of the fact that they won with such ease from the experienced and really formidable Freight Accounts last Sunday, the Tower Camp team is regarded in some quarters as the soundest team of the four semi-finalists. There is this much to be said for them. They are thoroughly self-confident and this feeling of assurance has a firm basis. They have beaten at least one club which was rated superior. They have a good pitcher in George Govenat and they have a snappy infield and a steady catcher. They'll be hard to remove.

Jordan Best of the Lot.

Louis Jordan is a big part of the Sentinel team but scarcely the whole show. Last Sunday the DeMolay boys won without Jordan's good right arm. With him in the box they look like real flag contenders. He is perhaps the best pitcher in the Muny Association.

The Salisburys and Spartons should put out one of the best games of the year. But Currier and Ropiquet are curve ball pitchers and if each has his control the game may easily develop into a pitching battle.

As is the custom, an admission charge of 25 cents will be made for the double-header which will be played on No. 1 Grounds at Fairground Park.

IT'S THE GUM

in GASOLENE that STEALS your POWER

Use KOOLMOTOR

Harmful gum has been removed by the special mini-gum process*

ONE REASON why Koolmotor Gasolene delivers full power from the moment you start your car is because it has been freed from harmful gum.

Excessive gum in gasolene causes a sticky deposit to form on the valve heads. When you step on the gas to get more power your valves have to struggle to get free...like a fly stuck on a piece of flypaper. This causes loss of compression and "missing" cylinders.

The gum content in Koolmotor Gasolene has been reduced to a harmless minimum through the special Cities Service mini-gum process. This makes Koolmotor Gasolene clean and free-burning and protects your engine against sticky, gummy valves.

You'll actually feel new freedom of operation and new power when you fill your tank with this cleansed fuel.

Why not do it today...there is a Cities Service station or dealer nearby.

HARMFUL EFFECTS of Excessive Gum in Gasolene

1. Clogging of intake manifold.
2. Delayed seating and complete sticking of intake valves.
3. Loss of compression.
4. Loss of power.
5. "Missing" cylinders and engine failure.
6. Unnecessary repair bills.
7. Excessive gasolene consumption.

The Mini-gum process—the name applied to the extreme care and precision taken by Cities Service experts to remove harmful gum from Koolmotor Gasolene. When this powerful, clean burning motor fuel reaches your car its gum content has been reduced to a harmless minimum. You are protected against the menace and expense of sticky valves.*

[Y]ACHT ENTERPRISE [C]HOSEN TO DEFEND CUP FOR AMERICA

[Va]nderbilt Craft to Meet [S]ir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V in Races Beginning Sept. 13.

[SE]LECTED FROM FOUR BOATS AFTER TESTS

[Br]itish Contender Has Been Making Good Time in Tryouts in Narragansett Bay.

[By] the Associated Press.

[N]EWPORT, R. I., Aug. 28.—En[ter]prise, the Vanderbilt-Aldrich [slo]op, was announced last night by [the] America's cup selection com[mit]tee as the defender to race Sir [Tho]mas Lipton's challenger, Sham[roc]k V. The series of races will [beg]in Sept. 13 and continue until [one] boat has won four races. The [Ent]erpise is the smallest of four [yac]hts.

[T]here have been only two actual [tria]l races held off Newport and [the] announcement of the commit[tee] was unexpected, as it was [tho]ught there would be other races. [Ent]erprise defeated Weetamoe, its [out]standing rival, for the defending [hon]or in both tests. These two [boa]ts were paired each time. [Y]ankee, coupled with Whirlwind, [wh]o was victorious over its oppo[nen]t, but Enterprise has compiled [a] better record in previous tests, [na]med observation races.

[It] had been expected the com[mit]tee would send Enterprise out [aga]inst Yankee before making a [dec]ision. Yankee's most recent vic[tor]y last Thursday was in time [whi]ch broke previous yachting [reco]rds for the 30-mile triangular [cou]rse.

[P]ossibly the committee was in[flue]nced in its choice by the pres[ence] of the Shamrock V in the [har]bor. Sir Thomas Lipton's sloop [has] been going around the harbor [of N]arragansett Bay during the last [few] days and making remarkably [goo]d time in air so light that the [com]mittee refrained from starting [the] defender candidates. Undoubt[edl]y the Enterprise could sail cir[cles] around any other candidate in [ext]reme light air, and probably [cou]ld only bow to Yankee in heavy [wea]ther. The committee, therefore, [was t]hought to be gambling on the [like]lihood of the international [cla]sic being sailed in light air.

[E]nterprise was designed by W. [Sta]rling Burgess for a syndicate [hea]ded by Harold S. Vanderbilt [and] including Vincent Astor, [Geo]rge Baker Jr., F. L. Carlysle, [Geo]rge Whitney, E. W. Clark, [Her]man Hoyt and W. W. Aldrich. [Mrs.] Aldrich broke a bottle of [cha]mpagne over the bow and be[sto]wed the name of a little navy [sch]ooner which taught the Bey of [Tun]is a lesson in international eti[que]tte many years ago.

[T]he yacht carries a greater sail [are]a than any of the three unsuc[cess]ful contestants, and its dimen[sion]s are closer to Shamrock V [tha]n the others. The afterguard, [or] the amateurs who will sail in [the] races are Vanderbilt, Aldrich, [Lt]. George F. Havermeyer and [Bu]rgess.

[I]n 1851 the yacht America [whi]pped 18 of England's fastest [rac]ing yachts in a race around the [Isle] of Wight and brought to these [sho]res a cup worth a guinea (about [$5]) which has since been cherished [as t]he greatest of all yachting tro[phie]s—the America's cup.

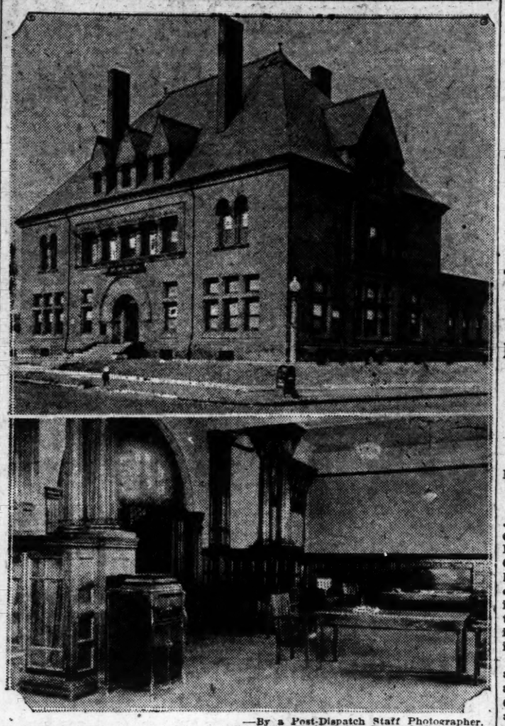
New Hotel for Boys Opened



—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

THIS building, formerly the Washington University Dental School, at the southwest corner of Ewing avenue and Locust street, was opened for deserving boys by Thomas Dunn, 87-year-old retired pawnbroker. Below is the lounge room in the remodeled building.

OPENS HOTEL FOR BOYS 'ON THEIR OWN' IN CITY

Thomas Dunn, Retired Pawnbroker, Has Plan to Help Those Who Help Themselves.

The hotel for boys established by Thomas Dunn, 87-year-old retired pawnbroker, to help those who want to help themselves, is open for business.

"Papa" Dunn, as he was known to clients of his pawnshop, bought the red brick building on the southwest corner of Ewing avenue and Locust street, built for the old St. Louis Club and later used by the Washington University Dental School, two years ago, announcing that he proposed to utilize it as a "sort of free hotel for young men seeking a place in the world."

"I'll support it," Dunn said, "and when the boys get on their feet they can contribute to its further maintenance. The hotel will help them find jobs. It is a large building and it is possible it will be used for other charities."

Formal opening of the hotel will be held in October when Dunn returns from a vacation on the West Coast but one boy is already quartered there and several are expected next week.

The Ideal Applicant.

"The ideal applicant is a country boy who wants to make good in the city," said former Circuit Judge Thomas C. Hennings, who is chairman of the directors of the corporation which will administer the affairs of the hotel, "but we are glad to take under privileged city boys, too. We want boys between the ages of 14 and 21 years. We don't want 'floaters' or undesirables."

Hennings disclosed that, in addition to the $75,000 expended by Dunn for the building, which he bought on impulse in the spring of 1929, remodeling work has cost him an additional $33,000 and he is financing the current expenses of the project. It is his intention to create an endowment fund for its support, Hennings said.

When the retired pawnbroker, who began his business life as a newsboy, and attained affluence through his shop and canny real estate investments, purchased the property he expressed the opinion that young men should not be pampered.

"But food and lodging are certainly necessary for the young man seeking a place in the world," Dunn said. Hennings said today that Dunn had supervised personally every detail of the remodeling and emphasized the importance of boys getting a start in the proper surroundings.

Oak Panels and Beams.

Although it has been thoroughly remodeled, the building still bears the distinguishing marks of the roomy, solidly constructed houses of old. Oak panelling adorns the walls on the first floor and big oak beams across the ceilings of the dormitories. The walls are so thick they resemble those of a fortress.

The registration room and offices of the Big Brother Organization, which may later establish an employment bureau in the hotel, are on the first floor which contains also a kitchen, cafeteria, lounge and writing room.

Several hundred books have been donated and a piano stands in the corner. The basement is arranged for a gymnasium, though no equipment has been installed. Several vacant rooms afford opportunity for indoor games and exercise, however.

Twin dormitories, each containing 25 beds, are at either end of the second floor. Individual lockers are ranged along the walls. In the rear, quarters have been provided for the matron, Miss Grace Steward, who is in reality the major domo of the establishment, receiving applicants and looking after their welfare.

ST. LOUIS TAX BILLS INCREASE $1,199,819

Total for City, State and School Revenue for 1930 Is $33,629,327.

Tax bills for 1930, sent today by Assessor Gehner to the Comptroller's office, and subject to inspection and revision before the Comptroller, sends them to the Collector, amount to $33,629,327.90 for city, state and school revenue, compared with $32,429,508.24 last year. The increase is $1,199,-819.66. The number of bills, 205,-891, for individuals and corporations, is 3551 more than last year.

The increase in total tax bills is due partly to the increase of the tax rate from $2.69 to $2.71 on $100 valuation, for bond interest and sinking fund; and partly to the increase in assessments, which amounted to $35,356,380. The latter increase was entirely in the real estate assessments, the personal property assessments showing a decrease.

The total assessment on which this year's taxes are figured is $1,241,020,110. This is composed of $1,087,047,546 real estate, an increase of $44,123,980 over last year, and $153,972,570 personal property, a decrease of $8,691,160 from last year.

Trust and insurance companies, by taking fuller advantage than before of such devices as holding companies, reduced their personal property returns to an extent which accounts for most of the decrease. The Board of Equalization, by a compromise with the trust companies, raised their returns $10,000,000 above their original proposal, but this offset only a little more than one-half the decrease.

All real and personal property will be taxed at the $2.71 rate except steamboats, which under State law pay a lower rate, this year $1.09. The valuation on steamboats this year is $143,030, or $35,-970 less than it was last year. Taxes are apportioned between city, state and schools, on the basis of the various items of the tax rate, which are: Municipal purposes, $1.35; interest and sinking fund, 37 cents; state, 12 cents, and schools, 87 cents.

SHARTEL MAKES NEW MOVE IN ELECTRIC SUIT

TECHNICALITY IS ELIMINATED

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 28.—John B. Edwards and Richmond C. Coburn, St. Louis attorneys, have been appointed by Attorney-General Stratton Shartel as regular Assistant Attorneys-General, to enable them to participate in an impending grand jury investigation of alleged restrictive practices in the electrical contracting field in St. Louis.

Edwards and Coburn, as special assistants, are in charge of an anti-trust suit filed in Supreme Court by the Attorney-General against the Electrical Employers' Association, the Electrical Protective Association, the Electrical Approval Board and the Electrical Listing Bureau, all of St. Louis. The case is pending before the court. The four organizations are charged with conspiring with each other and with labor union representatives to restrain competition and to fix the price of electrical installations in St. Louis.

The two attorneys were appointed as members of the regular staff of the Attorney-General to comply with legal requirements, so that they may aid Circuit Attorney Franklin Miller in the additional inquiry to be conducted before the September grand jury in St. Louis. This would eliminate technical objections that might be made as to their participation in the investigation and appearance in the grand jury room.

Circuit Attorney Miller is on his vacation and so far has not transmitted to Gov. Caulfield the formal request that the Attorney-General be directed to designate an assistant to aid in the investigation. Such a request must be made, and an order issued by the Governor, before the Attorney-General may participate in investigation of law violations within a county or the city of St. Louis.

A motion for appointment of a special commissioner to conduct hearings in the antitrust suit against the four electrical organizations now is pending before the Supreme Court in banc. The court probably will act on the motion at its next conference, early in September.

Electrical Workers Give Their Views to Master Builders.

Members of the Master Builders' Association, an organization of general contractors, were invited to a luncheon at Hotel Lennox yesterday to receive an explanation of the activities of the Electrical Employers' Association and its associated groups, and Electrical Workers' Local Union No. 1, complained of in anti-trust proceedings started by Attorney-General Shartel.

DAWES STUDIES PAINTINGS IN THE ALTAMIRA CAVES

Flat on His Back as He Observes 10,000-Year-Old Work on Ceiling.

By the Associated Press.
SANTANDER, Spain, Aug. 28.—Charles G. Dawes, who temporarily has dropped his duties as Ambassador to Great Britain to survey the handiwork of the cavemen who roamed this part of Spain thousands of years ago, spent his sixty-fifth birthday flat on his back in the historic Altamira caves.

He was on his back because that was the only way he could take a comfortable look at the paintings on the stone ceiling, done there between 10,000 and 20,000 years ago by men of the Paleolithic age. His undersiung pipe was going strong all the time.

"What do you wish to see most?" Gen. Dawes was asked as he entered the cave. "The bones of the wooly rhinoceros," he replied.

This quaint beast, with the bison, the reindeer, the wild boar and other animals, roamed this country when what are now London and Paris, were covered with glaciers and the ice age extended to the Pyrenees. Dawes had his wish, for someone pointed out the bones of the strange prehistoric animal.

HOT WEATHER IN EUROPE 98.6 DEGREES IN ITALIAN TOWN

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 28.—Most of Europe sweltered today in a continuation of a heat wave which has taken at least eight lives from prostration in Great Britain. The hot weather again was felt in Western and Central Europe, where high temperatures for this time of year were recorded. In Germany 90 degrees was registered yesterday, and Italy had similar high figures. France, Belgium and Spain also suffered. Several industries in Bilbao, Spain, suspended work.

In Paris, Etienne Clementel, venerable statesman, is recovering from stustroke.

In Great Britain at 4 p. m. today the temperature was 93.5 degees Fahrenheit. The humidity was high.

In Rome it was 95 degrees yesterday and at Postoia, near Florence, Italy, it was 98.6.

In Portugal, severe storms have devastated Tabua, Penafiel and Fafe, villages in Oporto district. A 70-mile wind uprooted trees, broke telephone and telegraph poles and dislodged scores of huts.

BLEASE FORCED INTO RUN-OFF PRIMARY IN SOUTH CAROLINA

U. S. Senator to Be Opposed by J. F. Byrnes, His Opponent 6 Years Ago.

By the Associated Press.
COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 28.—Political history has repeated itself in South Carolina, with Senator Cole L. Blease and James F. Byrnes, former Congressman, as opponents in a run-off primary for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator. Six years ag. Blease and Byrnes went into a second primary and the nomination was won by the former by slightly more than 2000 votes.

Blease in returns from 1246 of the State's 1528 precincts in Tuesday's primary, held a commanding lead over Byrnes and Leon W. Harris, the third candidate. Byrnes had a total of 81,272, while Harris received 34,311.

Olin D. Johnston, opponent of the State's $65,000,000 highway bond issue, received a total of 52,-591 votes as returns from 1302 precincts in the gubernatorial race were tabulated. Ibra C. Blackwood trailed Johnston with 39,580 votes. Ashton H. Williams, who campaigned on a wet platform, ran fourth with 31,152 votes.

Street Car Trackage Is Reduced Nearly 10 Pct. in Five Years While Busses in Cities Increase 100 Pct.

Survey Shows That Trend in St. Louis Is Nation-Wide — Financial Condition of Electric Railways Factor in Change.

The growing importance of the motor bus as a means of urban mass transportation, which has been observed in St. Louis in the tendency of the Public Service Co., to substitute busses for street cars on some lines, is told in full in the 1930 edition of "Bus Facts" published by the National Association of Motor Bus Operators.

Comparative figures show a big gain in city bus travel and a nation-wide loss of riders by street cars, a condition which caused the Missouri Public Service Commission, in one of its recent orders, to say:

"Practically all electric street railways are in bad financial condition and are finding it extremely difficult to finance themselves. Without retrenchment and economy of operation they face a dubious future. In the last 10 years hundreds of miles of electric street railways have been abandoned and thme process of replacing electric street railways with busses has been proceeding steadily."

This was written into an order authorizing the St. Louis Public Service Co. to abandon part of its Osage Hills car line and substitut busses for the abandoned routes into the business district of Kirkwood.

Other Signs of Change.

Earlier the company abandoned its Vandeventer avenue tracks, one of the major cross-town lines, and is operating busses instead, and has substituted busses for the unimportant Marcus-Spalding lines. It is understood the company is considering abandoning its tracks on Natural Bridge avenue west of Grand and on Gravois avenue between Eighteenth street and Grand when those streets are widened and repaved.

By this process of abandoning tracks the company saves hundreds of thousands of dollars it would otherwise be required to expend for reconstruction of the tracks and its share of the new paving. It appears to be the policy of the company to avoid these new capital expenditures wherever lines show a poor earning record along with declining business, and it appears to be the policy of the Public Service Commission to permit the substitution of busses in such circumstances.

Figures in "Bus Facts" show that electric railways at the beginning of 1930 were operating 11,360 busses, an increase of more than 100 per cent since 1925. The total of all busses in passenger service was 92,500, compared with 69,400 in 1925.

Last year city busses carried 1,-358,000,000 passengers compared with $98,000,000 in 1925 and produced $110,000,000 revenue, just double the $55,000,000 they produced in 1925.

Track and Car Reductions.

In these five years the number of electric railway passenger cars in operation decreased from 31,635 to 71,219, and electric railway trackage was reduced from 42,485 miles to 38,470 miles, a decrease of nearly 10 per cent.

In the period from 1922 to 1929, inclusive, electric surface lines showed a loss of 3 per cent in passengers carried while the motor bus lines gained 197 per cent.

Local motor bus service is in operation in 559 cities of more than 10,000 population, or more than half of all in that class, according to "Bus Facts." Local traffic by common carriers is analyzed in four of the larger cities, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston. The proportion carried by busses in 1929 was, New York 4.1 per cent; Chicago, 5.9 per cent; Philadelphia, 5.3 per cent; Boston, 12.6 per cent. Boston had made the greatest bus gain, having increased from 4.5 per cent in 1925.

Bus Business Here Improves.

Recent reports of the St. Louis Public Service Co. show an increase in its bus business, although its street-car business is declining sharply. For the week ending Aug. 17 the decline in street car fares as compared with a year ago was 17 per cent and revenue was 8.78 per cent lower, but the busses showed an increase of 25 per cent in fares collected and 38 per cent in revenue.

Revenue passengers carried by the company's busses in 1929 totaled 5,277,176, compared with 2,-607,809 in 1925, an increase of 100 per cent.

The first arrests of Moslem women in the Gandhi civil disobedience campaign were made today when two daughters of Prof. Abdur Rahim, member of the All-India Congress Committee, were taken into custody charged with picketing clothing shops in the Burra Bazaar district.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy, or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Historical Refutation of Mr. Wickersham's Theory of Law.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE individual must accept and abide by the restraints imposed by law. "Otherwise lawful government breaks down and we have anarchy. The remedy of those who object is to appeal to the same authority as that which enacts, for recession or modification."

These words, quoted from the Associated Press reports of George Wickersham's address before the American Bar Association last week, and hinting darkly at opponents and violators of the eighteenth amendment, raise two questions in the minds of the curious. First, does Mr. Wickersham mean what he says, or, second—which is more plausible—is the Chairman of the Commission on Law Observance constrained by his high office to speak for public consumption, to pursue the course made classic by Tennyson's Lord Chancellor when in a difficult situation "he dallied with his golden chain and smiling put the question by."

"The individual MUST accept." It is, I believe, the droll philosopher, Artemus Ward, who reminds us that of all words in the English language MUST, OUGHT and DON'T come most trippingly to the tongue of the reformer, and that lacking them he would practically be disarmed and really find himself in a deuce of a fix. For the moment, then, let me play the part of reformer and remind Mr. Wickersham that so eminent a legal authority as he, MUST, to employ his own word, know that when legislators are framing a law like the Volstead Act, it is considerably more important for them that they take some thought for that curious thing known as human nature and that they reflect how men will receive the new law, rather than how they OUGHT to receive it.

"The remedy is to appeal to the same authority as that which enacts for repeal or modification." Would Mr. Wickersham then defend or denounce those unruly barons who quite illegally wrung the Great Charter from King John at Runnymede in 1215? George Washington would have been hanged if caught before 1783. Does the Chairman of the Law Observance Commission defend or denounce the father of our country? Does he defend or denounce Galileo, who was imprisoned and tortured, too, for upholding theories "subversive of the morality of the state" by asserting that the earth moved around the sun? Does he defend or denounce Wycliffe, Luther, Calvin, Erasmus, Savonarola, Zwingli, John Brown? Does he defend or denounce the Marquis de Lafayette, who in defiance of orders to the contrary from his rightful King, came to America to assist the Colonies in their struggle for freedom? Does he defend or denounce the Boston Tea Party?

Does he defend or denounce the Scotch covenanters who under the law in the reign of Charles II held their conventicles or prayer meetings in barns, cellars, caves, or mountain fastnesses? Does he defend or denounce John Bunyan, who upon refusing to recant spent 12 years in English prisons? Does he defend or denounce those who violated the Fugitive Slave Law and assisted Negro slaves to freedom? Does he defend or denounce the sovereign states which prior to the Civil War not only refused their prisons for the incarceration of recaptured fugitive slaves, but made it a penal offense for any of their citizens to assist a Federal officer in apprehending fugitive slaves? Does he defend or denounce Ralph Waldo Emerson for having said concerning resistance to mischievous laws, "Such law breaking history loves, and God blesses"?

These are questions which politicians, statesmen, orators, chairmen of committees and reformers will find somewhat more difficult to answer than to shout OUGHT, MUST and DON'T ad libitum, and yet they will continue to bob up, continue to vex us, continue to demand replies. Too bad that some of our most intricate problems are concerned not so much with what ought to be as with what is. Prohibitionists, for example, "ought" to know better, but, alas, they don't.

P. S.

Thomas Lipton, "Game Old Sport."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

TOM LIPTON has lost so often, at such great cost, and has been such a cheerful loser that I would be pleased if he won. He merits it. I believe there are many more who would be glad to have the game old sport take the cup in the sunset of his life.

AL ST. CLAIR.

Muny Opera Query.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

DAME RUMOR has it that Muny will show a deficit this year of about $10,000, occasioned in part at least by donation of complimentary tickets.

The 10 shows given sold at an average ticket price of 67.9 cents, with only three of the operettas more than 3 cents away from that average—Nina Rosa at 72.2, Pompadour at 60.6 and Show Boat at 71.3. The average price for a full capacity house works out to 87 cents.

How much of the difference of 19.1 cents (equivalent to $131,097 for the 85 performances given) arose from empty, and how much from free seats?

A DUBIOUS APPOINTMENT.

In appointing Henry P. Fletcher to the chairmanship of the Tariff Commission, President Hoover supports his approval of the Grundy rates by continuing to emphasize the possibility of their modification under the provisions of the flexible clause.

Mr. Fletcher has had a long diplomatic career, but he is not an economist and could not qualify for such a post except as one who must be taken care of. As the Mexican expert of the Harding administration, by reason of having been one of our Ambassadors to Mexico, he is usually held responsible for the rupture between that country and the United States recently bridged by Mr. Morrow. He was subsequently Ambassador to Italy, and was variously mentioned as a possible appointee as Ambassador to Great Britain, as Secretary of State, as Governor-General of the Philippines, as nominee for the governorship and for the senatorship in Pennsylvania. He landed at last on the Tariff Commission, an agency of the Government which, during the last eight years, has forfeited all claim to public confidence. Both Harding and Coolidge packed the Commission with ultra-protectionist members, delayed its work and repeatedly exercised pressure to influence its findings. In practice it has been little more than a device which has enabled the administration to boost tariff rates in semi-secrecy.

Fletcher first came to public notice as a henchman of Boies Penrose, and it may be fairly assumed that he is in sympathy with the principles of Grundyism. In an interview given upon his return from Italy he praised Mussolini because, under his rule, "imports especially of luxuries are being reduced"—a statement which sounds very much like orthodox protectionism. It is to be hoped, however, that he will attempt to approach his new duties in a judicial frame of mind. Certainly his long experience abroad should lead him to accord a sympathetic hearing to foreign protests against our tariff rates.

But it is not to be expected that the new commission, whatever its composition, will be able to afford either foreign producers or domestic consumers any substantial relief from the onerous rates of the Grundy bill. The new flexible provision, which, we are told, is to give us a scientific tariff, is neither new nor scientific. It still requires, as did the former law, the fixation of rates which will equalize the cost of production at home and abroad. But production costs cannot be quickly or accurately determined. Long months of investigation must be spent in the collection of data. Revision by this method is an arduous process. The new agency already has before it a larger volume of work than its predecessor completed during the eight years of its life. It will be able to make little impression on the 3000 items in the tariff law.

AUTOMOBILE AND RADIO.

The criminal has waited thousands of years for the automobile. The James and Younger boys, mounted on fast horses, met their match in the mounted yeomanry of Northfield, Minn., but the automobile made possible a getaway which baffled pursuit.

Enter the radio. When a robbery was committed at Sixteenth and Carr streets one morning this week, a radio message was sent to the police throughout St. Louis. A police car in the neighborhood of the robbery received the message, and within a few minutes the robbers were caught.

Not for long does organized society ever lose the advantage over the underworld. The radio has not yet put the James and the Younger boys of our own time back on their horses, but it is going to do it.

Horseradish ought to be hot this season.

COUZENS AND FORD.

Henry Ford has always received full credit for the generous wage policy he established in his plants in the winter of 1914, when the industrial world was startled by his announcement of a minimum wage of $5 for a day's work. It now appears that Senator James Couzens of Michigan, formerly Ford's general manager, had an important finger in that pie.

Couzens, since widely known as a humanitarian, confesses he was not always "so keen about the rights and interests of the working man." His conversion came on a bitterly cold day in that fateful winter when, after with one stroke of the pen he discharged several thousand employes, he saw a hose turned on them as they milled about outside the gates of the factory. "I got converted right there," says he. "After 48 hours of discussion, Henry Ford agreed to a raise of wages from $2.30 a day to $5, in the hope that such men as we could retain might save something out of the increased wages for any contingency of lay-off in the future. And for that I want to pay my warmest compliments to Mr. Ford."

The inference is that, during that 48 hours of discussion, Couzens won over Ford to the idea of paying what in that day was a handsome wage. If that is correct, it is an important emendation of the Ford legend.

And now Mr. Babson is advising clients to invest prudently in selected stocks. That chap is probably trying to break into the Gerard gang.

MAYOR MILLER AS A POLITICAL STRATEGIST.

Mayor Miller put his hand into a women's fight in Missouri Republican politics and got burned. Although plenty of excuses were available had he wanted to keep clear of the affair, he deliberately staked his political prowess on the candidacy of Mrs. William T. Nardin for the Republican State Committee, but he witnessed her defeat.

The Mayor had had reason to think his was the whip hand over the Republican City Committee, most of whose members participated with a St. Louis County delegation in the selection of State committee members from the Tenth District. Only a week ago the city committee had re-elected the Mayor's Park Commissioner without opposition, after Miller had passed the word. But the contest between Mrs. Nardin and Mrs. Louis J. Brooks for the honor of selection for the State group was a different affair, involving the ambitions and political differences of two groups of women. Both candidates were friendly to Miller and both had been active workers for him in the past. It was said he had promised to remain neutral, yet he deliberately took up cudgels for one and alienated the other, Mrs. Brooks, the mother of one of the Mayor's chief appointees.

Miller always has had a way unto himself in politics—a way that has been surprisingly successful, from his point of view—but what he stood to gain by this latest move is difficult to see. He has reaped antagonism and distrust from it, which may have a bearing on his aspiration to become Governor or United States Senator.

IDLENESS IN PRISONS.

The problem of idleness in American prisons has been a disturbing problem for many years, and during the past 10 months was a major factor in nine serious prison riots, culminating in the ghastly holocaust at Columbus, O. The situation will be worse when the Hawes-Cooper law, requiring prison-made goods to be so labeled when sold in States whose laws specify such labeling, goes into effect.

An analysis of the difficulties of keeping prisoners employed in California has been made by John M. Peirce, Los Angeles economist, in State Government for September. What he says of California is true in greater or less degree of Missouri and other States. Of 4123 prisoners at San Quentin, only 1723 were employed in the prison factories, while 2231 were occupied in non-revenue producing work. The factories are grossly overmanned, there being two or three men for every real job. In the jute mill, 1100 men are used for what the National Society of Penal Information terms "treadmill labor that can be justified only on the ground that it is better than idleness." Most of the men employed outside the factories have practically nothing to do, their assignments of work being nominal. For instance, 97 men work in the prison flower gardens, and 131 in the vegetable garden. The areas of these cultivated sections are so small that the work might be done better with half the men.

At Folsom, an even worse condition exists. This prison, containing 2200 prisoners, has no factories at all. A stone quarry offers the largest opportunity for work, but 700 are used in it when it can comfortably accommodate no more than 200. About 500 men were used to construct a new cellhouse, and here again far fewer men were needed. The Folsom labor classification shows 29 barbers, 95 gardeners, 194 messmen, 74 celltenders and whitewashers, 123 farm laborers and, wonderful to relate, 61 blacksmiths. The lack of things to do and the preponderance of hands to do them fills the prisoners with a sense of futility and is little better than complete idleness.

According to the late A. H. Harrison, director of penal institutions, who protested the passage of the Hawes-Cooper law, it will virtually put an end to the Missouri prison factories, and increase the cost of the institution to the State by approximately $2,500,000 in every two-year period. Unless the law is repealed, methods of employing prisoners will have to be revolutionized. New ways must be found to find useful and preferably economically profitable work for prisoners to do, or the prisons will become ungovernable. What is Missouri doing to meet the crisis of the Hawes-Cooper law, which takes effect in 1933?

THE WET-AMORPHOSIS OF WESLEY JONES.

Some time ago we recorded the remarkable change of Wesley Livsey Jones, who until recently ranked in the dry hierarchy only second to St. Volstead. This grim, dour man, who gave his name to the barbarously severe Jones law, was the very personification of prohibition. Or so it seemed. Yet, when his party's State convention went wet last May, he crooked his knee to say: "I will vote at the request duly made by the people of my State." That is, Jones was willing to vote wet to stay in the Senate. Now comes a sequel. Jones has denied authorship of the Jones law, claiming it was drawn by the Department of Justice. What was regarded everywhere as his cherished infant is now marked as merely a dubiously-regarded stepchild.

We sympathize with the drys. Their leaders once were fashioned of tougher stuff.

SPEEDING UP JUSTICE.

Circuit Judge Fitzsimmons has a plan for expediting civil litigation. He would substitute for the October term a term beginning on the first Monday in September. Since Circuit Court terms are fixed by statute the change, if approved, will have to be made by the Legislature. At the next annual judicial conference he will ask the Judges to make this recommendation.

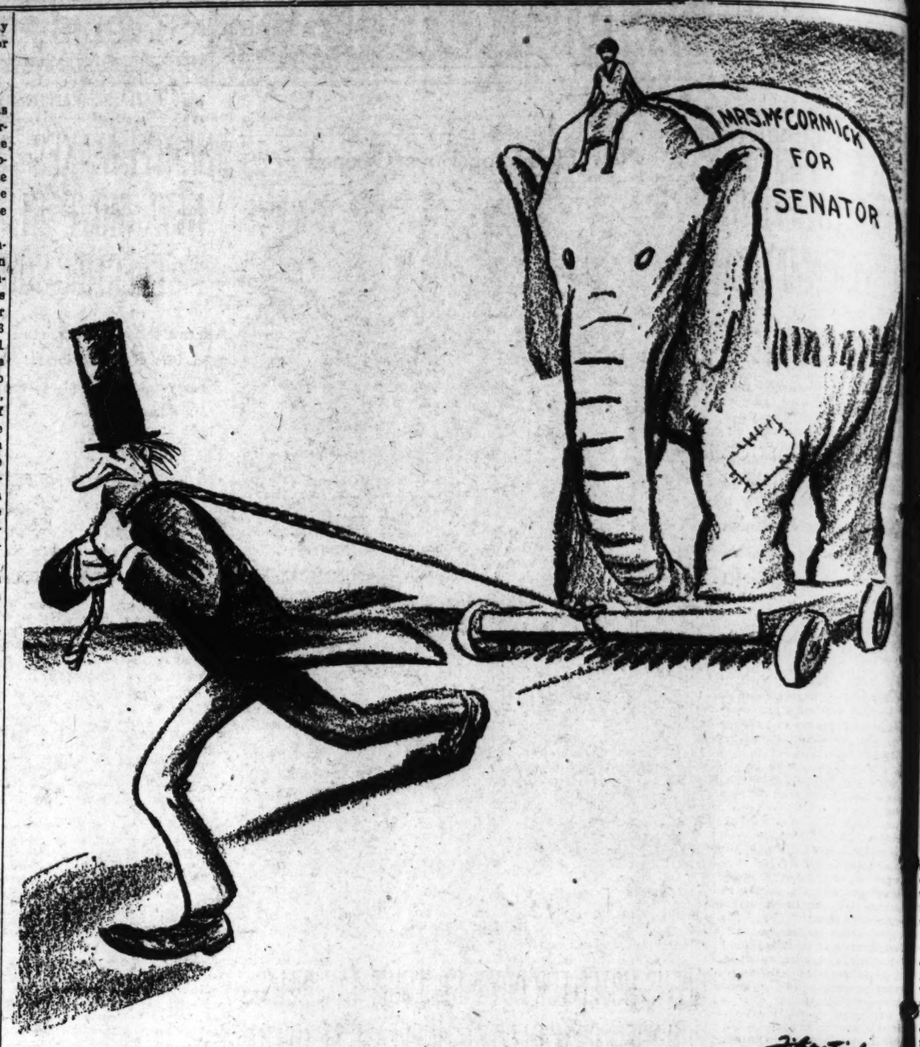
The problem of reducing the law's delay is engaging the attention of courts and lawyers in many cities. Some efforts have been successful, Judge Fitzsimmons learned while attending the recent meeting of the American Bar Association, and some have aggravated the condition. In Chicago the courts have lately adopted two rules, effective next month, which, Judge Fitzsimmons says, will be watched with interest.

The proposed change in the local calendar is, admittedly, not a major reform, and no extraordinary results are expected to ensue. But it will give the litigant an earlier day in court, and it will cut down the three months' vacation of St. Louis Judges which, everyone agrees, is too spacious a period of leisure in a purportedly active life. In his discussion of the subject Judge Fitzsimmons quotes the ancient truth that "justice delayed is justice denied." That is a verity which cannot too often be enunciated by courts and lawyers and bar associations.

THE ROADS OF ILLINOIS.

Illinois leads all other states in paved highway development, and this network of roads will endure as a monument to the energy and foresight of four Republican Governors—Charles S. Deneen, Frank O. Lowden, Len Small and Lou Emmerson.

The quotation is from Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick's speech at the Republican State convention. Her inclusion of Len Small among the good roads celebrities of Illinois must have amused former Gov. Lowden and possibly embarrassed Gov. Emmerson who, in the last gubernatorial primary, charged Small with having smeared the great enterprises of road construction with political favoritism. Mr. Deneen, too, may have smiled to hear that he had contributed importantly to a project that was still in embryo when he had finished as Governor and had returned to his Chicago law office, with his political career supposedly behind him. As matter of history, the genesis of Illinois' good roads movement may be found in the journalistic support of the State's editors, Democrat and Republican alike, of the daring proposal to issue $100,000,000 in bonds for the construction of hard-surfaced roads; and that editorial support was inspired by the able administration of Frank O. Lowden. That is how it was. Mrs. McCormick in a political speech designed to placate factional grievances and gather in all the votes possible, has told how it wasn't.



"I DON'T KNOW WHERE I'M GOING, BUT I'M ON MY WAY."

Mrs. McCormick as "an Ad Interim Dry"

New York Times thus dubs Ruth and calls action of Republican party on prohibition a "stratagem born in Cook County"; Baltimore Sun thinks she can "take to the woods" like anybody else; Republicans shrank from the challenge, says the Kansas City Times, and the Public Ledger finds it impossible to jubilate.

SMART WORK IN ILLINOIS.

From the New York Times.

MRS. McCORMICK was a good dry in the spring when she was nominated for Senator. She is now an ad interim dry, subject to the will of the people. Mr. James Hamilton Lewis, the Democratic candidate, hammered at the prohibition issue with characteristic energy. The irritation in the vast throat of Cook County Republicanism became too acute and had to be allayed. The Republicans took refuge in a triple referendum.

That stratagem was born in Cook County. Presumably the engineers of the Republican factions in that virtuous settlement know what they are about. To outlanders the trick looks a bit thin. The Democrats are sincerely and palpably all-wet. The Republicans are officially dry until further notice, to be given Nov. 4. Mr. Lewis has the advantage of straightforward and courageous convictions. The forced conditional "flop" of the Republicans is not engaging from the outside, but Illinois Republicans can stand a good deal.

RUTH, TOO.

From the Baltimore Sun.

OUT in Illinois the Democrats, behind James Hamilton Lewis for United States Senator, took a flat-footed position for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and for return of liquor control to the states. Now the Republican State convention has declared that the Republican party will be governed in its action on prohibition by the results of a referendum to be held in the State this fall. And Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, the opponent of Mr. Lewis and hitherto a dry, declares that she, too, will conform her actions to the results of the referendum.

Her declaration . . . shows that this "wonderful woman" is very much like everybody else. One suspected as much, but still she did have that high, conqueror air. Now we know that she can be made to take to the woods like every other little gal and boy that's born into the world alive.

From the Kansas City Times.

THE Republican party in Illinois has furnished a discouraging example of political cynicism and evasion, and that, too, at a time when its members had the most fortunate opportunity to meet their opponents on a ground Illinois Republicans were bound to defend if they acknowledge allegiance to the national administration of their party.

The Democrats made prohibition the issue. Call it conviction or politics as you choose, it was at least frank and open; it was taking a stand, and it was a challenge to the Republicans to take one.

The Republican convention has advertised the fact it does not know whether Illinois is wet or dry, and is even afraid to say which it thinks it should be. It is not an inspiring example of party courage. Here, at least, the Republicans give way to the Democrats. The latter don't know, either, whether Illinois is wet or dry, but their convention was willing to say which it thought it should be; it was willing to give leadership to its party both in the election and the referendum. As between the two parties in Illinois, on this issue, fortune, sometimes supposed to favor the brave, abides with the Democrats.

NOT SO DRY AS SHE SAID SHE WAS.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

RECENT developments in Illinois seem to have convinced Mrs. Ruth McCormick that she is not so dry as she said she was when she won the primary nomination of her party for United States Senator.

In short, Mrs. McCormick, while insisting that she is still dry, is no dryer than the Republican party in Illinois, and as it may turn out that the party is not dry at all, Mrs. McCormick is determined to be prepared for any emergency, a feat which should not be beyond the abilities of a good lady who is able and willing to spend half a million or so to get into the United States Senate, wet or dry.

THE CASE OF MRS. McCORMICK.

From the Evening Public Ledger.

THERE is no particular reason for jubilation in the fact that Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican senatorial nominee in Illinois, has agreed to be bound by the result of the triple referendum on Nov. 4 and will thereafter vote wet or dry as the people have dictated.

It may not be a wise thing, from any but a time-serving and political point of view, for there is in it a tendency to upset the necessary barriers in a representative government against the foolishness and danger of occasional rampant emotionalism.

And it is assuredly not a courageous thing, for it smacks of one who does not dare to be a Daniel and dare to stand alone.

RUTH AND JIM.

From the Washington Post.

RUTH McCORMICK scored one on James Hamilton Lewis when she gave notice that she would abide by and obey the decision of the voters of Illinois on the prohibition question. The Republican State convention wrestled with the liquor question a long time, and finally managed to escape both horns of the dilemma by agreeing to accept the verdict of the referendum. In this the Republicans were more shrewd than the Democrats, who went over to the wet side without reservation and without waiting for the referendum.

From the Baltimore Evening Sun.

WHEN a 100 per cent politician comes out for anything it is no proof of what the politician thinks. But it is the best possible indication of the drift of public sentiment. So when Ruthless Ruth forgets her previous "conventions" and begins to flush with the damp crowd, we learn only one thing, namely, that a considerable popular drift to the wet side is in evidence in Illinois.

A public figure who is primarily a business man might conceivably go wet regardless of public sentiment; but a simon-pure politician, we may rest assured, is going along with the crowd.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.

PRESENTING Thomas Terry Connally, junior United States Senator from Texas—a thorough soldier and statesman. He has seen service in two wars—the Spanish-American and the World War. He cut short his law course to enlist at the outbreak of the first conflict. He left his seat in Congress to volunteer again for service in 1918. He came out of the Spanish-American War a regimental sergeant-major, and in the World War he served as a Captain and Adjutant.

He has been in the Senate only since March of 1929, but he has had 12 years' experience as a Congressman, four years as a Texas State legislator and four years as a Texas County Prosecutor.

HE probably knows more names and remembers more faces than any man in the Senate. He has a remarkable faculty for keeping in mind a man's first name and initials and so greet him when he meets him.

He is one of the best speakers in the Senate. He has a natural gift of oratory. His favorite role is that of a defender of the Democratic party and its principles, not only on the floor of the House and Senate, but as a campaign speaker in states doubtful for the Democrats.

In personal appearance he is imposing. Tall, a little heavy set, coal black hair that is inclined to wave, and always immaculately attired, he is one of the most handsome men in the Senate.

Now 53 years old, he started out in life as a farm boy. In 1896 he graduated from Baylor University at Waco, Tex., with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, as well as degrees in oratory and military science. For a while after graduation he worked as a newspaper reporter on what was then the Waco Telephone.

HE was twice elected to the State House of Representatives before he voluntarily retired to resume his law practice. He was twice elected a County Prosecutor before he again retired voluntarily to practice law.

He first came to Congress as a member of the House in 1916. He was elected to his seat six times.

In 1928 he entered the race for United States Senator and won from a field which included Senator Earle B. Mayfield, Representative Thomas L. Blanton and Col. Alvin Owsley, former national commander of the American Legion.

Wish Fulfillment

THIS ingenious and wildly impossible thriller by a popular Spanish writer of the day is said to be available in seven languages other than the original. A clerk in a Spanish mercantile house, specializing in gentlemen's underwear, has led a humdrum and quite blameless life for 40 years and seems likely to remain a human vegetable of the common domestic garden variety until the undertaker is called in. But one day his employers propose that he make a trip to China for the purpose of locating their principal Oriental customer who has been kidnaped by bandits. White livered, as he himself supposes, and certainly ill fingered, the clerk accepts the proposition with an eagerness that astonishes even himself. On shipboard, he discovers to his further amazement and delight that he is a devil of a fellow with the ladies, a fact which so greatly fortifies his self-esteem that by the time he reaches Shanghai, he feels sufficiently cagey for a bout single-handed with the whole Chinese population. Atavistic uprushes from the ultra-Freudian depths of his subconscious have transformed him into a wild beast, slavering with the lust to kill, and his managing spouse back there in Barcelona certainly wouldn't know him. Immediately he begins doing caveman stuff all over the Celestial Empire, and very soon, thanks to the enormous lady-killing power he has developed, the female leader of a bandit army, who habitually "says it with bullets," falls for his blandishments and makes him generalissimo of nobody knows how vast a horde of slant-eyed demons. For many pages thereafter the gentle reader is regaled with wholesale slaughter, torture and sadistic orgies. By and by the missing customer is rescued and so the world is made safe for the gentlemen's underwear trade.

The clerk, when last heard from, was again back in Spain jumping counters and juggling union suits. His wife hasn't the least notion of what happened. God forbid that anyone should tell her!

Perhaps the international success of this yarn is explained by the fact that it is admirably calculated to serve as a "wish-fulfillment mechanism" for the too effectively managed male of the species.

IS NO ONE INNOCENT? By Milton Herbert Gropper and Edna Sherry. (Cosmopolitan Book Corporation, New York City. $1.50.)

Wish Fulfillment

THIS ingenious and wildly impossible thriller by a popular Spanish writer of the day is said to be available in seven languages other than the original. A clerk in a Spanish mercantile house, specializing in gentlemen's underwear, has led a humdrum and quite blameless life for 40 years and seems likely to remain a human vegetable of the common domestic garden variety until the undertaker is called in. But one day his employers propose that he make a trip to China for the purpose of locating their principal Oriental customer who has been kidnaped by bandits. White livered, as he himself supposes, and certainly lily fingered, the clerk accepts the proposition with an eagerness that astonishes even himself. On shipboard, he discovers to his further amazement and delight that he is a devil of a fellow with the ladies, a fact which so greatly fortifies his self-esteem that by the time he reaches Shanghai, he feels sufficiently cagey for a bout single-handed with the whole Chinese population. Atavistic uprushes from the ultra-Freudian depths of his subconscious have transformed him into a wild beast, slavering with the lust to kill, and his managing spouse back there in Barcelona certainly wouldn't know him. Immediately he begins doing caveman stuff all over the Celestial Empire, and very soon, thanks to the enormous lady-killing power he has developed, the female leader of a bandit army, who habitually "says it with bullets," falls for his blandishments and makes him generalissimo of nobody knows how vast a horde of slant-eyed demons. For many pages thereafter the gentle reader is regaled with wholesale slaughter, torture and sadistic orgies. By and by the missing customer is rescued and so the world is made safe for the gentlemen's underwear trade.

The clerk, when last heard from, was again back in Spain jumping roosters and juggling union suits. His wife hasn't the least notion of what happened. God forbid that anyone should tell her!

IS NO ONE INNOCENT? By Milton Herbert Gropper and Edna Sherry. (Cosmopolitan Book Corporation, New York City. $2.50.)

Charles Dudley Warner found occasion to remark in his now forgotten book, "My Summer in a Garden," that he regarded it as wrong "to kill even the smallest child." Warner was, it is to be feared, a hopeless Victorian. We are broader in our views and far more tolerant now, since murder has become not only an industry but a generally recognized source of entertainment for the more or less literate citizenry. The present murder yarn marks, as the critics are fond of saying, a distinct advance over all previous murder yarns. Formerly, before the light of progress had become incandescent, murder yarns were based upon the assumption that nobody wished to be convicted of murder, and literary sleuths existed for the sole purpose of overcoming this now unintelligible modesty on the part of the slayer. Here, then, at last, we have the truly modern note. Who slew Dwight Morrow? Seven ambitious citizens, any one of whom, apparently, could have done the deed, leap forward as a single man, each vociferously claiming the honor. It makes a tough job for the sleuth, but finally six aspirants are proved to be the shameless imposters that they are, and the book ends happily with the righteous triumph of the seventh.

THE OTHER HALF. By Charles Francis Coe. (Cosmopolitan Book Corporation, New York City. $1.50.)

Though written as a novel, "The Other Half" is purported to be an accurate description of gang wars and racketeering methods in all our large cities by one who has inside knowledge of the subject. Judging by actual works in the same field by accredited investigators, the description is accurate enough. The chief character, Scarvak, might well be none other than the illustrious Scarface Al, slightly dramatized, while the venal judges, attorneys, police officials and politicians who move through the tale are probably to be found in any metropolis as buzzards are to be found wherever the carrion is plentiful.

The uncannily clever Federal agent who succeeds in breaking up the Scarvak gang by an artful legal dodge, explains that the whole trouble is merely a matter of "human nature" and can't be fixed, though he intimates that a repeal of the eighteenth amendment might help. Like the Wickersham Committee, he seems never to have suspected that a world-society engined by the profit-motive might, in the waning years of its heyday, have a rather alarming effect upon human nature, in the raw.

PROVIDENT ASSOCIATION NEEDS $1600 BY MONDAY FOR BUDGET

The St. Louis Provident Association needs $1600 in special gifts by Monday to complete an extra budget of $6000 necessary before it can help additional applicants during September, October and November, officers of the association said today.

The total budget of the association for 1930 is $356,664.48, of which amount $225,448.40 had been expended up to Aug. 1, or about $17,000 over the normal expenditure, officers said. The remaining portion of the budget, devoted to relief work, is apportioned over the coming months, according to the normal relief demands for each month. Special gifts will be used to meet the abnormal number of requests.

The relief budget for August is $7170, but officers of the association estimated relief expenditures would reach $8600. No special gifts will be used to meet the increase, they said, but are planned to make up anticipated increases during the next three months. Nearly 700 families have been refused aid since July 1 for lack of funds.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK.

HAVING bestowed patronage upon chile parlors, Harlem dives, Village waffle shops and sandwich parlors, galloping New Yorkers who go places and do things after sundown are giving the ransly-colored lunch wagons a big play.

After midnight about a dozen along the water front and on the upper reaches of the island are scenes of imported Broadway merriment. Visitors bring their gin and climb upon the swivel stools for hamburger and onions and other rugged dishes of the carts.

Lunch wagon patronage before the invasion consisted of neighborhood loafers, night street workers and petty thieves. The color line was rarely drawn. The attendant in greasy, spotty apron, inspired a fastidious customer to order a cocoanut and hard boiled egg—and peel them himself.

The single waiter was also cook, cashier and bouncer. But so opulent has one lunch landau become north of 150th street, that the cook wears a white chef's cap and the waiter is habited in an ill-fitting Tuxedo. A blue serged youth, hair cut en brosse, pounds a portable piano in a corner.

The appeal of the wagon is in the isolation. They further offer a refreshing joyride when night club life sags. Noise in such places is not regarded as a disturbance, and a party of 12 may in no time "own the joint" with perhaps the cop on the beat master of ceremonies.

Indeed, when properly exhilarated patrons smack each other playfully with loose eggs and open-faced pies. Nothing matters so long as someone settles, and the total to a Broadway spender is a laugh. Fifteen dollars pays for everything.

While the lunch wagon has almost vanished from the White Way, it was once an institution like Reuben's. There was "The Owl" parked at the south end of the Herald Building nightly. It catered to a notable trade which upon occasion included the doughty James Gordon Bennett in person.

MY lunch wagon patronage came to an abrupt end on a morning paper in East Liverpool, O., years ago. I was washing down a ptomaine atrocity with what they sold for coffee. A sweatered mug, hunched up on an adjoining stool, began mumbling, stood up, wiped his mouth on his sleeve, and with a nice taste for horror walked to the end of the counter and shot a man through the head.

IT was closest I ever was to actual murder. I did not see the shot fired but saw a body slump to the floor. Nor did it occur to dash to the telephone to coop my fellows. When I reached the office the story was in type. I spent the next few days getting my front hair smoothed down again.

ONE of those crazy-eyed little cyclones that suddenly send a New York street awhirl and is as suddenly gone, came up in East Forty-third street this morning. A gentleman's straw hat spiraled to a third floor and swept into a window. A pretty girl leaned out, spied the owner, and droppped his hat. And life went fidgeting on again.

UNTIL recently the most terrific wind to lean against was at the north corner of the Flatiron building. Today the stiffest breeze is Broadway at Fifty-seventh.

I WAS enticed into a storeroom on Tenth avenue by a ballyhoo for "Oso, the Educated Ostrich." It was, I fear, mere surface culture, for Oso's sudden kick nearly gave me an unexpected but likely needed face lift. There's a headline: "Gallipolis Boy Kicked Silly by Ostrich!"

union representative, and Chester H. Chapline, a contractor, who was active in organizing the Electrical Approved Bureau and the Electrical Listing Bureau, two of the organizations cited in the anti-trust proceedings, were the speakers.

Jennings declared the union had invited the Attorney-General to inspect its records and the books of the Electrical Protective Association, an affiliated body set up to handle the insurance payments, which contractors make weekly on the basis of $2.80 a day for every union employe, but the examination had not been made.

"Neither the union nor the contractors have anything to fear from such examination, or from the pending hearings into our activities," Jennings said.

Chapline said the function of the listing Bureau was to provide low-cost estimating service to electrical contractors through a central bureau. The Approval Bureau, he said, assures the owner that he will receive the work specified under his agreement with the electrical contractor.

Both speakers stated that the insurance feature, which is charged against all electrical contracts, provides a pension for aged and infirm workmen, preventing their becoming public charges and tends to stabilize the electrical end of the building industry.

Additional meetings, to which architects and others interested in the electrical industry will be invited, are to be held, it was announced. Seven members of the Master Builders' Association, including Executive Secretary R. L. Murphy, attended yesterday's luncheon.

GANDHI LEADERS HELD IN DELHI GET 6 MONTHS IN JAIL

Men in the street cars on their way to work and children on their way to school spin their little taklis. Women at home and sitting as pickets in front of the toddy shops spin hour after hour. Nationalist shopkeepers and their clerks keep their taklis going most of the day.

The takli costs but a few coppers.

Those who have become adept in the cotton spinning say there is a certain fascination about the task conceived by the Mahatma as a means of increasing home industry and keeping out foreign competition.

Gandhi, in prison, spins by the hour. He uses not only a takli but also a spinning wheel for a change. The Nationalists say that the takli has become such a craze that many of their friends who are not Congress party members have been fascinated and are now spinning as a pastime merely because "everybody's doing it."

Says Gandhi: "If we want a total stoppage of textile imports, and an immediate replacement of such exports, every one of us must strive to make our own cloth and until we are able to do that we must make it a point not to purchase any foreign cloth."

Mediators Leave Simla Suddenly for Allahabad.

By the Associated Press.

SIMLA, Aug. 28.—Sir Tej Bahadur Sopru and M. Jayakar, who are attempting to effect a settlement of the civil disobedience campaign, departed suddenly today for Allahabad.

The two liberal leaders who have been keeping in contact with Mahatma Ganhdi, Nationalist leader, and Viceroy Irwin, gave no reason for their departure. It was thought, however, that their action grew out of their conversations with the Viceroy and was interpreted as a portent of a major change in the situation.

FINED $1000 FOR BEATING TWO WOMEN

Chauffeur to Appeal — Complainants Accused of Stealing Taxicab.

Joseph Kenny, a service car driver, who fought with two women in front of Hotel Statler early today and knocked both of them down, was fined $1000 for disturbance of the peace by Provisional Judge Stein today after he had withdrawn a similar charge against the women.

The prosecutor chose to ignore the fact that the two women had taken a taxicab from another chauffeur at the point of a knife and abandoned it, before they approached Kenny. Kenny announced he would appeal.

The women, treated for alcoholism at City Hospital, said they were Christine Albertson, 26 years old, Admiral Hotel, Twenty-third and Olive streets, and Jean Bohsch, 28, Warwick Hotel, Fifteenth and Locust streets.

With faces bruised and clothing torn, they testified that Kenny beat them after they ignored his suggestion, "Let's get drunk together." Kenny said Christine Albertson, without provocation, called him names until he knocked her down. Then, he said, Jean Bohsch attacked him with a knife which he took away from her after knocking her down.

At the hospital, the prisoners were identified by Edward Bell, 5500 Vermont avenue, who said they had taken his cab at Vandeventer and Easton avenues an hour before their arrest. After putting him out, they drove to Grand boulevard and Easton avenue, abandoning the cab and taking another to Tenth street and Washington avenue, where they paid their fare and hired another cab to ride one block to Ninth and Washington avenue.

Police said they would apply for a warrant charging the women with stealing a taxicab.

Robbed While Waiting for Car.

PER CAPITA ELECTRIC POWER USE DOUBLED IN 10 YEARS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—On the basis of the 1930 census, F. E. Bonner, executive secretary of the Power Commission, reported today that the per capita consumption of electric power in the United States had more than doubled in the past decade.

For the country the per capita use increased from 391 kilowatt hours in 1920 to 800 kilowatt hours in 1930. The Northwest and Pacific Coast States were the largest consumers in proportion to population.

Montana, with a per capita use of 2823 kilowatt hours a year, was shown far in the lead, with California, Washington and Utah following with 1535, 1570 and 1549 kilowatt hours, respectively. New York and North Carolina, with 1165 and 1048, respectively, led in the East.

2,000,000,000 CANDLE POWER BEACON TURNED ON IN CHICAGO

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—The nation's most powerful air beacon was turned on last night.

Touched off at the White House by President Hoover, the light sent a 2,000,000,000-candlepower beam through the night. Invented and presented to the city by the late Elmer A. Sperry, the light is visible in good weather 250 miles away. The light of the blue-gray beam is equal to one square inch of the sun's brilliance.

A second beam of 1,100,000,000 candlepower, also is in use on the Municipal Airport as a guide to aviators.

AT YOUR ST. LOUIS NEIGHBORHOOD GROCER

One reason is, Goodyear Tires are better right now than they have ever been.

Now is the time to get YOURS

You are not asked to believe these statements without proof.

Any Goodyear Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the facts.

It is true of buses which carry passengers—more transcontinental, urban and interurban buses and coaches operate on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

It is true also of trucks—more Goodyear Truck Tires are made and sold than any other kind.

WHEAT AT CHICAGO AGAIN HITS NEW LOW THEN RISES

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—With Canadian country marketings of wheat totaling 3,207,000 bushels for 24 hours, against 1,620,000 bushels a year ago, wheat today again outdid the season's bottom price record. Crop reports suggested that the yield of domestic spring wheat is larger than had been looked for. Minneapolis stocks of wheat increased 1,625,000 bushels for five days, and Duluth increased 2,423,000 bushels in four days.

Wheat, however, rallied at the last in sympathy with corn strength, and closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅝c higher. Corn closed firm, ⅝c to 1⅝c up. Oats unchanged to ⅛c advance and provisions unchanged to 7c off.

Opening at ⅛c off to ⅛c up, wheat values later underwent a general setback. Corn started at ¼c decline to ¼c advance and subsequently underwent a sharp drop, but then scored gains.

Reports of frost in some parts of Canada had only a slight transient effect toward lifting wheat prices today, and so likewise did assertions of some likelihood of deterioration of that part of the French wheat crop now in elevators. An offset was an authoritative forecast that the world's wheat crop this season will be 224,000,000 bushels larger than last year if southern hemisphere countries continue to be favored with good weather. Meanwhile, the Canadian crop movement still remained largely in excess of last year's showing, today's arrivals of wheat at Winnipeg being 694 cars, against 404 at this time last year.

Price rallies in the corn market after early setbacks helped wheat values to recover. Reports of heavy feeding of wheat to livestock were supplemented today by advices of increased early start of feeding of new corn. In this connection, a crop authority was out with a statement that because of poor grazing the corn market is facing likelihood of 13 months' feeding, instead of a 12-month feeding year, as it is becoming evident that there will be but comparatively few hogs and cattle sold at light weights.

Oats followed corn. Provisions were easy, influenced by downturns in the value of hogs.

COTTON CLOSES STEADY IN QUIET TRADING IN NEW YORK

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Trading in cotton was comparatively quiet today with an early decline under selling promoted by easier Liverpool cables, followed by rallies on covering in the absence of any material increase in offerings from the South. After selling off to 11.31 under the early pressure, new October rallied to 11.45, or 3 points net higher, lost part of the gain, with the active months ruling about 4 to 7 points net lower around 2 o'clock.

Futures closed steady, 2 points higher to 2 lower: October, 11.65; December, 11.81; January, 11.92. New contracts—October, 11.40@42; December, 11.58@59; January, 11.69; March, 11.83@84; May, 12.01; July, 12.16. Spot steady; middling, 11.70.

The initial offerings were fairly well taken and prices rallied four or five points right after the call, but covering was less active after the advances of the past few days and prices eased off again under some further Southern selling and realizing. By the end of the first half hour, the market was selling around 11.31 for the new October and 11.73 for March contracts, or about 10 to 12 points net lower. Trading was quieter than recently, being restricted by the approach of the three-day adjournment and traders seemed inclined to await further developments.

Liverpool cables said there had been hedge selling and liquidation in that market and reported a better feeling in Manchester.

The market was quiet late in the morning. The first of the end-August private reports was published, placing the condition of the crop at 55.5 and the indicated yield at 14,128,000 bales, compared with an indication of 14,005,000 from the same source last month, and the official Aug. 1 indication of 14,362,000 bales.

This report failed to stimulate the market, but prices held steady with new October selling up to 11.38c and March to 11.80c, or about 6 to 8 points above the low levels of the morning. At midday prices were within a point or two of the lows with active months selling about 5 to 6 points net lower.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Raw sugar was quiet today, but the undertone was steady and prices were about unchanged. Near duty frees were available at 3.18, but Cubans were held fractionally higher. The only sale reported was 35,000 bags of Porto Rican for September shipment to a local refiner at 3.18 delivered.

Raw futures opened at one point decline to one point advance with some realizing and selling by houses with Europe connections absorbed by local trade and Cuban interests. On the whole the volume of business was light and aside from a two-point advance in the September position due to covering, there was little change in prices throughout the remainder of the forenoon, with the list at midday net two points higher to one point lower. The steadiness of the spot market seemed to check aggressive selling, while uncertainty over future developments in connection with the stabilization conference seemed to limit fresh buying and there was a general disposition to hold off and await new developments.

In refined the only change was the announcement by a Savannah refiner of an advance of 10 points to the basis of 4.15 for fine granulated effective tomorrow. Local refiners were unchanged from their 4.35 level, with demand, while of fair proportions, limited to nearby requirements.

CHANGES ARE SMALL IN DULL CURB SESSION

Gains and Losses About Evenly Divided in Utilities, Most Active Group.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Prices on the Curb Market were fairly well suported in a dull session today that saw the advance of the past few sessions come to a full stop. Changes were of small proportions, and in the utility group, which was the most active spot in the list, gains and losses were about evenly divided.

The market started off in a manner to give encouragement to the bulls, but was short-lived. The weight of selling orders effectually stopped the advance, and the market was rather heavy for the rest of the session. In the last hour pressure was more vigorous, but stocks were moving upward at the close.

The utility stocks were little changed. Electric Bond & Share sagged in late afternoon more than a point and finished ⅛ net lower. American Commonwealths A, and Utilities Power & Light lost about ½ point. Central States Electric, American Superpower, Amercan & Foreign Power, United Gas, United Power & Light and Niagara Hudson closed steady to firm. Hydro Electric sales gained 2¾. American Cities Gas & Electric was up 2⅝ and Brazilian Traction 2⅝.

Gulf Oil of Pennsylvania and Houston Oil were the weak oil stocks, losing more than a point each. Cities Service finished ⅛ higher on a 7000-share transaction. Standard Oil of Indiana, and Standard of Kentucky were firm.

Standard Motors, a low priced stock, was heavily traded, and gained ⅛. Ford of England yielded ⅝. Natural Gas Stocks were firm. Investment and holding company shares were firm. Goldman Sachs moved irregularly, closing firm, up ⅛.

TURPENTINE, FLAX AND LINSEED

Linseed oil in 1 to 4 barrel lots was quoted at 13.1c per pound for raw and 13.3c for boiled.

EARNINGS AND DIVIDENDS

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Dividend declarations and railroad earnings statements supply the most interesting portion of today's financial news. Companies announcing resumption of dividend payments and increase or extra disbursements include Auto Strop Safety Razor, Buffalo, Niagara & Eastern Power, Consolidated Laundries and Texon Oil & Land. A reduction in quarterly rate was made by Jefferson Electric. Further reports from railroads have amplified the decrease in aggregate income compared with previous years. Total net operating income of the first 54 roads to report for July showed a decline of 32.3 per cent from a year ago and was 11.5 per cent smaller than the 1928 month. Gross revenues for the same carriers was 17.8 per cent less than year ago and 3.1 per cent below 1928.

Production of electricity in the United States in the week of Aug. 23 was 2.8 per cent below the like week in 1929, but 6 per cent above the 1928 week and 0.2 per cent above the previous week.

Shoe production is currently being maintained at a rate about 9 per cent below a year ago, with little prospect of any marked increase in months immediately ahead. Consumer demand continues restricted with a hand-to-mouth buying policy prevailing in almost all lines. Recession is being experienced most noticeably in the more expensive lines, particularly of women's shoes.

The Companies.

SLAYER WHO WAS WOUNDED IN FIGHT HELD FOR HOMICIDE

Frank Curtain, 61-Year-Old Peddler, Unable to Appear at Inquest.

Frank Curtain, 61-year-old peddler, who shot and killed Benjamin S. Lingo, 50, a claim agent, in a fight in a stable at 2234 McNair avenue Monday night, was held for the grand jury charged with homicide at a Coroner's inquest today.

Curtain, who is in serious condition at the City Hospital, with three bullet wounds, did not appear. One eye-witness, James B. Townsend, who lives in the stable, told of being awakened by a shot and seeing Curtain shooting at Lingo who was lying on the ground.

Police submitted a memorandum which Lingo wrote July 15 in which he related that Curtain, blaming Lingo for the estrangement of his wife, Mrs. Mamie Curtain, had threatened his life. On the other hand, police said, Curtain had asked for protection from Lingo.

Curtain's statement that he fired in self-defense after Lingo began shooting at him was read into the record. Mrs. Curtain, at whose home Lingo roomed, was not asked to testify.

"Lazy" Said the Boss "Acidity" Said the Doctor!

Charged with laziness—guilty simply of acidity! That's the situation with many men today. They realize that they are not themselves—they're conscious of a vague, tired feeling that's always with them—they know they have to pull themselves together for each and every task—but they can't tell what's the trouble. They're branded as lazy and ambitionless, when the real truth is that they're sick men—victims of acidity.

Acidity, due to our unnatural eating habits, irregular hours and other violations of Nature's laws, causes acid-indigestion with gas, sourness and burning. Also, it sets up fermentation and putrefaction in the intestinal tract, which forms poisons that sap our strength and vitality, irritate our nerves, spoil our sleep and make us weak, listless and chronically tired.

To correct acidity a remarkable new product has been developed by a 100-year-old pharmaceutical house in Germany. It comes in the form of small white tablets called Magnesia Oxoids, which do not have to be chewed but may be swallowed whole. Magnesia Oxoids upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generate nascent, or active, oxygen. Now, active oxygen, as any doctor will tell you, when generated within the digestive tract does just the things required for acidity. It stimulates the secretion of the alkaline mucus. It checks the putrefaction and fermentation in the gastro-intestinal canal. It stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls and aids the natural movement of the bowels. All three effects are necessary to the true relief of acidity and Magnesia Oxoids supply them in a perfectly natural manner.

Make This Acidity Test

See for yourself how much acid has to do with your sleeplessness, your run-down condition and that persistent feeling of tiredness. Make this acidity test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids from Walgreen's Drug Stores or any other good druggist. Take two after each meal. Note the pick-up in your pep and vigor. Mark the new peace of your stomach and nerves. If, after taking contents of one bottle, you don't feel decidedly better, return the bottle and the druggist will promptly and cheerfully refund your money.

THE WAY of A WOMAN

By Marguerite M. Marshall.

What Is a Wife's Job?

SUMMER brides and many wives of longer experience are still asking themselves the above question, and will be interested, we think, in the newly published, extremely intelligent answer to it made by a successful wife of many years' standing, a grandmother, in fact—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the "Governor's Lady" in New York.

What is especially notable in Mrs. Roosevelt's definition of a wife's job is her omission of two of the categoric imperatives listed by nearly everybody who spoke or wrote on the topic even as recently as 20 years ago.

Then—and for how many years back!—there were two "musts" featured in every patronizing editorial, every sisterly bit of counsel addressed to the married woman.

First, she MUST Know How to Make Her Husband's Favorite Dessert.

Second, she MUST (blushingly each writer emphasized the command) Run Baby Blue Ribbons Through Her Lingerie.

Like ourself, Eleanor Roosevelt is old enough to have read those Hints for Brides; nor is she too old to chuckle, as we do, when she recalls them; to wonder whether such smug sapience was more insulting to the minds of wives or to the materialism of husbands.

Men like desserts, also daintiness, but marriage must always have been something more than blackberry pies and blue ribbons.

WHAT the modern wife accepts as her tripartite job—with the emphasis on the most important part—is admirably expressed by Mrs. Roosevelt in the current Good Housekeeping, as follows:

"In the wife's job there are three fundamentals—being a partner, being a mother, and being a housekeeper and homemaker. Formerly, if we had been arranging the phases of the job in the order of their importance, I think we would have put being a mother first and next "being a housekeeper and homemaker, and then being a partner. But today we understand that everything else depends upon the success of the wife and husband in their personal partnership relation. So from the modern point of view that comes first.

"Partnership! Companionship! And fitness for it! It is the major requirement for modern marriage.

"I am not saying," adds Mrs. Roosevelt with a graceful gesture toward the successful wife of other days, "that the wives of today can hope to be better companions than were some wives of the past. The great change is that far more generally we recognize the importance of such companionship. Today, I think, there are far more wives who are good companions than there used to be."

To be the companion of a man's play, as well as of his work, Mrs. Roosevelt rightly deems vital. "A wife," she stresses, "must be able to take an intelligent interest in her husband's interests. Notice that I say, in his 'interests,' not merely in his 'job.' Her interests must not cease with his job. Women have found it a terrible thing to be just a heavy partner, sharing business and home cares only, and not a light partner, sharing in the diversion of pleasure hours. The modern way means that she must fit herself and keep herself fit to share not only responsibilities and burden but intellectual pursuits, recreation, diversion and pleasures of all kinds."

There have been two recent illustrations in the news of how marriage may crack beneath the strain of prosperity when husband and wife are not partners in diversion, as well as in duty. In a New Jersey suit for the reduction of alimony, it was brought out that when the husband was a deckhand earning $40 a month and his wife did the washing they were happy, but after he had made a fortune in Wall street and they presumably, had the time to play as well as work, the home broke up. Again, in a separation suit pending in New York, the husband has declared, significantly: "I had comparatively little or no trouble with her when I was earning less than $60 a week."

FINALLY, Mrs. Roosevelt strikes the modern note in her discussion of a wife's job, when she takes occasion to point out that marriage is a job for two; that the husband must co-operate in managing the home and in bringing up the children.

The wife of the Governor concludes, crisply: "I have never thought it was any more a wife's job to keep her husband's mind off his business worries by entertaining him than it is a husband's job to entertain his wife and keep her mind off the thousand and one irksome duties that may be tiring her."

Iced Coffee Milk Shake

A nice suggestion for the coffee drinker on a very warm day. Prepare a pint of coffee as for beverage, cool, chill on the ice and add two tablespoons cream, a few drops vanilla extract, one well-beaten egg, a cup of milk and sugar to taste. Pour into a tall glass, half-filled with finely cracked ice. Shake back and forth in a shaker and finally pour into a clean tall glass for serving. A dab of sweetened whipped cream may act as a garnish.

HOW IT BEGAN

ROAMS WORLD WITH HUSBAND

MRS. ELIZABETH CROSLEY, former Chicago society girl, sticks by her husband.

But her husband is Lieut. Paul Cunningham Crosley of the United States Navy, and sticking by him these four years has sent her:

Aboard tramp steamers.

Through Chinese war perils.

Soon after their marriage Lieut. Crosley, whose home was in Washington, was ordered to sea, his destination being China.

Wives are not permitted on battleships, even newly married ones, so it was up to Mrs. Crosley to follow the best way she could.

She used an assortment of freight boats until she rejoined her husband at Shanghai. Fights with Chinese rebels were in progress and Mrs. Crosley was busy finding craft of all sorts to keep up with her husband.

Then her husband was transferred to the Philippines and another journey came for Mrs. Crosley. Then to the Panama Canal.

Now she is on her way to the west coast aboard the freighter Tashmoo. Her husband has been ordered to Seattle.

"Our four years of married life has been one chase around the world after another for me," she said.

"But what's the use of being married and in love with your husband if you can't be near him?"

Life aboard the freighters is interesting, Mrs. Crosley finds, and she sometimes whiles away long hours by helping to paint ship and other jobs.

And will she follow him when he leaves Seattle?

"I certainly will," she said.

Corn Bisque Soup.

Scald one quart of milk with three cups green corn cut from the cob. Add one tablespoon chopped onion, one cup tomato pulp, one-fourth teaspoon white pepper, one teaspoon salt, one tablespoon melted butter, and cook for 20 minutes. Rub all through a sieve. Return to stove and add one tablespoon corn starch dissolved in one-half cup cold milk and stir constantly until it comes to a boil. Serve with a sprinkling of chopped parsley over the top.

Tomatoes Stuffed With Pineapple.

Peel medium-sized tomatoes. Remove centers and sprinkle inside with salt. Invert and let stand for one-half hour. Then fill with fresh shredded pineapple and one-fourth as much chopped English walnuts. Garnish with mayonnaise, adding a whole nut in the top for a garnish.

Flies and mosquitoes love campers

'Deed they do, and they've spoiled many an outing. No more, however. There's a sure easy way to keep insects away outdoors—the same as you use to kill 'em indoors. Sure, you've guessed it!

Be comfortable and safe. Keep your home insect-free. Spray Flit, which is guaranteed (or money back) to be quick-death to flies, mosquitoes, moths, roaches, bed bugs and other household insects. Yet its clean-smelling vapor is harmless to humans.

Thermometers

Unless one knows how to use and read a clinical thermometer, it is better to do without it.

This point may be appreciated from the following:

Most diseases are ushered in with a rise in temperature. A number of diseases, however, and some of these of a rather serious nature, may set in without any, or with only very little fever.

While, therefore, a rise in temperature is usually witness to there being something wrong in the body, the absence of fever should not mislead us into believing that there is nothing wrong, if there are other evidences of illness, such as pain, nausea, vomiting, chills or even a general "feeling" of sickness.

The clinical thermometer is a small, hollow glass tube, from which the air has been exhausted. At one end there is a bulb filled with mercury.

A scale marked in Fahrenheit degrees is engraved on its column. The scale usually reads from 94 to 110. There is a point on the scale, commonly designated by an arrow, which marks normal temperature; this is 98 6-10.

The thermometer operates on the principle that mercury expands when heat is applied to it. When the mercury in the bulb of the clinical thermometer is warmed by the body, it expands and mounts upward.

The reading of a clinical thermometer requires a little practice, and this should be secured before one attempts to use it.

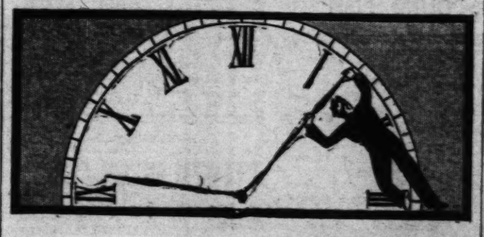
Encourage the Cook

BIOGRAPHERS tell us that self-control was a prominent attribute of Socrates. For instance, we are told, "He enjoyed good food, but could endure the poor cooking of his wife." How many husbands of today possess such self-control?

We all know Socrates was a wise man. He probably realized it was really his own fault that he had to put up with poorly cooked food. The man selects the wife—if he chooses a poor cook, why not endure her poor cooking?

Fault-finding and storming does not improve the cooking a particle. Perhaps if you were a bit sympathetic with her failures she might try to improve. She will if she cares for you. Your attitude will have a strong bearing upon her success.

Why not tactfully suggest a course in cooking and be sure to express your willingness to gladly pay for it. Many fairly good cooks take cooking courses to become more proficient, so she, probably, will eagerly accept your offer. If she does not, well, maybe she does not care and there may be a reason. Think it over.



THE HAND OF TIME

You can't push it back, but you can prolong your days by eating foods that keep the arteries soft and pliant, the muscles strong and vibrant and the mind clear and active. Shredded Wheat with milk supplies the elements that keep the body strong and supple—contains all the needed vitamins and mineral salts for insuring health and strength. It's ready-cooked, ready-to-serve. Delicious for any meal, with milk or fruits.

TALES THAT TABLES TELL

By Alma Ziiss

WHEN planning the picnic luncheon or supper on the beach, of course you remember the zest that a pretty, well-packed basket adds to the occasion. . . . and make yours as attractive as possible. If fortunate enough to own picnic equipment as elaborate as that shown in the picture, it is easy enough to pack into it the sandwiches, old-fashioned fried chicken, fruit, a container of salad and other good things, while vacuum bottles stand by to receive iced coffee, freshly made before leaving the house. The trick, however, is to accomplish the same result with an ordinary suit box or a less artistic basket and such picnic tools as can be gathered at the neighborhood five-and-ten.

Standard equipment for picnic dinners large or small, pretentious or quite simple, include practically the same accessories. In point of neatness and color-scheming it matters little whether we have a porcelain-lined basket fitted with special glasses, china and silver, or make use of paper cups, plates and containers, picnic forks and spoons. In either case we shall need a roll of waxed paper to be used for wrapping sandwiches, meats, fruits and pickles, so that the flavor of one will not permeate the other, and the freshness of all will be preserved. Smart looking paper napkins and table cloths come in gay modern patterns so that the feast may be set against a background as colorful as that provided by the home table. Even such desserts as fruited gelatine and charlottes can go to the picnic in individual paper cartons and be served quite daintily.

And suppose one has no vacuum bottle in which to carry iced coffee? Then it can be served hot, made over the beach or camp fire. The drip pot can go along with the basket and stand safely on one side, ready to receive the boiling water from a little camp kettle kept for this special purpose. The days of hard-boiled camp coffee and blackened pots are almost forgotten, since percolators and drip pots, vacuum bottles and jugs have taught us that the perfect beverage—hot, cold, or both — can be had in the desert if need be.

Coming upon parties on the beach or in the woods at mealtime, we have a way of judging them by the packing of their baskets, the manner in which the luncheon is spread out. And while it isn't possible to gauge the exact percentage of good time had by all, it is safe to surmise that the orderly, pretty picnic table brings more or less harmony in its train, just as certainly as the confusion at a slipshod table inspires spats and spankings . . . when little folks are about.

Cocoanut Fudge.

Two cups sugar, two ounces chocolate, one cup milk, one pinch salt. Cook until it forms a soft ball when tried in cold water. Then remove from fire and beat in two tablespoons butter, one teaspoon vanilla, one can drained prepared cocoanut. Pour into buttered pans.

A Saving on Gas.

Hard-boiling water is no hotter than gently boiling water. When vegetables and soups begin to boil, save gas and turn the burner down until just sufficient to keep the water bubbling, and the food will cook just as quickly and better than if boiling hard.

"At last, thank goodness, Mother has found a soap that saves my shirts"*

Of course I'm glad, for Mother's sake, that this new soap of hers makes tiny shirts wear so much longer. But I guess I'm happiest because it makes my woolen blankets feel so soft and downy... and those sheets I sleep between so soothing to a tired little body, and so sweetly clean. Makes lots of difference, I can tell you, in a fellow's disposition, when his clothes wash up so soft and fluffy! I'm certainly glad that Mother now is using only the safest, purest soap that's made.

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner.

A Duck Saying

"COME, we have an invitation," said the Little Black Clock.

Peggy and John hurried along with him.

"Have you turned the time back?" asked Peggy. "It looks a little as though you had."

"Yes," said the Little Black Clock, "I have. Ah, here we are!"

He had stopped by a pond in which many ducks were swimming, quack-quacking, and shaking their wings in the water.

Others were on the banks around the pond and were waddling about and talking in their queer duck fashion.

They ducked their heads under the water and when John spoke of it he said he knew why people used the word "duck" when they put their heads under water. It seemed a very good word.

But as they were swimming about one of them stopped and said,

"Quack - quack, listen Duck friends!"

The others all listened.

"We all know how much we love this pond and the water that is in it, and how much all ducks love water."

"Quack-quack, that is true," they all agreed.

"Well, when people like water and enjoy swimming and paddling about in water, we will find that they will say that they take to the water like a duck.

"You see we will show them how much we love the water, and so when people think how pleasant it is they will at once think of the Duck family and of their great, great, great quick-quacking enjoyment of it."

And all the ducks quacked-quacked and said they certainly would show people how much they liked the water so that that saying would be used in the days to come.

"And it is used," John said. "I've said it myself many times and heard it lots of times too."

"So have I," Peggy said. "What fun to think we were here when they started it."

By SALLY MARTIN

SHOULD Husbands Help With the Housework?

Back in 1830 the answer to this question would have been a large and hearty "No!" But how about it in 1930? How about it, when the Missis, as well as the Mister toils downtown all day to help bring home the bacon?

Dear Miss Sally:

"I wish you'd tell me whether you think it's imposing on a man to expect him to help with the housework, when you too work downtown all day.

"Here I am married only one year, and I'm just about the most unhappy girl on this planet. You see Jack and I didn't have any money, but we were, terribly in love. So we talked it over and decided that we wanted to be together, above anything else in the world. As that was the case, we agreed to get married first and save money afterward, and that I was to keep on working so we could do that. You see if we hadn't we couldn't have married for years and years. So we made a regular business proposition out of that part of it.

"I was to keep on at my job until we had a good start, and while I was doing it, everything was to be fifty-fifty. Jack was to help with all the odd jobs around the apartment in the evening, and I was to do the cooking. That sounds perfectly lovely, doesn't it? And Jack didn't object at all. In fact, he seemed enthusiastic, and said a great deal about it being grand that we could do that, instead of waiting years to start our life together.

"And it was lovely . . . for about two months. After that Jack began to lose interest in his 'home work,' and even in his home. Don't misunderstand me. I'm not trying to make him out as an 'erring husband.' He's not at all. He never goes out without me, and he's just as loving and affectionate as he ever was. But he just simply sits and dodges anything in our apartment—unless I ask him to help me.

"No, he hasn't fallen out of love with me. But he is just the sort of person who could sit down and read a book on top of a table simply stacked with crumbs and dirty dishes.

"I have tried to shame him into doing his part, by just going ahead with things myself . . . but he doesn't seem to even notice that I do it. He comes home, says, 'I'm tired tonight,' eats and sticks his nose into a book or a paper, and that's that. I guess he takes it for granted now, that it's my place to do it all . . . helping support our home and caring for it, too. Is that fair? I don't want to scold him, because if there's one thing in this world that I detest, it's a nagger.

"Please help me out, Sally. I just don't know what to do. I'm so tired and unhappy I could scream. Whose fault is it that things have got like this? If I help support our home, shouldn't Jack help run it, since he isn't able to support it alone?

"ZETA."

Shouldn't he help you? Sure he should, Zeta—and it's up to you to see that he does. If we want a square deal in this life, we must go after it. But before you crash into action, try to understand why Jack acts this way.

It isn't because he doesn't love you. He loves you as much as ever. Nor is he intentionally unfair and unkind. But he simply can't see this problem as you see it. He can't see why you should "fuss over a little housework," because, since Adam dropped the first ashes on the floor of Paradise, men have considered housework child's play. And he can't see why he should be expected to help you with it, because "it isn't a man's job." Yes, he promised. But what's one little promise, against centuries of training and prejudice? And remember that prejudice still goes on, even though most young wives today are carrying a double load.

ALIMONY -:-

BY FAITH BALDWIN

Who Wrote "The Office Wife."

CHAPTER VII.

EVE made her way uptown to the Park avenue apartment in which Mrs. Bedford lived. By all the laws of Gotham, Mrs. Bedford should not be gracing the city with her presence at this unseasonable time, and Eve knew it. And she knew, also, why her mother had broken those laws, why she would continue to break them. And Eve's heart was sick within her because she knew.

She found her mother lying on a couch in the great living room, a linen bandage over her eyes, her long, slender figure more or less concealed by an elaborate Chinese pajama negligee.

The discreet butler, ushering Eve in, departed, and Mrs. Bedford removed the bandage, dropped it into a bowl of ice and astringent, and looked at her daughter.

"You're late, Eve."

"I've been working—"

"Oh, I suppose so . . . it's too absurd . . . people still talk, you know. Someone is forever asking why you don't live with me. If Thorpe should hear it—"

Eve sat down in a low chair and took her mother's pretty, nervous hand in her own.

"Have you a headache?"

"No, not exactly . . . my eyes trouble me—I was out late . . . the smoke in the place was as thick as pea soup," Stella Bedford explained sketchily. She swung her black satin legs to the floor and touched the jade buttons on the cloth-of-gold jacket.

"I didn't dress—" she said, unnecessarily.

Later, across the candles and flowers on the dinner table, Eve surveyed her mother gravely. It came to her as a fresh shock every time she saw her, the extraordinary beauty which Mrs. Bedford still possessed and which she preserved and worshiped with fantastic and costly rites. She was tall, slim; the lines of her body were heart-breakingly lovely. Her eyes were as gray as Eve's eyes, and her close-cut hair as black. But there the likeness ended. She had a heart-shaped face and a mouth dreaming sensuously in luscious curves of red. Her tended skin was white and clear, her nose and ears a triumph of delicate modeling. And her look was sullen, her charm brooding.

She was 20 years older than her daughter and Eve was 22. Anyone would have thought them to be sisters. One of Mrs. Bedford's outstanding grievances against her child was that she had never been able to force her to call her "Stella," or at least, for pity's sake, by some caressing nickname—something less brutally dating and damning than "Mother."

Now Stella played with her very good food and talked about the plays she had seen and the books she had skimmed through. When the man servant had left the room she complained, irritably:

"Your stepfather is behind—four days—in his payment, this month. He doesn't seem to realize that I have bills to meet."

Eve said nothing. There seemed nothing to say. Her mother added, angrily:

"I'm always in debt!"

WHEN they had returned to the living room for coffee and cigarettes, she asked Eve suddenly:

"After all, I don't think Thorpe would mind so much if he knew you wouldn't live with me. He always said you were an independent minx. Remember? He's always liked you, too. You're a fool not to keep up with him. He'd be sure to leave you something—he can't live forever, not at the rate he lives—if only, Eve, you'd be a little diplomatic!"

"I don't care to see him," Eve answered quietly, "you know that, Mother."

"It's nothing to me," her mother answered, carelessly cold. "I was just telling you something for your own good. I won't be able to leave you much . . . I can't save. God knows, I try."

Eve was silent. Death and Stella Bedford seemed a long way apart—you couldn't link them even in fanciful speech. She looked idly about the beautiful room in which every clever light was subdued to flatter its owner.

"How is the office?" asked Mrs. Bedford, not really caring.

"All right. I've been working overtime a good deal . . . we've been rushed . . . even in the dull season . . . it's an import concern, you know."

"When you talk like that you look like your father!" Mrs. Bedford commented suddenly. Then she was silent. She was remembering, against her will, the light-hearted boy she had romantically loved and ridiculously married. That boy had turned, very soon, into a stranger, an anxious and repressed man. Eve's father. He had died so soon after the child's birth that Eve knew of him only from pictures, legends.

Stella shuddered under the cloth of gold. She was thinking of the meager life insurance, the struggle, the little support her own and Harkness' family had been able to give her and the child—the dull, strained visiting between one and the other. And then, Thorpe Bedford had happened along and had seen her, just as she was flowering into that unusual beauty—a beauty, which, maturing rather late, no amount of grief or poverty or anxiety had dimned.

Mrs. Bedford flushed.

"I'm sorry . . . it's Harry. I hadn't meant him to come here tonight, of course. I wanted you all to myself," she added hastily, "but he called me up just before you came in. Business. He has been investing some money for me."

"Then you'll lose it," Eve remarked, her voice roughened. Her mother, a finger gesturing toward her lips, flung a look of anger at her, gray arrows.

"You're so unfair," she whispered, breathlessly, and halted as the door opened and Harry Stoddard came in.

• • •

HE was about thirty-four years old. A superbly built man, very blond. If his mouth and chin were weak and yielding, you forgot it when you saw his gay, imploring eyes and the little swagger of his carriage, as winning as the braggart walk of a small boy. Even Eve, whom he had deeply wronged, could not hate him. He was as charming as Lancelot and as unstable as water.

"Well, Stella!"

He crossed the room and kissed the hand Stella Bedford held out to him. An absurd, un-American gesture. Yet so very well done, so utterly engaging. Then he turned to Eve and held out his own hand to her.

"But this is really marvelous!" he told her, smiling with unaffected pleasure. "Where on earth do you keep yourself, Eve? I never see you—I've asked Stella again and again. . . ."

Hating herself, Eve laid her hand in his. What else could she do? she thought, despairingly. He was bound to ignore the basic situation where she was concerned. He could do nothing else. Neither could she. And, she asked herself, not for the first time, did he know that she knew? Could he be such a fool as to think her—blind, witless?

"I've been very busy," she answered quietly. "How are you, Harry?"

"Oh, wretched, as usual," he replied gaily, sitting down between them, looking from one pretty woman to another, the portrait of as healthy and satisfied a man as could be found in the entire city. "I'm working, too. What, you didn't know it: I thought it had been trumpeted abroad, that world-shaking event! Well, it doesn't amount to a damn, really. I've a friend in the brokerage way who sends me out to lunch at my own clubs in order that I may entice unwary men into buying something we call gilt-edged securities. Haven't a child's idea what that means, myself, and how long this deperate attack of industry will last, heaven alone knows. I don't."

Stella smiled at him, lazily. The change in her since he entered the room was perfectly perceptible. She looked as indolent, as relaxed, and as complacent as a cat before a half-finished saucer of cream.

She listened, without hearing, to her mother and Stoddard talking, gossiping, laughing. She answered, mechanically, the questions he put to her, friendly questions and interested. She fully appreciated the effort he made to draw her into the conversational circle. The endeavor to skim lightly, easily, over the surface of the situation itself. But she couldn't help him—couldn't play up. She felt stifled, oppressed, almost ill in the great room, faintly scented with roses and tobacco smoke.

EVE endured it as long as she could. In decency she couldn't get up the moment Stoddard came in, and run. She had managed to avoid him for months until now. Presently, her resistance snapping, she rose to go. Stella, beyond a perfunctory word or two, made no attempt to detain her, to dissuade her in her purpose. But Stoddard fretted a little, seeming sincerely disappointed.

"But why not stay? I'll take you home, after . . . One sees you so rarely. Upon my word, it's not kind of you, Eve."

Yet she escaped from him and his mistaken, his horrible kindness and went out. . . . reached the street. Her sensitive lips could still feel the smooth, cool touch of her mother's fragrant cheek. She shuddered a little. That tender, lovely skin, the whole mind and soul and body of the elder woman abandoned to——

At eighteen, four years ago, she had learned that Harry Stoddard was her mother's lover. How she had learned it, in what appalling, branding, unforgettable circumstances, she had tried to forget. she tried never to think of it. It had been then that she had left Mrs. Bedford and gone to work. Fortunately, she had a profession; had taken a secretarial course to fill up her time since leaving school at 17, soon after her mother's divorce.

She had said nothing to Stella Bedford of her discovery—the most terrible discovery any girl could make, and one which had matured her far beyond her years. But Mrs. Bedford knew, as any woman would, and that shameful knowledge withheld her from any show of maternal authority regarding Eve's radical plans. She had been forced to let the girl go and live for a time at a club for working women; had been obliged to see her grow tired and shabby and, as Stella said, "wickedly, selfishly unpresentable!"

The secretarial course had been accepted by Mrs. Bedford, originally, as one of the smart things girls did nowadays. She had never dreamed that Eve would put it to a practical use. She had thought to give her the one "serious" year, then take her abroad, and after an expensive debut at home, marry her off to some man who would appreciate her quiet charm, her good breeding, her really fine mind. That Eve had not inherited her own exceptional beauty was a source of complaint to her mother, and yet, as she was inordinately vain, a source of satisfaction as well.

But Eve had crashed through the thin structure of her mother's plans for her, and Stella had been compelled to sit back and say nothing. For the lightest word might be a rope that would hang her, a rope that would drag the entire situation into open daylight. That much Stella knew and would not contemplate even in the hidden depths of her most secret being.

EVE breathed deep, away from the apartment. The air in the street was hot and dry and dusty, clogged with the residue of the long summer's day, but she breathed it as gratefully as if it had blown straight from snow fields, from mountains and pine forests.

In the apartment Eve had quitted, Mrs. Bedford was contemplating Harry Stoddard with some irritation. He was fidgeting with the dials of an elaborately concealed radio, now pulling snatches of Jazz, of lectures, of vocal music into the room, and as quickly erasing, replacing, banishing them.

Stella put her hands over her ears.

"Harry! Do stop that!"

"Oh, I'm sorry!"

He turned instantly, smiled at her and wandered over to where she sat. Bending down, he kissed her lightly on the nape of the neck where the dark, cropped hair showed a willful tendency to curl, childishly, charmingly.

He felt a little shiver run through her that his most casual touch awakened. He was not elated by it. He was not particularly proud of his hold over her. Once it had excited him tremendously—had made him feel like a god. But now——

"I didn't mean you and Eve to meet"——

"Why not?" he saked astonished.

She couldn't answer truthfully. So she replied, evasively:

"Oh, she doesn't approve of my friends, any more."

"I'd be sorry to think she included me in her disapproval. I like her—she's a damned nice girl."

SYNOPSIS.

STEPHEN DANE, young, earnest and hardworking, quarrels with his wife, Charlotte, over her extravagance. After five years of married life Charlotte is bored with her home and her husband. She asks him for a divorce. He refuses. Charlotte taunts him with his inability to attain business success and his failure to provide for her properly. He in turn thinks over his married life and realizes Charlotte's selfishness. He abhors the thought of divorce, but thinks it shameful to live together unhappily.

Stephen leaves for work next morning and Charlotte has lunch with her friend, Helene Carter, a divorcee. Helene suggests a way to make Stephen think better of the divorce plan and tells Charlotte of a good lawyer who will "get all he possibly can for you." Stephen decides that Charlotte has forgotten her plan for a divorce.

Charlotte is expecting friends for dinner. Stephen telephones he will be delayed at the office. Charlotte very angry hangs up on him. Stephen later takes his secretary, Eve Harkness, to dinner. She has been working for him for two years, but this is the first time he has asked her about herself. He finds her quite interesting. He arrives home to meet scowls from his wife and jibes from the friends.

He tries to be pleasant. After the guests leave Charlotte accuses him of being unduly considerate of his stenographer. He resents the implication and the quarrel continues. Charlotte maintains it is indecent to live together after love departs. Stephen charges this is merely an excuse for a divorce and she is not sincere. Later Charlotte leaves on a visit. Stephen is alone.

Talks to PARENTS

By Alice Judson Peale

Useless Fears

NEW-BORN babies, studies show, are afraid of only two things—falling and sudden loud noises. All their other fears are learned.

Fear, in the form of caution, is something which every individual acquires for his own personal safety. Most children, however, carry with them a heavy burden of thoroughly unserviceable fears—fear of the dark, fear of animals, fear of the water, fear of thunderstorms, fear of people, fear of attempting new things.

All these fears do a child no good, and serve only to hinder him from finding out a multitude of things and from knowing the pleasures of free social contacts and fresh accomplishments.

Most of the fears that children acquire are learned through imitating their elders. A mother who is afraid to play in the surf need not be surprised if her child has "inherited" her fear.

He has watched her, sensed through her behavior that there is something dreadful about the waves and immediately feels intensive terror in the thought of trusting himself to them.

Children also learn many fears through hearing their parents talk graphically and emotionally about some disaster—the sinking of a boat, a murder, a train wreck, the horrors of operations.

Long before they are old enough to understand clearly the facts under discussion they react to its emotional tone. They learn to fear intensively something which they have never seen and whose nature they understand only vaguely.

If you would have your child grow up unincumbered by useless fears, you must discipline your own speech and behavior and you must protect him from humiliation.

STEWED FRESH FRUIT SHOULD BE SERVED IN SUMMER WEATHER

It is a Pleasing Change From Raw Fruit and Often More Wholesome

It is often the tendency in summer to over-indulge in raw fruit. In many cases an upset digestive system can be traced to raw fruit.

However, when the fruit is stewed and sweetened to taste with sugar, there is less danger of digestive disorders. As far as taste-appeal is concerned, stewed peaches, apples, berries, plums and pears are most enjoyable when chilled and served for dessert.

In view of the fact that sugar is now at the lowest price it has been in a generation, and since fruit is very abundant, the value of storing away preserves of all kinds for winter use should not be overlooked. Not only is home-canning profitable, but grocers everywhere are offering splendid bargains in preserved fruits, jellies and jams.

Pickles and relishes made of cucumbers, tomatoes, cabbage and watermelon rind are also economical to preserve. Their spicy, tart-sweet goodness encourages the consumption of essential foods such as meat, fish and vegetables. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

Charity's Call.

In every home there should be a drawer or box where worn clothing, discarded toys, outgrown articles, etc., are placed. When a call comes for help from some charitable institution there is not a frantic search for something to give away. The plan also prevents hoarding things of no further use to you, thereby keeping your house in much better order.

Work Accomplished.

One very good reason why it is wise for the housewife to do much of her dinner preparation in the morning is so she can really enjoy an afternoon caller who may drop in, without that thought of an unprepared dinner on her mind.

From the novel by E. W. Hornung and the play by E. W. Hornung and Eugene W. Presbrey. Adaptation by Sidney Howard.

"Raffles," the most delightful and lovable character of modern times!—the role fits the magnetic personality of Ronald Colman as his Bond Street clothes fit the man! Debonair . . . Audacious . . . A handsome rascal who fascinated women. A Don Juan with hearts, a Captain Kidd with diamonds—such is "Raffles," the amateur cracksman! • • • •

There is dash, daring and spirited adventure to the Colman portrayal; it sparkles with humor and fascinates with its wealth of romance and tender passion. As "Raffles," the daring adventurer, the ardent lover, the charming rogue with his suave manners and nimble fingers, his gracious smile and beguiling tongue, Ronald Colman brings the most entertaining companion you have ever met in a theatre. • •

Don't chase the flying moth all over the house and think you are preventing it from getting into the woolens. It has done all its damage when it has turned into a moth. It is the worm that eats into the materials; after it has turned into a moth it has done its dire deed.

ART IN PERFUME BOTTLES

By CATHERINE WOOD.

PRECISELY as it was in the days of powder and patches, on every dressing table of any pretense now are to be found lovely boudoir bottles, sometimes singly, sometimes in sets, and whether you are addicted to perfume or not has nothing to do with the case.

Some of the bottles are modern—very—some are reproductions of old-timey containers, and others, again, are half-and-half. They have a haunting lure about them, reminiscent of dead days and far-off lands, like the scents they harbor, yet they are, oh, so 1930!

Even that noted perfume bottle of crystal in its case of wrought silver which Queen Elizabeth so ostentatiously adopted for her own is reproduced to grace the dressing table of one of Newport's matrons, while at least two other dressing tables of the rich boast adaptations of those once adored bottles of Marechal de Saxe—porcelain, simplet, yet so beautiful in design and color.

Then there are copies of old Hindu bottles and bottles that hint plainly of Oriental luxuriousness, specially designed to carry a scent that seems blended of all the flowers of Araby, but which, as likely as not, hold nothing more romantic than violet water or spirits of ammonia.

One of the most fascinating of all these toilette bottles that I have seen—and I have seen many—stands at this moment on one of those ornate little plaster of paris brackets above a small maple table in a Vermont farmhouse. The daughter of the house, home from boarding school, with a mania for "fixing up the house," corralled it, she told me, from the attic stowaways. It is about nine inches high, of clear glass with decorations of garnet and gold painted on the inside. The design, after the manner of the time, is carried on up to include the stopper. The shape resembles nothing so much as a periwig lamp.

A whole flock of boudoir bottles, each different, yet related, are making a show of themselves in a shop window. In form each bottle resembles a tea urn, but they are obviously of Egyptian or Persian origin, designed for lotus and jasmine and hinting persuasively of harems and houris. Each bottle and box of black enamel incrusted with silver in an incredibly intricate pattern. Further along is a single bottle of clearest crystal with a repousse Tanagra figurine in the loveliest and at the same time most delicate, of blue and flesh tones. Still another of these flacons, more modern this time, but also of crystal, drops graceful frondes of green-gold ferns from its pretty neck, and has a stopper of solid gold.

Perhaps more attention has been given to the little salts bottles than to the other containers, for some, of the many, they seem to show most imagination in their fashioning, or perhaps it is that their size lends them to more distinction. Even their cases of so various materials are adorable—shark's skin, leather, enamel—whatever it may be.

Table linen should always be hemmed by hand. Handwork means a neater, more dainty job and there is never a streak of dirt under the edge after laundering as so often happens when the linen is stitched by machine.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Exten sive closing out of short contract in preparation for the three-da suspension of trading hastened b efforts of bull leaders anxious t give the market a strong tone t prevent any deterioration of specu lative sentiment over the week end, sent share prices up 1 to points today.

Trading was extremely dull dur ing the morning, but quickened a shorts grew increasingly nervou Total sales aggregated 1,858,82 shares. Many shares in which th bear faction had been particular active advanced rapidly. Week end profit taking, such as norma ly appears when prices have bee rising, was conspicuously lackin perhaps reflecting the very sca public participation in the marke

Trade Shows Seasonal Pickup.

The weekly mercantile revie appearing during the afternoon e pressed restrained optimism. Bo retail and wholesale trade we said to have shown some seasona quickening during the week. Dun spoke of a better undertone business, but added, "there is n disposition to magnify the impor ance of the change, yet the mo cheerful sentiment is encouragin and has the support of increas activity in certain quarters."

Notably firm were several of th pivotal industrials, motion picture merchandising shares and rails.

A weak spot in the late tradin was Electric Auto Lite, whic broke about 6 points on unconfirm able rumors over the dividend, b it rallied more than a point in th closing transactions. This failed influence the market as a whol and closing quotations were clos to the day's best.

U. S. Steel, more than made u its dividend of 1¾, closing with net gain, ex-dividend, of 2 point Other shares closing about 2 to higher included American Tel phone, American Can, Consolidate Gas, Eastman Kodak, Air Redu tion, Safeway, Macy, Warner Bros Fox, Loews, Transamerica, Illino Central, New Haven, Chicag Northwestern, Union Pacific, an Southern Railway. Shares closin 4 to 6 higher included Canadia Pacific, U. S. Industrial Alcoho Westinghouse Electric, Case, Ge eral Railway Signal, and Diamon Match.

Corn Advances 2 Cents.

Commodites in the main move narrowly. Wheat futures clos unchanged to 1 cent lower. Cor however, shot put 2 cents on bu lish private crop estimates. Cott turned heavy late in the day, clo ing about $1.50 a bale lower.

Foreign exchanges were inclin to sag. Sterling Cables slipped 1-16 to $4.86 15-16. The La Americans were mostly depres by unsettling reports of politi disturbances, but Peru was clined to improve.

The day's corporate news w dight, and inclined to be unfavo ble, but it involved situations parently already discounted. M conspicuous were announcemen of passing of the Oliver Fa Equipment participating prefer dividend, and the Celotex prefer dividend.

Call Money at 2 Per Cent.

Call money continued abunda at 2 per cent, as eagerness to pi funds for the three-day period o set withdrawals to meet holi currency requirements.

The Federal Reserve condit statement showed a reduction the volume of credit outstand for the latest week. The syst will be able to offset any cr tightening which may appear week. The pinch of month-end tatements is usually felt a few after the first. A resumption of gold movement to France caused concern in banking circles.
